BRYAN CENTER OF PARTY DESTINIES, DESPITE DEFEATS

Nebraskan Raises Storm in National Committee Meeting and Loses Two Contests.

MAKES HIS "BLACKLIST"

Wilson and Harmon Are First Among Those Whom He Will Oppose in Campaign.

"PEERLESS LEADER" HOPE LIVES?

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—The Democracy of the United States, as represented officially in Washington, revolved today and tonight around William Jennings Bryan.

This "peerless leader," as his friends admiringly term him, or "the old man of the sea," as his enemies love to say, is looming larger and larger as the controller of the destinies of the Democratic party in the presidential campaign.

During the meeting of the national committee today, in which he participated by means of a proxy, Bryan reiterated that he is not and will not be a candidate for the nomination. And yet, in spite of this statement, there is a well defined belief that Bryan hopes the lightning will strike once more, that an overwhelming demand will arise that he run again, and that the convention will respond to it.

Bryan Will Fight Wilson.

In this connection it is interesting to note that Bryan has decided to oppose the nomination of Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. He will do so, not because of the Joline letter, in which Wilson expressed a wish that something could be done to "knock Bryan once and for all, into a cocked hat."

The ostensible ground of his opposition will be that, having condemned the proposal that the teachers of Nebraska accept pensions from funds gathered by Andrew Carnegie's participation in the United States Steel company, he cannot approve the candidacy of Mr. Wilson, who solicited a pension from the same source.

Then Bryan is looking with equanimity upon the concerted attack upon the aspirations of Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio. This attack focused today upon a page of Harmon's life which doubtless he now wishes he had never written. Thirty-eight years ago Harmon was secretary of a citizens' union movement in Cincinnati, and as such fought and wrote a letter against the election of William Allen, Democratic candidate for governor. Allen was elected and made one of the best governors Ohio ever had.

Garber Joins in Movement.

It would seem that this is exceedingly ancient history, and that the political vagaries of a young man of 29 ought not to return to plague the old man of 67. But Bryan and Harvey C. Garber, Democratic national committeeman from Ohio, say the letter, which has been carefully preserved by its recipient, L. F. Whiteman of Xenia, O., condemns the Democracy of Harmon, when considered in conjunction with the fact that he bolted the Democratic ticket in 1896.

The text of the letter is not available, but it is known that it is a vigorous protest against the Democratic party of Ohio at that time, declares it ought to be killed, and in other strong phrases puts Harmon on record as positively opposed to the Democratic party of the state.

Bryan Lineup of Candidates.

The candidates who now are on the Bryan blacklist are:

WOODROW WILSON of New Jersey.
JUDSON HARMON of Ohio.
OSCAR W. UNDERWOOD of Alabama.

The candidate whom Bryan has criticised is:

CHAMP CLARK of Missouri.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST of New York.

JOSEPH W. FOLK of Missouri.
THOMAS R. MARSHALL of Indiana.
WILLIAM J. GAYNOR of New York.
JAMES A. O'GORMAN of New York.
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

Realize Power of Bryan.

The friends of Wilson, Harmon, Underwood, et al., who have come under Bryan's displeasure, realize the handicap of his opposition, but profess to believe they can succeed even in the face of his disapproval. No one doubts Bryan has negative force with respect to the nomination, and any candidate would rather have him his supporter than his opponent.

The friends of Gov. Wilson have not given up all hope that he still is basking in the sunshine of the Bryan smile. They are saying tonight Bryan told three national committeemen that he is for Wilson.

In a speech before the National Press club today the New Jersey candidate offered a half apology for the Joline letter.

"Even if a man has written letters," he said, "it ought not to embarrass him to have the public know about it. Even if a man has changed his mind, there is nothing in that to embarrass. The people who do not change their minds are impossible people."

Claims of Wilson Supporters.

The Wilson supporters claim to have made a poll of the national committee and say thirty of the fifty-two members declared themselves unreservedly for the nomination of the collegiate candidate.

An effort to obtain an independent poll proved futile, except in three instances.

CHICAGO PIONEER, 102, DIES.

James Cain Gave Diet of Tea and Rye Bread as Secret of Longevity—Here Before the Fire.

After living 102 years, sustained the last decade on tea and rye bread, James Cain, a Chicago pioneer, died yesterday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Coyle, 6427 Parnell avenue. He repeatedly told friends that a diet of tea and rye bread, supplemented with little other food, was the secret of longevity.

He was born in London, England. At the age of 17 he enlisted in the English campaign in India, leaving the army in 1850 and coming to Chicago. Here he became a stonemason and on the eve of the fire, 1870, he completed the construction work on the old Crosby Opera house on Wabash avenue.

CLUB FOR LONELY TO FORM TONIGHT

Appeals to Laura Jean Libbey Inspire the Rev. John M. McGann to Act.

WOMEN TO HAVE CONTROL

Lonely residents of Chicago who have written to Laura Jean Libbey for sympathy are going to get acquainted. Their appeals for companionship printed in THE TRIBUNE have come to the notice of the Rev. John M. McGann of Trinity Episcopal church. They gave the rector an idea for a social club for men and women, particularly those whose friends are few and whose entertainment is limited. Tonight the parish house of the church at Twenty-sixth street and Michigan avenue will be thrown open as a social center and for the organization of a "Lonely club."

From now until summer the parish house will be open to the public every Tuesday evening. At the disposal of the guests will be a dance hall, gymnasium, pool and smoking room, a library, and three other large rooms which can be used for miscellaneous purposes.

Church Takes First Step.

Trinity church is the first in Chicago to become a thorough social center and provide entertainment such as may be found in any nonreligious organization doing the same work. The social center at Trinity church will be in charge of club women. The church will act only in a supervisory capacity.

"We want all who come to feel that we are not trying to make Episcopalians out of them," said the Rev. Mr. McGann. "The church will give the use of its parish house, and that is about the only active part it will take in the club. The club will have its own officers and the south side club women who have interested themselves will assume most of the responsibility.

"Long before some of the public schools became social centers I was planning this club. It was suggested by letters I read in THE TRIBUNE from new arrivals in Chicago who complained of the lonesomeness of the city. From Miss Libbey I secured the names of these persons and I hope they will all join the club and find friendship and entertainment.

To Exclude Undesirables.

"There is particular need of such a club in this neighborhood. It will be the only organization of its kind between Madison and Thirty-ninth streets. The proximity of the church to the disorderly district makes the club doubly necessary. We will require all members to register, and by this method we will exclude undesirable persons who otherwise might secure membership. A club due of $1 will be charged. There will be a small additional charge for dancing."

A dance hall, 100 feet long and 35 feet wide, has been built on the first floor of the parish house. The reception rooms and reading rooms are located on the second floor. There is only one pool table in the smoking room for men on the third floor, but two more soon will be added. The gymnasium, with lockers and baths, is also on the third floor. A bowling alley also will be installed.

The speakers tonight will be the pastor, the Rev. Frank W. Gunsaulus, Frances Squire Potter, and Mrs. T. Vernette Morse.

PUT ROOSEVELT ON PRIMARY BALLOT, EDITORS' DEMAND

Newspaper Men in Six States Favor "Tribune" Plan for Preferential Vote.

POLITICIANS OPPOSED TO IT

Suggestion Already Bearing Fruit; Name of Ex-President Placed Before Oregon People.

MANY OUTSPOKEN FOR COLONEL

THE TRIBUNE'S suggestion that the name of Theodore Roosevelt be placed upon the presidential preference ballot in the states where there is a direct primary law has attracted wide attention throughout the nation.

Steps had already been taken in Nebraska to give the people an opportunity to say whether they want Roosevelt as their candidate, and his name will appear upon the ballot.

Yesterday a movement with the same end in view took shape in Oregon. A petition to place the name of Theodore Roosevelt was received by the secretary of state. It was filed by Oliver H. Hickey of Portland, who stated that 1,000 signatures could be secured at a moment's notice and that more would be solicited when the form of petition was approved by the secretary.

Editors Indorse the Plan.

To secure a reflection of public opinion on the proposition, THE TRIBUNE telegraphed editors of Republican newspapers in California, Kansas, New Jersey, Nebraska, North Dakota, and Oregon, asking their opinion.

The replies, which are published herewith, show overwhelming opinion in favor of THE TRIBUNE'S plan.

In a few cases hesitancy is shown in supporting the proposal, because of the fact that Col. Roosevelt has not said he is a candidate. The editors in these instances do not care to take upon themselves the responsibility of pushing him forward in spite of himself.

In many instances the editors not only support the plan of placing the name of the ex-president on the ballot but openly align themselves for him as first choice for the presidency.

Politicians Oppose Primary.

TRIBUNE correspondents in the six states having direct primaries were asked to obtain interviews with leading Republicans on the proposition. These interviews show a divided sentiment, and, unlike the editors, the majority of the politicians appear to be opposed to the preferential ballot.

They usually give as their reason that Col. Roosevelt's name should not appear upon the ballot without his express consent.

Those who are thus quoted include not only the standpat element but also the majority of the insurgent leaders, who aver that the Roosevelt movement has for its purpose a division of the progressive forces, which would result in a plurality for Taft, who would be beaten by La Follette in their states in a straight fight between the two men.

The opinions, as secured by THE TRIBUNE, follow:

KANSAS.

Sentiment in Sunflower State Favors Putting Roosevelt on Primary Ballot.

W. A. White Favors the Plan.

Emporia, Kas., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—The people have a right to express themselves in this country, and so long as Col. Roosevelt does not say specifically and in terms that he will not accept the Republican presidential nomination if it comes to him so long have the people a right to vote upon his candidacy.

Every one knows Roosevelt is not a seeking candidate. Every one knows he is an outspoken man. He has said over and over that he is not a candidate, and doubtless will reiterate it as often as reporters and others desire it reiterated. But he has not yet said, and doubtless will not say, that he will decline the nomination if it comes unsought.

Remember always we are dealing with a frank, outspoken man. If he were going to decline the nomination he would decline it now. Therefore in primary states the people have exactly the same right to vote for Roosevelt right now in the primary that the politicians will have next June in the convention.

Moreover, Col. Roosevelt has a right to know just how deep seated is the demand for him to run for president again. He has a right to know whether the demand merely reflects the sentiment of a lot of politicians, one group wishing to defeat Taft, the other group to overwhelm La Follette, or whether, on the contrary, the demand reflects a deep seated conviction in both wings of the party that Roosevelt is inevitable as the party leader.

It is possible that the conservatives restrain the aggressives so that as a united party we may move steadily forward, decently and in order. This possibility may not be revealed in any convention, for politicians control conventions in their own interests. But a primary speaks from the rank and file. The rank and file has a right to speak. Roosevelt has a right to hear it before he speaks.

I am for La Follette, believing that he will represent my ideas better in the presidency than Col. Roosevelt, but, on the other hand, it is inconceivable that any sincere supporter of La Follette should hesitate about giving the people a chance to explain themselves fully and freely at a primary upon any other candidate.

SAY MORROW DIED IN REVOLVER DUEL

Police Disclose New Evidence to Uphold Their Theory Widow Held Weapon Which Caused Death.

DRAMATIC TALE OF CRIME

Inspector Asserts Shots Followed Violent Quarrel; Expects Confession and Self-Defense Plea.

Charles B. Morrow, the inventor whose frozen body with two bullet wounds was found on the rear porch of his residence at 4545 Michigan avenue on Dec. 28, was slain in a revolver duel. His antagonist simply "got the drop" on him. This is according to the latest evidence disclosed by Police Inspector Clancy.

One of the weapons, a 38 caliber, bore the number 36,313. Its ownership has been traced, says the inspector, to the widow, Mrs. Rena B. Morrow, under arrest on a charge of murder. The police say the 38 was purchased years ago by Mr. Martin, her first husband. The widow already has acknowledged keeping the weapon under her pillow "so Morrow could not get possession of it."

Attorney Charles E. Erbstein referred to this weapon in his attack on Policeman John J. Dunning in the preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Fake.

Mr. Erbstein asked Dunning: "Don't you know as a matter of fact that Morrow purchased this weapon within six hours of his death?"

Follow Erbstein's Line.

Dunning did not. Neither did Inspector Clancy. But the police investigation which followed Erbstein's insinuation indicated that Morrow within the time stated did purchase a revolver, but not the 38. His weapon, a 44 caliber, was clutched in the dead man's right hand when the first witnesses reached the scene of the crime. The 38—the one offered in evidence—was about two feet away from the body.

The 44, the weapon upon which the state bases a part of its case, is locked up in Assistant State's Attorney Northup's desk. Erbstein didn't know of its existence until informed by a reporter for THE TRIBUNE last night. Then he angrily charged "a police frameup." Not a chamber in the 44 is discharged, while two bullets are missing from the 38.

Says Couple Had Violent Quarrel.

"Morrow and Mrs. Morrow had a violent quarrel a short time before he was murdered," said Inspector Clancy. "He held the 44 and his antagonist held the 38. He was in his kitchen bedroom when he was shot in the heart. The blood ran into his lungs and chest cavities, which accounts for its absence from the kitchen floor. He was disabled and prevented from using his own weapon. He blindly staggered out the door and was lying prostrate on the porch floor when the second shot was fired into his right temple. This shot passed clear through his head and was imbedded in the floor. His head lay on the bullet when the first witnesses arrived on the scene.

Says Slayer Locked Door.

"After shooting Morrow the second time his assailant locked the inside door to prevent the roomers from rushing to the scene. Then the slayer fled out of the porch door.

"Dr. Charles C. Beery and Dr. James Harvey Lyon then were summoned, and in their examination to find whether life was extinct they moved the body away from the bullet in the floor. That unintentional act of the doctors has caused all the perplexity up to this time.

"We have competent witnesses to prove all these things, but are not going to show any more evidence now than is absolutely necessary to bind Mrs. Morrow over to the grand jury. I am not mentioning names, but don't be surprised if the police come across with a confession."

Mrs. Morrow was much astonished during the day when informed by Erbstein that one of the sympathetic women consoling her in her time of trouble is a detective in the employ of the state.

Consults with Her Attorney.

Mrs. Morrow was taken by surprise in the morning when Frank J. Conover, Erbstein's chief investigator, drove up in the lawyer's automobile, bundled her into the vehicle, and speeded to Erbstein's office in the First National bank building. The conference continued for three hours. Mrs. Morrow then hastened home, dismissed what callers were there, and had the maid announce to subsequent visitors that she was "indisposed."

It was disclosed that the state would be pleased if the defense would place Dr. Lyon on the stand. The physician Sunday night informed a reporter for THE TRIBUNE that Morrow had frequently expressed his intention to commit suicide, and that the position of the corpse indicated that to be the case. The police say Dr. Lyon was one of the first persons to arrive at the scene of the crime, and that when he examined the body his remarks then indicated his belief in a theory of murder. The state has witnesses of this fact under subpoena.

Says Weapon Is Pocket Worn.

Coroner Hoffman, Assistant State's Attorney Northup, and Inspector Clancy held a conference in the coroner's office during the day. They summoned two gun experts. Both of these experts informed the officials that the weapon in evidence—the one Erbstein said Morrow purchased six hours before his death with the purpose of killing himself—was "badly pocket worn." When these officials emerged from the meeting room, they with one accord expressed confidence in the chain of circumstantial evidence wound around Mrs. Morrow.

RICHARD T. CRANE DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART COLLAPSE

WIFE WAS AT THE BEDSIDE

One of His Last Acts Was to Issue a New Attack Upon Colleges.

EMPLOYES CALLED HIM "FATHER"

Richard T. Crane, "the ironmaster," died suddenly at his residence at 2541 Michigan avenue at 6:30 o'clock last evening from heart collapse due to a cold.

His wife and the family physician, Dr. E. J. Doering, were with him when the end came. They entered his bedchamber to tell him that all preparations had been made for him to leave Chicago for Pasadena, Cal., where he had intended to pass the rest of the winter.

As they approached they observed the bed clothing stir spasmodically and Mr. Crane rise toward a sitting position and fall back on his pillow. This was death.

Caught Cold Last Thursday.

Mr. Crane's heart had ceased to beat when the doctor reached him. His face was quite composed. There were no signs of death agony. Apparently dissolution had not been accompanied by pain.

Mr. Crane caught a slight cold Thursday while on his way home from the offices of the Crane company at 1214 South Canal street. With the cold came a sharp attack of chills. Dr. Doering, after an examination of the patient, expressed the opinion that there was no immediate occasion for alarm.

During the next few days the illness seemed to be responding to treatment. Mr. Crane, although confined to his bed, was in a cheerful mood. Among other things he talked about an article assailing the character of training given students at the University of Illinois which he had sent to the Chicago newspapers for publication today.

It was decided that in order to avoid the dangers which the present wintry weather presents to a man of Mr. Crane's years he should go as soon as it was perfectly safe for him to leave his bed on his usual midwinter trip to California. Ordinarily he began this journey on Jan. 10.

News of Death Sent Out.

As soon as the family had recovered from the shock news of the death was flashed to Mr. Crane's children in other cities and to the heads of various branches of his business in different parts of the country. Those of Mr. Crane's relatives who are in the city began to gather at the Michigan avenue mansion during the evening. Mrs. Crane was prostrated by grief.

Mr. Crane, according to the men who had worked longest for him, was in manner more like a father than an employer. His attitude toward those who worked for him was patriarchal. Although, when necessity demanded it, a stern executive, his acts of proprietorship always were tempered by a justice founded on a full knowledge and appreciation of an employé's rights.

He had worked at the business himself "from the ground up." There was that freemasonry between him and his men that exists only between fellow craftsmen.

Employes Call Him "Father."

"I feel like a man who has lost his father," said one of the workers last night. "I have been working for Mr. Crane for forty years. There are more than a score of men in the shops now who have been with the Crane company that long, and I should say 100 who have been with him twenty-five years.

"It has been the policy of Mr. Crane to keep his men. The plant is a hard place to get into, but it was equally hard to get out. Under-bosses who lost good men were called on the carpet and asked to explain why they did it. It was a black mark against an under-boss to lose a promising or a valuable employé.

"Most of the workmen in the Crane shops have been there from boyhood. They were selected with care, and once they were hired every effort was made to bring out all the good work that was in them. An effort is made to teach the worker all he can assimilate about the business. Last election time I met a man who asked me how long I was working each day. 'O,' I said, 'about fourteen hours.' 'Gee whiz,' he said, 'how can you stand it.' I laughed. 'Why,' I said, 'it's just like working for myself. We are all one big family out there. It's a pleasure to work for Crane.' That about sizes up the situation.

Gives Jobs to Own Men.

"Mr. Crane believed in promoting his own men when there was a good job open. He never hired outsiders if it could be avoided. One time while he was on a vacation a vacancy occurred which could only be filled by a man of the best training, ability, and experience. It was a busy time and a highly competent outsider who exactly filled the bill was employed.

"When Mr. Crane saw his name on the pay roll he asked: 'Who is this fellow?' They told him. 'Is he making good?' They replied that he was doing excellent work. 'Well, get rid of him anyway,' said Mr. Crane; 'treat him fairly; give him all the best of it but get rid of him. We ought to fill that good job with one of our good men. That is what the good jobs are for—for our own men.'"

Other employés talked in the same strain. A number mentioned the fact that it was Mr. Crane's custom each New Year's to give each employé 5 per cent of all he had earned during the year.

Called "The Ironmaster."

The death of Mr. Crane removes a landmark in Chicago's commercial life, a figure that filled the public eye not only for his importance in its own peculiar circle, but for its picturesqueness. Perhaps the term that best describes the man was that most often applied to him—"the ironmaster." There was a massiveness in his life and works which, aside from his occupation, made the term peculiarly apt.

Mr. Crane was perhaps as fine a type of the middle western millionaire as this part of the country has produced. He belonged to a sturdy generation, now almost extinct, of young men who, before the civil war, came west to "grow up with the country" and who grew with it.

Undoubtedly "the ironmaster" would have been a successful man anywhere, for he possessed in an eminent degree the qualities that made for industrial success, but in a new and rapidly developing country he was able to reach his full growth and to achieve what in a less favorable environment might have proved impossible.

He was born in Paterson, N. J., May 15, 1832. His parents were poor, but from his father, who was a man possessed of unusual mechanical ability and ingenuity, he inherited a pronounced aptitude in the same direction. His mother's one desire was that her boys should learn trades. His father died in 1845 and his mother seven years later.

Starts in Brass Shop.

The family being too poor to give the children much of a school education, they went to work at an early age. But Mr. Crane's practical education—taking education to mean that which prepares a person for his life work—was peculiarly adapted to that end. After having for six years done other work, Mr. Crane, in 1847, began work in John Banson's brass shop, Brooklyn, where he spent two years in the foundry and a like period in the finishing department. Then, feeling that the brass business was not exactly to his liking, he went to New York city, where he obtained employment in the machine shops of Hoe & Co. His natural mechanical ability soon enabled him to earn the wages of a journeyman machinist.

As a result of the business depression of 1854, Mr. Crane was thrown out of employment. Being unable to secure a new position, he decided to go to Chicago, where his uncle, the late Martin Ryerson, was engaged in the lumber business. Arriving in Chicago in the spring of 1855 he consulted with his uncle and considered the possibility of going into business for himself.

Although he had no business acquaintances except his uncle and no knowledge of business methods, nevertheless, he opened a small brass shop, in the loft of which he lived, from which has grown the Crane company of today.

Mr. Crane "Grows."

As the business of the Crane company grew, Mr. Crane grew. Gradually he acquired a valuable business acquaintance and a thorough understanding of business methods was added to his thorough mechanical knowledge. His policy from the first was to put his earnings back into the business, and he had sufficient courage to extend the business as rapidly as his means permitted.

The panics of 1857 and 1865 both found the company in a greatly expanded condition, and an exceedingly severe struggle was necessary in each case to weather the storm. By 1878 the company had gained such financial strength that the panic of that year, as well as the panic of 1893, was passed without the business being seriously threatened.

Mr. Crane laid stress on the importance and practical value of manual training in the grade schools. In September, 1892, Mr. Crane equipped a manual training room in one of the Chicago grade schools, and employed a special teacher to give instruction in woodwork in the higher grades of several of the schools.

In 1900, recognizing the success of his first experiment, he provided the necessary means for making possible training in the lower grades. Recently Mr. Crane provided twenty-four scholarships of $900 each per year to enable young men to prepare themselves as teachers of manual training, and provided the funds for opening manual training departments in five more grade schools. In recognition of Mr. Crane's interest in the public school system, the Chicago board of education named a new school the R. T. Crane manual training high school.

Was Married Twice.

Mr. Crane was married twice. His first wife was Miss Elizabeth Prentice, who died at Lake Geneva in 1902. In the fall of the following year he married Miss Emily Hutchinson, daughter of Dillon B. Hutchinson and a sister of Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson.

The bride was many years Mr. Crane's junior. By his first wife Mr. Crane had seven children. They are Charles R. Crane, Herbert Crane, Richard T. Crane Jr., Mrs. Edward Russell of Lake Forest, Mrs. A. F. Garts of Altadena, Cal.; Mrs. Thomas Chadbourne, and Mrs. Frank Lillie.

GIVES LAST BLOW TO COLLEGE MEN

R. T. Crane Says U. of I. and Other Universities Ought to Be Burned.

SPEND MONEY FOR GOOD.

Asserts Chicago Should Wake Up to Fact Poor and Rich Are Plundered.

R. T. CRANE'S LAST WORD TO U. OF I.

This university [University of Illinois], as well as all others, ought to be burned down. The money spent on them should be expended where it would do some good.

I cannot understand why the people of Chicago do not wake up on this subject. They are putting hundreds of thousands of dollars into this institution every year, which means plundering all classes of people, poor as well as rich, to this extent.—From an article on the University of Illinois, released for publication by R. T. Crane yesterday.

R. T. Crane's contempt for universities and university trained men is so well known that it has become almost a byword throughout the country.

In February, 1910, he published a book bluntly denouncing universities as frauds and the promoters of them as swindlers.

In his book Mr. Crane charged specifically that the claim of the universities that their technical schools fitted young men for practical work and that graduates were eagerly sought after by employers is totally false. He undertook to prove this, not only from the testimony of the employers themselves, but from the universities' own records.

Mr. Crane's book created a great sensation. Coming from so high a source the universities felt it incumbent to make some sort of reply, and the immediate result of the publication of his volume was a series of bitter personal attacks which, however, Mr. Crane asserted, always begged the real question at issue.

Once in the controversy the iron master stood his ground with characteristic obstinacy. He published an answer to his critics' replies in which the personal allusions were quite as pointed as the barbed shafts that had been fired at him. While his enemies were still smarting under this attack he issued another booklet directed particularly at the technical schools.

Attacks Big Universities.

In this he undertook to show the technical schools were all failures. He followed this up with an assault on Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell, and other universities, in which he asserted that the students of these schools give themselves over to all sorts of debauchery.

This philippic raised a storm among the universities. The Crane charges were denounced as false and the Crane point of view as narrow and biased.

R. T. Crane III., the ironmaster's grandson, wrote a letter defending Harvard, his alma mater. Mr. Crane, in answer to his grandson's contribution to the controversy, said it was a "commendable article," but pointed out that neither he nor any of the other defenders of the universities had cited any facts worthy of consideration as a refutation of his cold statistics.

Last Word Against Colleges.

On the day of Mr. Crane's death the following article, devoted chiefly to the University of Illinois, was released for publication by Chicago newspapers:

"On Oct. 2, 1911, there appeared in one of our newspapers an article concerning the University of Illinois, the purpose of which, as therein shown, was to refute statements I have made in regard to technical school boys not being in demand by business men. From this article I quote as follows:

"'Of the sixty-two members of the class of 1911 in the department of civil engineering of the University of Illinois, fifty had positions in their chosen lines at graduation, and others have obtained them since, their salaries ranging from $65 to $90 a month.'

Puts Test Questions.

"With the view of ascertaining whether this statement was reliable, I asked the university for the names and addresses of the sixty-two young men referred to, upon the receipt of which I found four of them had gone to South America and one to the Philippines. These being too far away to be communicated with readily, they were omitted in making my investigation.

"To the fifty-seven that remained on the list, I then submitted the following questions:

"'Have you succeeded in obtaining a situation?'

"'If so, what kind of work?'

"'With what firm?'

"'At what pay?'

"From the answers received and the addresses furnished by the university, I found thirty are engaged in engineering work of various kinds, including two by firms whose line of business I am not familiar with. This is all the information I have been able to get.

Railroads Not Criterion.

"With regard to the remaining twenty-seven, I have been unable to learn anything concerning their occupations, with the exception of a few who have gone into other lines of work, also five who went to work for the Illinois state highway commission, and who are not considered in this article, as these positions are only temporary, and in any event have no merit.

"Of the thirty above referred to who are engaged in engineering work of some kind, ten went with the American Bridge company, eight are employed by railroads, and twelve are in miscellaneous lines of work.

"Regarding the eight who are employed by railroads, in my opinion such positions are of little importance in establishing what might be called a meritorious demand for technical school educated engineers, as I feel that railroads are not conducted on a highly efficient basis.

Start at $50 a Month.

"With reference to the twelve employed by miscellaneous concerns, as all these firms, so far as I know, are small and unimportant, no credit can be attached to the fact that they employ technical school graduates.

"It will be seen, therefore, that the American Bridge company really is the only meritorious concern employing any of these young men. I have no information as to the compensation this company gives such men, but I do know this class of graduates from other universities usually receive on the start about $50 to $60 a month.

"Therefore, if their services are as valuable as the bridge company would appear to believe, it is easily understood why they employ them. Any business man would be willing to hire such help as he wanted if he could secure it at half pay.

Fail in Test with Firm.

"The newspaper article referred to at the beginning of this article also contained the following statement concerning electrical engineers:

"'The department of electrical engineering of the university found this year that if there had been 50 per cent more graduates all could have found positions.'

"On this subject I desire to say that I have a letter from a prominent and reliable source stating that the writer of the letter was informed by an officer of a large electrical company that his company tried 500 electrical school trained young men, who have been specially recommended by the school, and that only five of them proved to be good for anything.

"This means that ninety-nine out of a hundred of these young men spent from ten to twelve years endeavoring to qualify themselves for this line of work, only to discover on leaving the university that they were failures.

Education Costs $8,000.

"Furthermore, as the education of each of these young men costs at least $8,000, it will be seen that to educate the one man in a hundred who was successful represents an expenditure of $800,000, which I think is rather expensive education, especially in view of the fact that this one in a hundred who turned out to be satisfactory could have obtained his education without any cost.

"He would have become a much better engineer had he gone into the factory and learned the business in the way I have suggested in my pamphlet on 'The Futility of Technical Schools.'

"In view of the fact that so many believe electrical machinery can be invented or perfected by scientific people only, especially the technically educated, I would refer to an incident which has just come to my notice; that is the invention of the electrical motor.

"This was the product of Thomas Davenport, who was a blacksmith and had nothing in the way of technical education or scientific training and his invention undoubtedly is of greater importance than all the inventions of all the men that have been turned out by the engineering departments of our colleges.

Refers to Old Inquiry.

"A number of years ago, when conducting an investigation in regard to the value of young men graduating from the academic departments of the universities, I requested the University of Illinois to furnish me with the names of the employers that they claimed were seeking their young men, but this information was refused.

"A few years ago this university introduced a new department, known as its school for training business men, where it claimed to be doing great work in the way of turning out young men especially fitted for business.

"Although I have not gone into any investigation of this particular feature, I wish to say that I have a letter from a very prominent firm in Chicago which has tried fifty men from the academic department of our colleges, not one of whom proved a success.

Issues Another Dell.

"Also, I know another concern in Chicago that tried twenty technical school graduates, thinking it would make machinery salesmen of them, but only one of them turned out to be good for anything.

"I defy the university people to name one prominent manufacturer or merchant anywhere who has employed any considerable number of young men that are being turned out by these institutions.

"Humbugging the Farmer."

"All this is right in line with the way the university people have been humbugging the farmer.

"They never have taken a farm and demonstrated what they could do with it as compared with the ordinary farmer, nor have they issued any instructions to farmers as to how their methods could be improved.

"Neither have they gone very far into the question of using the various kinds of fertilizers in an intelligent way, or showing the particular merits of different fertilizers for various kinds of crops so that the farmer could have something to guide him.

"Mr. S. W. Allerton, who has a large and systematically managed farm in the neighborhood of this university and is continually in the market for good men for his farm, has none of these university farmers and would not think of hiring one. What he wants is the thoroughly sensible, practical farmer, and it is perfectly clear that if the university were turning out this kind of men Mr. Allerton would employ them.

Fail to Tell About Corn.

He refers to a claim published by Prof. A. Caswell Ellis of the University of Texas that the University of Illinois had developed a variety of corn that had increased the yield of the state 45,000,000 bushels a year. He wrote to President James of Illinois university and asked how this increase in yield had been obtained. Instead of replying himself, President James turned the letter over to Prof. Hopkins, from whom Mr. Crane received a long communication about agronomy fertilizers which did not give specific results or "throw any light" on how the corn yield was increased. In fact, says Mr. Crane, Hopkins' figures showed the corn yield of Illinois has decreased.

Mr. Crane then asks:

"Where is the propriety of the state furnishing help for such concerns as the American Bridge company, or the railroads, or any one else, at one-half its cost? There is no more propriety in the state doing this sort of thing than there would be in its going into the manufacture of automobiles and selling them at half their cost.

"One of his claims was that the University of Illinois had developed a new variety of corn and that through the distribution of this seed and the new methods of cultivation taught by the university the yield of corn had been increased five bushels an acre, or a total of 45,000,000 bushels a year.

Would Have Colleges Burned.

"The farther I go into this education question the more firmly am I convinced that I was right when I took the ground some time ago that this university, as well as all others, ought to be burned down, and that money spent on them should be expended where it would do some good.

"I cannot understand why the people in Chicago do not wake up on this subject. They are putting hundreds of thousands of dollars into this institution every year, which means plundering all classes of people, poor as well as the rich, to this extent."

Axioms That Made a Millionaire.

BY R. T. CRANE.

From an article in the Workers' Magazine of The Sunday Tribune.

Money comes to the man who knows.

If you want to lead you must first learn.

Learn your business thoroughly and you can get to the head today, as well as men could fifty years ago.

The only place to learn a business is in the business.

To make a success today a man must know a great deal more than in the old days—therefore, begin to learn early.

The big men in business today were poor boys of yesterday. The big men of tomorrow are to be found among the poor boys of today.

There is always room for capable men—big employers can never find enough of them.

To be poor is no bar—a poor boy can enter the trades, and at 26 have acquired the knowledge on which to base a fortune.

Lack of college training is no handicap.

Get right into the business and learn from the bottom up. I don't know of any man who has made a success in any other way.

To develop a perfect organization a man must have a thorough knowledge of the line he is to manufacture, of the best machinery, processes, factory locations and construction, raw material, men, wages, merchandising, manufacturing costs, improvements, business growth, panics and other trade conditions.

HICHBORN'S SUIT ADDS TO ROMANCE

BOTH DISCARD OLD LOVE.

Attempts to Reunite the Two Broken Families Made Without Success.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—When Philip Hichborn filed a divorce suit here today attention was called again to his young and beautiful wife's elopement last year with Horace Wylie, who deserted his wife and children to fly with her.

The suit has opened the door to the discovery that the most sensational part of the scandal that so deeply stirred capital society is being enacted now.

This climax followed a remarkable series of developments which will always make the Wylie-Hichborn story one to rank with the most unusual of love tales.

It is learned that Wylie and Mrs. Hichborn are together in the south of Europe now and have taken steps to sever all connections with the world they once knew. They reached the decision to spend the rest of their lives together after careful consideration following their first flight.

Old Love Tested First.

Before they reached this final determination, Mrs. Hichborn, who wanted to be sure no mistake would be made, caused Wylie to leave her abroad, return to this country, become reconciled with his wife, and live with her for five months, so that he might know definitely if his happiness lay in being back with his family or if he felt a desire to return to the woman with whom he had fled.

Wylie made the experiment. Try as he might to be the husband and father that he once had been, the attraction Mrs. Hichborn had for him was too strong to be resisted. So he went back to her.

Wylie Gives Up Property.

But before he went he transferred to his wife and children all his extensive Washington real estate holdings, amounting to something like $300,000, and settled upon her half of his personal estate, her share coming to more than $100,000.

Then he resigned from those clubs from which he had not been dropped, and eluding pursuers, went to Europe by way of Boston. He was joined last November by Mrs. Hichborn, who had sailed from Montreal.

In the method chosen by the two to satisfy themselves as to where their happiness lay Mrs. Hichborn wished to put herself as well as Wylie to the test. She was to return to her husband to learn if she could not be contented with him.

Opposed by Hichborn Kin.

Wylie's return to his family was so open and the story so widely circulated that it had the desired effect of hushing gossip. He carried out the plan as conceived, but Mrs. Hichborn was not so successful.

When she returned to this country last spring it was reported that she was to be reunited to her husband. It was generally believed he would consent to receive her again. But his mother, the widow of Admiral Hichborn, and his sister, Mrs. Martha Hichborn Blaine Pearsall, would not hear of a reconciliation.

When she found that her "trial reconciliation" was made impossible by the opposition, Mrs. Hichborn awaited the outcome of Wylie's experiment. In four months Wylie decided he could be happy only with Mrs. Hichborn.

ESCAPES CARS' "DEATH STRIP."

Caught Between Coaches Going in Opposite Directions, Man Drops on Hands and Knees.

Max Gertsacov, a jewelry manufacturer living at the Hotel Brevoort, beat the "death strip" at Monroe street and Wabash avenue yesterday. Gertsacov was caught between a Cottage Grove avenue car and an Indiana avenue car bound in opposite directions.

When the cars had passed, Gertsacov was crawling on his hands and knees toward the curbstone, thoroughly frightened, but uninjured.

"When I realized I had no chance of getting out of the way I dropped to the pavement on my hands and knees and stayed there until those cars passed," he explained.

FACES DEATH; CLINGS TO BIRD

Woman Overcome Saving Pet; Carried Out by Lieutenant.

FIREMEN MAKE 10 RESCUES.

Home of Horace G. Burt in Oak Park Is Destroyed.

Eight women and one man and a baby were rescued yesterday in a sensational fire during another "day of blazes" like those that have marked the frigid spell from its beginning.

All the rescues were made by firemen during the burning of a flat building in Sixty-fourth street, near Yale avenue. Six families were driven into the streets, but Mrs. Julia Warts, a matron at the Englewood police station, returned to the second floor to save her canary. Smoke overcame her as she was struggling out with the cage in her hand and Lieut. Joseph Balak carried her to the street while she held to the bird cage.

The second woman saved was Mrs. John Armstrong, 58 years old, who was trapped on the third floor. She climbed to the roof, and from there was carried to the ground by Driver William Strubin, who reached her from the roof of an adjoining building by bridging the gap with a ladder. He was cheered.

No Fire Escape in Building.

Others rescued are Mrs. C. J. Lane, Mrs. Sadie Carpenter, Mrs. J. Shea, Miss Sibley Armstrong, Mrs. Julia Warts, Mrs. George Moody and her daughter Dorothy, 2 years old, and William Wilkins, 74 years old.

The building had no fire escape. The rear stairway, being inclosed in the center of two buildings, was filled with smoke. Both entrances cut off nine of the tenants and their roomers were unable to leave until assisted across the roof of the burning building to the adjoining dwelling.

Horace Burt's Home Burns.

The residence of Horace G. Burt, former president of the Union Pacific railroad, which was one of the finest houses in Oak Park, was destroyed by fire. The flames started in a lavatory and spread quickly through the building, which was mostly of wooden construction. The house was three stories and contained fifteen rooms. The Oak Park fire department arrived too late to save the structure. Besides the building, which was valued at $40,000, furnishings valued between $50,000 and $60,000 were destroyed. A garage at the back of the house, containing cars worth $10,000, was saved.

Water Mains Frozen in Hegewisch.

Frozen water mains retarded the fire department at Hegewisch at night in fighting a fire which destroyed a two story brick building owned by Martin Stius at One Hundred and Thirty-seventh and Erie streets. The firemen were forced to resort to an inadequate supply of well water. The first floor of the building was used as a saloon and dance hall and the upper floor for flats. The fire started following an explosion in the basement. The loss was $10,000.

Fire destroyed the garage at the rear of the residence of Milton E. Hartman at 4912 Woodlawn avenue. For a time the house was threatened. The loss is $3,000.

Fifty Roomers Routed.

Fire which started from an overheated furnace in the basement of a four story brick house at 2212 South Michigan avenue spread upward to the second floor and routed fifty roomers. The loss was $1,500. R. Biondell, who conducts the rooming house, discovered the fire and aroused his guests. All were able to dress before leaving for the street. The building is owned by the Potter Palmer estate.

Valentine Albricht and members of his family were driven to the street when an overheated oven set fire to the two story frame building at 1400 Wells street. Albricht was in the basement. He hurried upstairs to his living apartments and led his wife and three children to the street.

"Sweet spring, full of sweet days and roses." —HERBERT.

"Come, gentle Spring! Ethereal Mildness! Come." —THOMSON.

From 7 o'clock yesterday morning until the same hour last night Chicago basked in a temperature which never fell below zero and at one time went to 8 degrees above. A slight snow storm prevented the atmosphere from becoming uncomfortably warm. No cases of sunstroke were reported to the office of the city physician. Only one person was treated for frosted fingers. Altogether, it was a most delightful and extraordinary day.

When night fell the temperature hurried to get back to normal. It reached the usual low mark at 9 o'clock, thus maintaining the average which has made the first week in January, 1912, the coldest first week of that cold month in twenty-five years. The average temperature from the first to the seventh was 11 degrees above zero. This was 21.9 degrees below the average for forty years, the first week in January ordinarily being the warmest. Only once before has the average been that low—in 1887, when for seven days it preserved a balance of 2 above.

Mercury Goes Up 24 Degrees.

As a matter of fact, the rise in temperature yesterday was much more considerable than a casual glance at the figures would indicate. Between 7 o'clock Sunday morning and 7 o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer really ascended twenty-four degrees. It was enough to make a noticeable alleviation in the suffering of the poorer district. Fewer calls were made upon the county agent's office. The line of men waiting for a chance to sleep on the floor of the municipal lodging house was not quite so long. The police stations had a little room last night for prisoners who had committed crimes more serious than being homeless. Ambulance surgeons were given a respite from the usual flood of half frozen men.

Cars were more habitable. Clocks started running again. The fire department was not called upon so frequently to extinguish fires started by amateur plumbers who desired to thaw out frozen water pipes. Apartment houses returned to the approximate temperature stipulated in the lease. The only disagreeable feature, in fact, of—speaking in comparatives—springlike day was the snow.

It started a little after midnight and kept up all day. The dark didn't stop it. In anything except the present weather it would have been a notable failure—being of the light variety which usually thaws before it hits the ground—but, as things were, it stayed.

Colder Weather Due Today.

Today will be colder, according to Prof. Henry J. Cox, head of the United States weather bureau. It is even possible the thermometer will stay below zero. Tomorrow is not expected to bring noticeable relief. For all the prospects of warm weather in sight this week may be as cold as the one which just ended.

"If it were a local condition, said Prof. Cox, "there might be a chance for relief. But it isn't. The storm is country-wide." He unfolded a weather map.

"This," indicating some circles in the general direction of Fairbanks, Alaska, "is an area of low pressure."

"That indicates warm weather," observed an erudite visitor.

"Ordinarily," nodded the professor, "but not in this instance. For the last week even low pressure areas have been cold. It is an unusual condition. If Chicago were to become the center of a low pressure area tomorrow the thermometer probably would rise only a few degrees."

"Where, then, is there hope?" queried the visitor.

"Nowhere," said Prof. Cox, and the visitor departed.

List of the Injured.

All except one of yesterday's accidents were attributable only indirectly to the cold weather. Three serious injuries and possibly one death were left over from Sunday night. They were:

Ernest Belyzni, 55 years old, slipped on icy steps of home at 747 Webster avenue. Skull fractured; condition serious.

Ole Olson, 45 years old, laborer, found insensible in front of 1712 North Western avenue. Skull fractured; hands frozen.

Dr. C. H. McElfresh, Springfield, Ill., found unconscious and half frozen at Michigan and Wabash avenues; robbed of watch and $100; in danger from lung exposure.

Those injured yesterday:

Casimer Leserchik, laborer, slightly burned; overheated stove at his home, 1221 South Union street, set fire to mattress. He was on it.

Mrs. Alice Boyce found in critical condition from exposure at 1158 North Franklin avenue.

Found Freezing in House.

Mrs. Boyce was one of those who attested to the fact it was not yet April or even March. Mrs. Boyce was found freezing to death in her home. She was lying on the floor with a 2 days old baby in her arms. Two other children, Margaret, 5 years old, and Patrick, 4 years old, were sleeping on the floor of the kitchen. The mother was half mad from the sufferings of two days without fuel or food.

Patrick Boyce had become disgusted with the situation Saturday night and departed. His wife said she knew he was disgusted because just before he left he knocked her down and kicked her in the face.

That was on Saturday night. The baby was born on Sunday morning. The mother was too weak to rise, so she wrapped herself and the baby in the blanket and waited for strength.

She still was waiting yesterday afternoon when the police, in response to an anonymous message, called at her home. They found two hungry and frightened children asleep in the kitchen and the mother and the baby lying wide awake a few feet away. An empty cupboard confirmed the statement of the children that they had eaten nothing since Saturday night.

The mother was too ill to speak rationally. With the baby she was taken to the county hospital. Her condition is said to be critical. The children were placed in the care of Mrs. Jane Skinner, a voluntary juvenile officer. The police arrested the father last night on the complaint of Mrs. M. K. Hosack, a probation officer.

Snow Cripples Car Service.

The snow interfered seriously with the regular service of the surface and elevated lines. Street cars, especially in the early morning, ran irregularly. The crippled suburban service of the Illinois Central and the Northwestern railways threw heavy traffic upon the South Side and the Northwestern elevated roads, which, in turn, were delayed. One tieup on the Northwestern, near Willow station, held six or seven express trains for a quarter of an hour. While the cars generally were warmer than on the four previous days, they ran slower.

ST. LOUIS WATER SUPPLY SHORT.

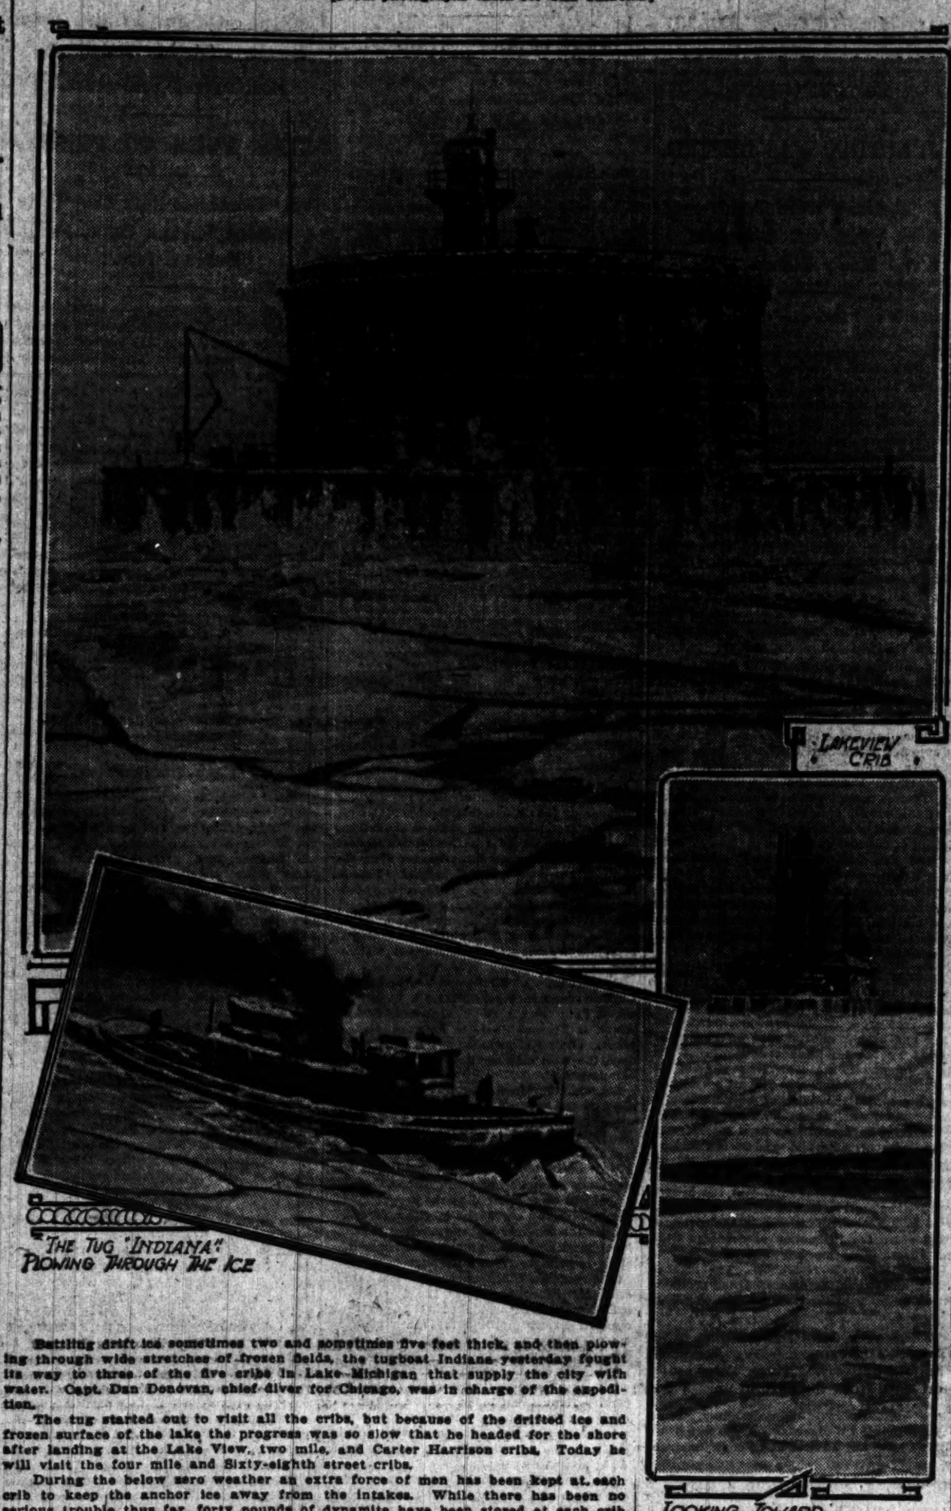

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 8.—Twenty laundries ceased operations today because of a shortage of water supply which threatens to become a famine before the week ends. Shortly before noon the pressure became so weak that the second floors of residences were without water.

The shortage is caused by the clogging of the intake wells at the Chain of Rocks. Ice in the Mississippi river has formed a solid wall against the grates and the supply reservoirs are rapidly being emptied.

Nurserymen in the Ozark fruit regions declare half the peach crop has been lost.

"THE TUG "INDIANA" PLOWING THROUGH THE ICE

LOOKING TOWARD GOVERNMENT PIER.

Battling drift ice sometimes two and sometimes five feet thick, and then plowing through wide stretches of frozen fields, the tugboat Indiana yesterday fought its way to three of the five cribs in Lake Michigan that supply the city with water. Capt. Dan Donovan, chief diver for Chicago, was in charge of the expedition.

The tug started out to visit all the cribs, but because of the drifted ice and frozen surface of the lake the progress was so slow that he headed for the shore after landing at the Lake View, two mile, and Carter Harrison cribs. Today he will visit the four mile and Sixty-eighth street cribs.

During the below zero weather an extra force of men has been kept at each crib to keep the anchor ice away from the intakes. While there has been no serious trouble thus far, forty pounds of dynamite have been stored at each crib to be used in blowing out the ice in the event that it clogs the water passages. A compressed air apparatus, which was installed at the two mile crib last year as an experiment, has proved successful in keeping the intakes free.

INCIDENTS OF CHICAGO'S FIGHT WITH THE COLD.

THE comparatively warm weather of yesterday did more good than its briefness would seem to warrant. Among other things it gave cold apartments an opportunity for a fresh start.

"Three days of below zero weather," Prof. Henry J. Cox, head of the United States weather bureau, explained last night, "put a chill in the walls which all the artificial heat in the world couldn't get out.

"Today's relaxation gave the houses a chance to get warm again, and even if it goes below zero tonight you will notice that your house is warmer in the morning than it has been since the beginning of the cold wave."

Snowbound trains have put a crimp in the Chicago mail service. For the last three days mails have been from one to twelve hours late. Postmaster Campbell received a telegram from New York yesterday saying that Chicago mails bound for European countries had missed the transatlantic mail steamer "Amerika" and would be five days late in arrival. They will go on the Lusitania when it sails Jan. 10.

Station masters reported nearly every train behind time. Even the Twentieth Century Limited got in two hours late. While trains from the west were from four to forty hours behind their schedules.

Passengers on the Rock Island premiere transcontinental flyer, the "Golden State Limited," were met by much laughter when the train pulled into the La Salle street station at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The limited, which commonly is about two blocks long, had shrunk to an engine, a tender, one baggage car, a chair car, and a Pullman.

The original train got snowbound somewhere in Colorado. The Kansas City offices waited patiently for twenty-four hours. At 10 o'clock Sunday night, when the limited was reported from thirty to forty hours behind time, they started a train out from Kansas City. It carried more trainmen than passengers. The chair car held three brakemen "deadheading" their way back to Chicago, a "news butcher," and two passengers. The Pullman also had two passengers. The two passengers in the Pullman got tired of conversation and went into the chair car. Some one suggested poker, but the brakemen explained that it was against the rules for them to play.

John Summers, 14 years old, left his home in Champaign, Ill., last week with the idea of coming to Chicago and making his fortune as newsboy. The thermometer anticipated his intention, and when John arrived he found the market for newspapers poor, owing largely to the fact that there was no one on the streets to buy them. Sunday night he gave up and applied at the South Clark street police station for shelter. He also expressed his disgust with the newspaper business. The police are taking care of him until his father, David Summers, a contractor of Champaign, arrives.

Several hundred pounds of ice dropped from the roof of the city hall yesterday morning, shattering twenty panes in the glass canopy above the water department, and just missed Louis Heinemann, a night watchman. The ice broke through the steel netting which is supposed to protect the canopy. The glass is being replaced today.

Two inspectors from the health department were detailed yesterday to make the rounds of the ice cutting fields in and around Chicago, to find if the ice being put up for consumption is pure. The industry is confined to a small area, so a larger number of men is not needed for the inspection work.

FIGHTS FOR HER DAUGHTER; HOME SEARCHED BY POLICE.

Detectives Batter Down Door When Mrs. M. Olson-Durant Refuses Admittance—Girl Disappeared Dec. 25.

Efforts of H. Peterson, a Marshalltown (Ia.) hotelkeeper, to recover his foster daughter, 16 year old Verbina Olson Peterson, who disappeared on Christmas day, led detectives yesterday to batter down the doors of the residence of the girl's mother, Mrs. Matilda Olson-Durant, 56 East Chicago avenue. Mrs. Olson-Durant refused to permit the searching of her house. The girl was not found.

Mrs. Olson-Durant, who gave up custody of the girl when 5 months old, following the death of her husband, has been endeavoring to regain her daughter. A few months ago, Peterson says, she offered him $300 to release the girl. On Christmas day, Peterson says, John Olson, 18 year old brother, visited Marshalltown and induced the girl to come to Chicago with him.

Peterson came to Chicago and enlisted the aid of the police. He went before Judge Pinckney in the Juvenile court and obtained a ruling that he was the legal guardian of the girl and that the mother has no claim upon her daughter.

Peterson threatens court proceedings to compel the return of his foster daughter.

CLOTHES HELD, MODEL SHIVERS

Miss Meyers Says Sweater and Skirt Only Are Left in Wardrobe—Sues Tailor.

Miss Alice Meyers, who says she is an artists' model and lives at 1114 East Forty-second place, visited the office of the Municipal court clerk yesterday to complain of her tailor, her landlady's former husband, and the cold weather. She sued the tailor, scolded about the landlady's former husband, and spoke in shivers of the weather.

It was conceded Miss Meyers had ample cause for grievance. She had taken most of her clothes, including her posing robes, to her tailor, Harris Goldberg, 4230 Greenwood avenue, last Friday for repairs, she said. When she called the following day for her clothes the tailor held them, she said, for a bill owed by James H. Hartford Jr., former husband of the woman with whom Miss Meyers is lodging.

She filed suit to recover her clothes. Miss Meyers yesterday wore a gray sweater and a black skirt. She said these clothes constituted her available wardrobe.

ACCUSED OF LOOTING MISSION.

Young Woman Declare Plumber Stole Money and Jewelry from Firman Institution.

Oscar G. Schmidt, 1977 Evergreen avenue, was arrested yesterday on a charge of having stolen money and jewelry from three young women connected with the Firman mission, 211 Beethoven place, while he was at work there Saturday. Municipal Judge Charles Goodnow is president of the mission. Schmidt's hearing was continued until Jan. 17. He is a plumber. Miss Ruth Carpenter, Miss Florence Nesbit, and Miss Miner reported the thefts.

"CUT OUT" BY HIS BROTHER; FORBIDS DANVILLE CEREMONY

George Seesavge Flees to Chicago with a Sixteen Year Old Girl, but Fails to Get a License.

When George Seesavge of Westville, Ill., procured a license at Danville to wed 16 year old Mary Draszkeirvh, William Seesavge, brother of the prospective bridegroom, said he "would not permit them to get married." William himself wanted the girl for his bride, for he first wooed and won her and then was "cut out" by his older brother.

George fled to Chicago with the girl yesterday. But the Danville license could not be recognized here, and neither would the county clerk issue a certificate valid in Chicago in the absence of consent of the girl's parents. So George and the girl started back to Danville last night.

"We'll try to get married at Danville despite my brother's threat," said George. "My brother went with Mary first, and I cut him out. Now he says we can't get married, but we will."

WANT PROVISIONS TO SUPPLY POOR

United Charities Asks for Clothing and Coal as Well as Money Contributions.

$9,131 IS ADDED TO FUND.

Moderation of Weather Does Not Decrease the Line of Thinly Clothed Seeking Aid.

With three cash donations of $500 each and other subscriptions yesterday totaling $9,664, the United Charities fund since Saturday morning has grown to $17,500. THE TRIBUNE subscriptions, which will be turned over to the United Charities, totaled $77 more. The largest donors yesterday were Mrs. George M. Pullman, 1729 Prairie avenue; Roy McWilliams, 2131 Calumet avenue, and Mrs. Edward L. Brewster and Miss Pauline Brewster, 1367 North State street. One $5 bill was received from two working girls with the direction, "Use it for some one poorer than ourselves."

Although the weather had moderated, there was no decrease in the long lines of half-starved, thinly clad women and children asking a few provisions and a few bushels of coal, or of men, gaunt faced but determined, begging merely a chance to labor. Since the coming of zero weather more than 1,000 families have been added to the United Charities' monthly list of dependents.

Crowd Smaller at Lodging House.

When the municipal lodging house opened its doors at 5 o'clock in the afternoon there was not the usual line waiting outside, but at 7 a rapidly falling thermometer and a chill wind began driving them in. By 8 o'clock there were 300 men inside, about half the number who have slept there on previous nights since the zero weather set in. Assistant Supt. Anderson sent fifty more to Health Commissioner Young's emergency annex at 814 West Lake street. For the first time in five days it was not necessary to send any of them to the Desplaines street police station.

Mr. Anderson said the labor situation was much improved. He has placed from 400 to 500 men, all of whom are needed for the ice harvest or to shovel snow. In this way the snow was a godsend to the roofless. Malcolm MacDowell sent over 600 pairs of cold weather mittens, which will be distributed among those who go to work.

Urges Churches to Open Doors.

In the afternoon the Baptist ministers' conference recommended that all churches near the downtown districts throw their doors open to the homeless. They acted on a report of Charles H. Wacker, head of the United Charities, to the effect that 150 000 men were without employment in Chicago and that many of them were without shelter.

The generosity of five Chicago coal companies enabled the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul, Washington boulevard and North Peoria street, to furnish fuel at cost in basket lots to needy persons who do not wish to appeal directly to charitable organizations. To all persons bearing an order from the United Charities, even the nominal charge will be lifted. The companies that have made this possible are the Bunge Coal company, the Busse Coal company, the Cross Creek Coal company, the Eldridge Coal company, and A. S. Peabody of the City Fuel company.

First Aid to Needy

First aid to the needy was given yesterday by the police of the Warren avenue station to Mrs. Anna Runion of 2438 Park avenue. Mrs. Runion is a widow. Her family consists of six children, ranging from 6 to 14 years old.

"They've been hungry and cold for a week," she told Sergt. John Lacey and Operator Joseph Dargan.

"Fine," said they, and started taking up a collection among the officers. The $10 realized was spent for fuel and food, which was immediately sent to the Runion home. The case will be reported to the county agent this morning.

WOMAN'S ALIENATION SUIT DISMISSED; NO REASON GIVEN

Mrs. Royal C. Curtis Withdraws Effort to Collect $3,000 of Mrs. Delia C. Mathew, Matron of Eastern Star.

Judge Dever in the Superior court has dismissed a suit for alienation of affections filed by Mrs. Royal C. Curtis, 1719 North Park avenue, against Mrs. Delia C. Mathew, 1165 Sixty-fifth street.

Attorneys for Mrs. Curtis said they had been instructed to withdraw the suit, but the reason was not made public.

Mrs. Curtis sought damages of $3,000. She is said to have formerly been a professional beauty. Her husband was a traveling salesman. Mrs. Mathew is worthy matron of the Marion chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

BANKERS AID IN BOY CHASE.

Youth Captured in Elevator in the Rookery Building After Lawyers' Cloakroom Is Robbed.

Frank Emerson, an alleged boy thief, was captured in an elevator in the Rookery building, West Adams and South La Salle streets, yesterday after a chase in which lawyers, bankers, brokers, detectives, and employés of the building took part.

Emerson, who had been loitering about the halls of the building for several days, was seen leaving a coatroom in the office of the law firm of Steer, Williams & Steer on the sixth floor. A pocketbook containing a small amount of money of an employé was found missing. The pocketbook is said to have been found in his possession.

GLAD CULT DIDN'T GET HIS BOY

Millionaire Reakirt Roused by Former Wife's Testimony.

A "MILLION DOLLAR BABY."

Father Comes to Find If Child Is on Beer and Grapes Diet.

Lewellyn B. Reakirt, a Cincinnati millionaire, arrived in Chicago late last night badly frightened. He had been reading the newspaper reports about the testimony of his divorced wife, Mrs. Anna Howard Reakirt, offered in Chicago in the Mazdaznan cult case.

Mrs. Reakirt is the sister of Mrs. Elizabeth H. Lindsay, high priest of the Mazdaznan society. Mr. Reakirt thought his former wife had been influenced by her sister, and that his son, Robert, 13 years old, was being fed on beer and white grapes as Billy Lindsay is said to have been.

Reporter Comforts Him.

Mr. Reakirt was much relieved later when THE TRIBUNE reporter gave him a synopsis of his former wife's testimony before the Juvenile court. This indicated she was not a disciple of Ottoman Zar-Adusht Hanish, leader of the cult.

"I have not heard from my son for two years nor from his mother," said Mr. Reakirt, "and when I saw in the newspapers that Mrs. Reakirt's sister was mixed up in this heathenish cult and that Mrs. Reakirt was testifying in court here, I began to feel uncomfortable about my boy. I didn't know but that Mrs. Reakirt had fallen under the spell, too. I am much relieved to hear that she testified against Hanish and against her sister in this suit."

A "Million Dollar Baby."

Mrs. Reakirt told friends in Chicago at the time of her visit here that her son, Robert, was in her sole custody and care. Mr. Reakirt will communicate with her at her residence in Holmedel, N. J., today and get a report on his son. Robert Reakirt is one of the lucky youngsters of America who has been dubbed "a million dollar baby."

His mother received $250,000 alimony at the time of her divorce. Then Robert's grandmother, Mrs. Lauretta Gibson, one of the wealthiest women of Ohio, is going to present him with about $1,000,000. All things considered, Robert would make a valuable member of the Mazdaznan cult.

Several investigators from the juvenile court are still searching for Billy Lindsay and his mother.

MISS HOGAN REMAINS DEFIANT DESPITE HER FINE OF $1,700.

Girl Must Remain in Jail Until She Agrees to Prosecute Doctor on Robbery Charge.

Miss Hazel Hogan's refusal to help the state send Dr. Irvine Steinger and three accomplices to the penitentiary will cost her $1,700, just $50 less than the amount the four are said to have robbed her of on the night of July 18, 1911, in the doctor's office at Campbell avenue and Halsted street.

The $1,700 fine, imposed upon the woman by Judge Lockwood Honoré yesterday for contempt of court was the result of a repetition of her refusal to testify against the accused men. The judge ordered that the indeterminate sentence to the county jail, imposed last week, stand until she is willing to prosecute.

Miss Hogan said she would stay in jail the rest of her life before she would testify against the men. After this, the judge was forced to declare an indefinite recess and excuse the jury. The men cannot be brought to trial before Miss Hogan is willing to prosecute.

Since Thursday, when Miss Hogan first was committed to jail, all attempts to induce her an change her attitude have been futile. According to the state, Miss Hogan refuses to prosecute because she is in love with the doctor.

Shortly after the alleged robbery and before an indictment had been voted Miss Hogan disappeared. She was found in Detroit by a detective.

Miss Hogan and the four men refuse to discuss the affair. It was intimated by the prosecution that the woman had been promised reimbursement of the amount stolen if she would not prosecute.

Travelers having proper passports experience no trouble in crossing the Russian frontier, neither do they have trouble in procuring such passports from Russia, according to Milward Adams, consul for Siam in Chicago, who returned from his third tour of the world last night. He left Chicago the first of last October with the intention of making a long stop in China, but was prevented by the revolution there. He went to France, Germany, and Russia, and thence to Siberia, Manchuria, and Japan, returning by way of Honolulu, and from there to San Francisco.

SUICIDE NOTE MAY BE ELOPERS' RUSE

Miss Millie Valentine in Letter Intimates She and Adolph Bach Might Live.

POLICE HAVE 3 THEORIES.

Think Death Is Solution, but Boy's Wealthy Parents Are Skeptical.

Evidence to support three different theories of the disappearance of Miss Millie Valentine and Adolph Bach, sweethearts, who dropped out of sight on Saturday night, was discovered yesterday by the police of the Summerdale station. They are working under supervision of Lieut. Martin J. O'Malley. These theories are:

That the couple eloped to get married because of parental objections.

That they committed suicide by drowning themselves in the north branch of the river.

That they ended their lives in some other manner as the result of a suicide pact.

Two letters left by the young woman tell of a suicide pact with her sweetheart. The discovery of her furs and her beaver hat near Montrose avenue on the bank of the north branch of the river also bears out the suicide theory of death by drowning. Also she left all her jewelry at home, even to her glasses.

Son of Wealthy Family.

The missing couple were 20 years old and were neighbors. The young man is the son of William Bach, wealthy official of the Bach Brick company, 2647 Montrose avenue. He resided at 5532 Southport avenue, with his father, stepmother, and brothers, and was employed at the brick plant. The young woman resided with a widowed mother and sisters at 5538 Southport avenue. She was employed as a press feeder for the Abbott Press company, East Ravenswood park and Lawrence avenue.

While the father of the missing young man and his brothers as well scout the suicide theory and believe the pair eloped, Miss Valentine's mother is positive the young people have committed suicide. After an all day search for clews the police depended on the theory of suicide. The widow pointed to the two letters left by her daughter as certain proof that she had ended her life. The notes are dated Jan. 4 and Jan. 6.

Tells of Nearing Death.

The one of the latest date read:

"All the Loved Ones: I know two weeks ago, on Christmas day, I was going to die, but I did not know how nor when. Now I know when, but not how. All I was told was that there would be no funeral expenses and not to wear any jewelry. I am not afraid to die, as it has always been my wish from God that I should either win him for my husband or die with him.

"He's my promised husband, but as his folks object so hard he turned to drink, and now you see the result. I hope you will all forgive me, as we feel it hard to live apart. His parents are to blame for all, as they were too strict and did not gain anything.

"Hort [a sister], I hope you will bid my last good-bye to all my friends and tell them all I am sorry. I could write a long sad story, but I guess I had better take it with me. All I ask is forgiveness, and if he should change his mind and want to live, instead of to die, I will let you all know soon. All be good and mind your own parents before it is too late. When I got good advice it was then too late, and, mother dear, do not be too strict, for it don't pay. Let them have all the fun they want.

Tells of Parental Objection.

The letter has a postscript which bids her family last good-bye and asks that farewell messages be sent to several of her friends. The other letter, written a day earlier, reads in part:

"My Dear Ones: It grieves me more than words can tell, but I cannot go without leaving some word for you. You all know how I loved Adolph Bach. He would have married me a long time ago only for his mother, whom you all know about. So instead of leaving each other or living apart, which we have tried and could not, we have decided to die together.

"I want to be buried in my black dress with the white collar, and I want mother to wear my signet ring all the time. I would like to be buried with him, but I guess she won't have it. Please take the picture of him out of my locket and bury it with me."

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—While I am a stanch admirer and friend of Roosevelt, I do not favor THE TRIBUNE'S declaration that in direct primary states his name should be put upon the ballot. Roosevelt has emphatically said he is not a candidate, and has urged his friends not to take measures to secure delegates to the convention.

The course suggested by THE TRIBUNE is thus directly and positively opposed to the ex-president's wishes, which are entitled to the respect due from a grateful people to one who has served them well officially, and who is now a powerful influence for the country's good in a calling of his own choice.

His name on such a ballot might result in placing him in an embarrassing position which ought not to be put up to him. In other words, the action suggested is plainly impertinent.

Personally, I believe Taft is not only the logical candidate, but is entitled to and has earned a renomination. The quicker, I think, the various elements of the Republican party recognize this the more likelihood of its success at the polls, stopping an agitation which is productive of dissension and weakness.

Says Kansas Is for Taft.

Independence, Kas., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—In our opinion you will do Mr. Roosevelt and the country a service by taking Mr. Roosevelt at his word and permitting him to lead the respected and honored life of a dignified ex-president. Kansas is for Taft, and resents outside interference. The country needs restoration of confidence and political sincerity and dignity.

STUBBS WANTS PLAN USED.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Gov. W. R. Stubbs is in favor of placing Roosevelt's name upon the ballot in states having a presidential primary law, in order to determine the sentiment toward him.

"I believe it is an excellent idea," he said. "It would tend to show how the people of the nation feel toward Roosevelt. The states having presidential primary laws are well scattered, and the results would be a fair indication of the general feeling."

Charles H. Sessions, secretary of state and one of the Republican leaders of Kansas, said:

"If the people knew positively that Roosevelt were a candidate for president, or that he would accept the nomination, the proposition to test his popularity by a primary vote would be all right. But the uncertainty of his present attitude would cost him many votes that he would otherwise surely get. Therefore, a test of that kind, under existing circumstances, would not show Roosevelt's real strength and would handicap his candidacy—that is, of course, if he is a candidate."

NEW JERSEY.

Putting Name on Primary Ballot Good Way to Learn Public Opinion.

Good Way to Learn Sentiment.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—It would seem an easy way to get at public sentiment to guide the national convention in choosing a candidate by putting Roosevelt's name on the ticket in direct primary states. The candidate of the Republican party will undoubtedly be either Taft or Roosevelt. COURIER NEWS.

Should Get His Permission.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Our direct primary law should be changed to require the assent of a candidate to having his name go on the party primary ballot. If Roosevelt gives permission for the use of his name there is no reason why it should not go on the ballot, together with other candidates for the presidential nomination.

POST TELEGRAM.

STOKES URGES STRAW VOTE.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Edward C. Stokes, former governor and candidate for United States senator, today said, regarding the presidential primaries proposal:

"I am not sure that placing the name of Roosevelt on the primary ballot would be the best way to determine whether or not public sentiment favored him. Our primary laws are peculiar. My idea is that a straw ballot should be taken in each county in the state to find out who the people are for. That is what will be done in my county, Cumberland, before any name is put on the primary ticket as a presidential candidate."

State Senator Leavitt says:

"I believe the proposition is the best one if we are desirous of finding out who the people want for president. The primary surely reflects public sentiment."

State Treasurer Voorhees, one of the most prominent among the state leaders, said:

"The will of the people as expressed at the primaries cannot be depended upon when the nominee for the presidency is involved. It may be that Mr. Roosevelt will not be a candidate for president when our primaries are held next May, and the law says that the primary ticket can carry the names only of presidential candidates printed opposite the names of the candidates for delegates to the national convention. Then, too, it might happen that the name of Mr. Roosevelt would be the only one printed on the primary ticket. In such an event the vote given him would, in all probability, not represent public sentiment in New Jersey. I believe, and I think it is the belief of nearly all of the men identified with the leadership of the Republican party in New Jersey, that the delegation should go to the national convention uninstructed."

OREGON.

Primary the Only Way for the People to Tell What They Think.

Primary Plan the Only Way.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—The direct primary forms a way of finding out precisely what the people think. There is no guesswork about it. The verdict is as solemn and definite as that returned at the regular election. It should be tried in Col. Roosevelt's case. THE EVENING TELEGRAM.

Concurs in the Plan.

Astoria, Ore., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—For the purposes of obtaining popular sentiment and uniting the Republicans of all direct primary states upon a definite expression for or against Mr. Roosevelt for the presidency, we concur in THE TRIBUNE'S declaration that the ex-president's name should be put on those ballots. We anticipate, however, that in all states, irrespective of primary plans, Roosevelt's name will figure more or less spontaneously, and THE TRIBUNE'S plan will go to aid in achieving a concrete solution.

PROGRESSIVES FIGHT MOVEMENT.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Efforts to place Theodore Roosevelt's name on the primary nominating ballot in Oregon took form on Saturday when Olivet M. Hickey and Joseph T. Ellis began the circulation of petitions with this object in view.

Thomas McCusker, leader of the La Follette campaign in Oregon and a leader in the "second elective term" agitation four years ago, tonight said:

"Mr. Roosevelt's name should not go on the ballot in Oregon. I have information that Mr. Roosevelt will not be a candidate. I am convinced that the movement to arouse sentiment for Roosevelt in Oregon is an effort to split the anti-Taft forces. It seems strange that the gentlemen who are members of the Lincoln-Taft and Taft clubs should be so anxious to have Roosevelt run, when they know he will not be a candidate."

Other Republican leaders express themselves as follows:

Jay Bowerman, former governor: "Why should Mr. Roosevelt's name go on the ballot? He is not a candidate. Let's not make a joke of the presidential primary by wasting votes on men who are not avowed aspirants for the presidency. If Mr. Roosevelt should announce his candidacy, then it will be only fair that his name be placed on the ballot, and that can be done with little trouble by his friends."

A. G. Rushlight, mayor of Portland: "I favor the placing of Mr. Roosevelt's name on the ballot. There should be every opportunity for a full and popular expression of presidential preference."

CALIFORNIA.

All Candidates Should Go On, Says Paper; Roosevelt Popular in State.

Put Them All On, Says Call.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—While the Call believes that Taft should go and will be nominated and elected it has no objection to the name of any Republican going upon the Republican ballot in California's presidential preference primary.

This newspaper has always believed in and advocated the direct primary principle and sees no reason now why it should not be fully carried out. He is certainly a better Republican than La Follette. Put Roosevelt on the ballot. Put La Follette on the ballot. Put on any other man entitled to the support of Republicans of whatever school, stripe, or faction. Put them all on.

Wants All Three on Ballot.

San Bernardino, Cal., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—I am not in favor of putting the name of Roosevelt or any other man on the primary ballot without a positive statement authorizing his candidacy.

There are doubtless many Republicans who now favor either Taft or La Follette, who would be glad to support Roosevelt if he is a candidate, but it is not fair to them to either ask or permit them to throw away their votes at the primary, as would be the case if they voted for Roosevelt with him finally refusing to allow the use of his name or refusing to accept the nomination.

This is fairness to all three of them—to Mr. Roosevelt, who has said repeatedly that he is not a candidate, and to Mr. Taft and Mr. La Follette, if the contest is to be between them, who are entitled to a fair field without either favor or obstruction.

R. C. HARRISON, Editor Sun.

Says "Machine" Backs La Follette.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Under the peculiar and unfair California presidential primary law recently enacted it would be practically impossible to ascertain the sentiment of the voters of the state regarding Roosevelt, as long as the Republican state machine is backing La Follette. For this condition of affairs La Follette's friends of the Republican state machine are solely responsible.

We should otherwise favor the suggestion of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, for the true intent of the presidential primary preference system is to obtain the free and untrammeled expression of the popular will, not the will of two factions of politicians.

We also believe that Roosevelt has more followers in California than has La Follette, but there is practically no chance that he will get a single vote among the hundreds of thousands that will be cast.

WANTS AN AVOWAL FIRST.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Regarding the proposal to place Theodore Roosevelt's name on the ballot in the direct primary election, Meyer Lissner, chairman of the state Republican committee, today said:

"I am opposed to placing Roosevelt's name on the ballot. If he were an avowed candidate I would be in favor of it. La Follette's name will certainly go on the ballot. If both Roosevelt's and La Follette's names are on the ballot it will split the progressive vote and assure the nomination of Taft, not by a really popular expression but on account of division among the progressives."

Marshall Stimson, chairman of the Republican congressional committee for the Seventh congressional district, said practically the same thing.

NEBRASKA.

Every Name People Ask For Should Be Placed on the Ballot.

Every Cnadidate Should Go On.

Hastings, Neb., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Direct primary states should put the name of every candidate upon their ticket the people ask for. That is a prerogative that should be asserted without question, for the sole object of the direct primary law is to place the selection of political candidates directly in the hands of the people.

ADAM BREDE, Editor Tribune.

Sees No Reason Why.

Fremont, Neb., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Roosevelt's name now having been regularly filed, it is believed there is no legal way to prevent its going on the primary ballot in Nebraska. I see no reason why his name, any more than a thousand others, should go on the ballot. If it is merely to gratify curiosity. ROSS L. HAMMOND, Editor Tribune.

GOV. HASKELL AIDS PLAN.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—That there is a latent sentiment favorable to the renomination of Theodore Roosevelt for the presidency, and that this sentiment should given opportunity for expression, is the belief of Gov. Chester H. Aldrich. He said that in states where the direct primary is in force and a presidential preference ballot is possible, like in Nebraska, he favored placing the name of Roosevelt on the ballot. Furthermore, the governor said, it needed only a word from Roosevelt himself to start a movement which would sweep many western states.

Wants Consent of Nominee.

Former United States Senator Elmer J. Burkett said:

"I think Roosevelt's wishes should be consulted. If he wants to be a candidate, certainly his name should be presented to the people in the states where popular expression is provided for by law. On the other hand, if he does not want to be a candidate, I think he should not be embarrassed by his own enthusiastic friends or other people's enemies by putting his name on the ballot where he does not want it. I think the people should be as fair with Mr. Roosevelt as he has been with the people, and that neither cowardly or ambitious politicians should be permitted to hide behind Roosevelt's skirts for local and personal purposes."

"Paul F. Clark, progressive Republican candidate for congress in the First district, said:

"Roosevelt's name should not go on the ballot unless he says he is a candidate or unless he says he will accept the nomination if it is offered to him."

H. J. Winnett, chairman of the state railway commission, said:

"If there is a sentiment favorable to Roosevelt, put his name on the ballot and let us learn how strong that sentiment is."

Views of Victor Rosewater.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Victor Rosewater, editor of the Omaha Bee, and national committeeman from Nebraska, today said regarding the proposed presidential primaries:

"If Mr. Roosevelt is willing to stand as a candidate his name should go on our preferential ballot. However, I do not think the ballot should be loaded down with the names of men who are not candidates. If Mr. Roosevelt's name is placed on our ballot without his consent, that ballot would have to be open to the names of every man for whom any one might want to vote.

"I think our Nebraska primary law is wrong in permitting the filing of a name without prior consent or later assent of the man who is to run."

Wants People to Have Chance.

Col. John O. Yeiser:

"THE TRIBUNE is right. Put Roosevelt's name on all the preferential ballots in the country. Give the people a chance to show whom they are for. If they want Roosevelt, let them have him. If they don't want Roosevelt, let them have any other candidate they do want. That's fair to all candidates and it's fair to the people, too. Do not lose sight of the fact that the people do the voting."

A. W. Jefferis, attorney and nominee for congress, said:

"The people should not be played with this way. If Roosevelt is a candidate, or will even say that he will accept a nomination, his name should go on the preferential ballot by all means. But in no case, unless a man is openly, avowedly to accept a nomination, should his name be placed on a ballot. Any other action is simply making a farce of the law."

Bismark, N. D., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—When asked today as to whether he thought Mr. Roosevelt's name should go on the primary ballot as a candidate for the presidential nomination, Secretary of State P. D. Norton, an insurgent, said:

"Unless Mr. Roosevelt openly declares he will be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination I do not know of any reason why his name should be placed upon the presidential preference primary ballot. It appears to me that a number of those who are most loudly proclaiming for Roosevelt's indorsement are not in favor of him, but are opposed to La Follette and are in favor of Taft or some other reactionary."

PACKERS AGREED ON CONTRACT BID

Letter from Swift to Armour Official Quoted Figures to Be "Put Over."

INJUNCTION WAS DEFIED.

Pool Meetings Were Transferred from Veeder Offices to Beef Men's Homes.

Evidence tending to show that as a "subsidiary" to the alleged trust the indicted Chicago packers agreed on bids submitted for big contracts and thereby divided up the contract business, too, was introduced yesterday in the trial before Judge Carpenter.

Jerome H. Pratt, former dressed beef manager of Armour & Co., testifying for the government, told how he instructed his contract department to overbid a certain price for a possible contract following instructions from a Swift & Co. official. As a result, the contract went to the Swift company.

He identified a communication which came to him Nov. 6, 1905, complaining that Armour had "had the contract for a year," instead of giving the other packers a chance at it. He declared he recognized the signature of "F. A. F.," as that of Francis A. Fowler, manager of the dressed beef department of Swift & Co., at that time a director of the National Packing company and one of the present defendants.

"F. A. F." Letter Is Blunt.

The contract was for beef and mutton to be supplied as the Old Soldiers' Home at Tougus, Me. The "F. A. F." letter read:

"J. H. P.: Please bid over beef 7¾, mutton 8½, Tougus home. You have had for a year."

At the bottom was the "F. A. F." signature, almost a duplicate of the "Taft pin" design of the 1908 campaign.

"Did you send in any bids?" asked District Attorney Wilkerson.

"I instructed the man in the contract department to bid above those figures for beef and mutton. He did, and the contract was awarded to ——, the party from whom this note came."

Transfer Meetings to Packers' Homes.

Pratt also gave testimony regarding secret meetings of the beef interests at private residences of different packers when they had been "smoked out" of the Veeder offices by the unpleasant activities of the government. For a time they stopped altogether, but later the "home" conferences resumed the fixing of margins despite the government injunction, Pratt testified.

"After you ceased to attend meetings in the offices of Albert H. and Henry Veeder did you attend similar meetings elsewhere?" asked Mr. Wilkerson.

"I did," returned Pratt, "at the houses of Edward Morris, E. F. Swift, J. P. Lyman, and E. A. Allen. This was in the spring of 1907 after the injunction proceedings were in effect. One meeting was also held at Arthur Meeker's residence. The market conditions would be discussed and probably a record made of the margins that we would try to obtain."

Meeker Gave Instructions.

"During the Veeder meetings," questioned the district attorney, "where did you get information or instruction?"

"From Mr. Meeker. I might get them by wire on Tuesday; otherwise they would come to me Wednesday. One period we didn't have any advices at all or any instructions."

"When was that?"

"Right after the injunction. We commenced to get it again from Mr. Meeker in 1908; I can't say just when."

Speaking of other "information" bearing papers, he said:

"The records received Wednesdays would be destroyed the next Wednesday. I destroyed them the next week."

He was presented with a copy of a chart showing towns territory A.

"I understood they were records of weights of beef shipped into territory A by the National Packing company," he said.

National Company "Scared."

"When did you first see one of these documents?"

"Shortly after the National Packing company was scared away from doing business."

"Where did you get it?"

"Mr. Meeker. I was in constant communication with him before the formation of the National Packing company. At the beginning of the National Packing company meetings they had no such records. I thought it would be a great deal of assistance to me if I knew what they were doing. A short time after that the records came along weekly. I knew what it meant."

That was about the longest speech Pratt had a chance to make, and it was stricken from the records with other evidence objected to by the defense.

Bars Identification of Handwriting.

After long arguments with the jury excused at the opening of court, Judge Carpenter ruled that identification of handwriting on one of the documents as that of J. Ogden Armour had not been sufficient, but no order striking this passage from the record was entered. The packers attempted to have the Tougus home letter stricken from the records, but the court reserved ruling.

Proving Conspiracy Becomes Issue.

At the close of court, with the jury dismissed for the day, the attorneys gathered in front of the bench for a long argument on the subject of proving conspiracy. Pierce Butler of the government forces contended it is not necessary to show active participation by the defendants in any particular act, but simply to show they "set the machine in motion" for the purpose of controlling the price of fresh meats—and that the machine "went." The court still has to rule on several questions involving this point.

U. S. STENOGRAPHERS STRIKE.

Labor Trouble Stops Machinery of Congress for the First Time in Its History.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—For the first time in the history of the government a labor strike held up the machinery of congressional legislation today.

The house committee stenographers refused to work because the accounts committee reduced their compensation from 25 to 15 cents a folio. The sugar trust investigation committee had to adjourn until tomorrow.

The committee on accounts, which had been following out the house Democratic program of economy, immediately began to arbitrate with the stenographers.

Outside stenographers were employed to help the regular reporters of the salaries committee. The reduction of pay would save about $5,000. Chairman Lloyd of the accounts committee said if the regular reporters interfered they would be dismissed.

MAY LEAD G. O. P. CAMPAIGN

Secretary of Interior Fisher Has Chance of Being Chosen.

BELIEVE HIM PACIFICATOR.

Would Unite Elements in Party as Head of National Body.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher will be chairman of the Republican national committee in the event of the renomination of President Taft, according to a report in circulation here tonight. The president's advisers, it is stated, have agreed upon the selection of Mr. Fisher as the man best fitted for the management of the campaign.

The Taft managers want the chairman of the national committee to be a man who can unite the regulars and the progressives in support of the president for reelection. They believe Secretary Fisher is the man to fill the bill. He is a progressive of the middle of the road type and has the confidence not only of the regulars but of some of the most radical progressives, notably Gifford Pinchot and the other opponents of the Ballinger regime in the interior department.

Secretary Hilles is now in charge of the preconvention Taft campaign. Mr. Fisher is giving counsel and assistance, and already has made considerable progress in pacifying incipient opposition to the president, according to the statements of some of the regular leaders.

LORIMER FACTION PICKS KITTLEMAN FOR CONGRESS.

Hopes to "Put Him Over" as Result of Republican Split in the Sixth District.

James M. Kittleman of Berwyn, former member of the Illinois house of representatives from the Lorimer senatorial district, has been picked as the Lorimer candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the Sixth congressional district. This is the district which Senator Lorimer represented at the time he went to the senate, to which William J. Mosley, now much out of politics, succeeded, and which now is represented in Washington by E. J. Stack, a Democrat.

The entrance of Kittleman as the avowed Lorimer candidate precipitates a three cornered fight for the Republican nomination, which is deemed likely to become as spectacular and bitter as those which have ripped open the west side territory in the last few campaigns.

Ald. Carl T. Murray of the old Twentieth ward is the avowed candidate of the regular organization Republicans who stand with the dominant element in the county committee and against the Lorimerites. Ald. Arthur W. Fulton of the old Thirteenth ward, who has not made formal announcement of his candidacy, will be supported by the progressives, particularly by the Jones-Marriam forces.

With the regulars and the insurgents backing opposition candidates, the Lorimer machine expects to "put Kittleman over."

Congressman Stack expects to be a candidate for renomination in the Democratic primaries, it is reported, but is to have strong opposition from the Democratic organization leaders in the district, who will back a candidate not yet chosen.

Gov. Deneen comes to Chicago today for what may be the final conference of the Cook county Republican leaders prior to the real opening of the primary campaign. It is within possibility that a definite statement will be made by the governor during his stay as to what he will do.

Any remaining doubt which may have existed in the political mind that the governor will be a candidate to succeed himself was dissipated yesterday by the news from the inner circles of the old line federal crowd that petitions for the renomination of Senator Cullom had been placed in circulation and that the petitions will be ready for filing at Springfield when the proper time arrives.

The conference today, it is reported, will determine definitely that the Cook county leaders will be a unit in support of Senator Cullom for renomination and for Gov. Deneen for renomination.

LANDIS SEES LAX PAROLE METHODS

Federal Judge Finds Two Counterfeiters, Released, Had Served Sentences.

SENDS THEM TO PRISON.

Says "Worthy to Note They Were Paroled Though Convicted Twice Before."

A long resounding whack at parole board methods in loosing criminals while serving second or third terms for serious offenses was dealt yesterday by United States District Judge Kenesaw M. Landis.

Prefacing his remarks by saying he would not criticise the state authorities, Judge Landis called attention to the fact that two counterfeiters on trial before him had already served two terms in the penitentiary and were then released on parole while serving other sentences for burglary. It appeared to be the serious nature of the crime twice repeated which inspired the court's sharp criticism of the return of criminals to freedom.

The men were Joseph Ellington, alias Dalton, and Richard L. Manning, both still under parole. Judge Landis listened to the testimony regarding their arrest while at work manufacturing half dollars and to a brief recital of their previous incarcerations.

Landis Means "No Criticism"?

"I do not mean any possible criticism of the Illinois state authorities," he said, "but it is worthy of note that these two defendants were paroled from Joliet penitentiary while serving sentences for burglarizing private houses."

"I agree with you, Judge," interrupted Ellington.

"That each defendant," continued the court, "had a burglary record behind him; that each defendant had been convicted of the same crime twice before."

Ellington was promptly sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., and to pay $100 fine. Manning was sentenced to the same fine and to a similar term in the penitentiary at Leavenworth. They will be taken away early this morning.

The length of the term was noteworthy, inasmuch as Capt. Thomas I. Porter, head of the federal secret service in Chicago, had not urged a heavy sentence. He pointed out that the men will undoubtedly be rearrested by the Illinois authorities when they leave the prison.

Caught Making Half Dollars.

The pair were arrested at 447 La Salle avenue, on Dec. 16, by Capt. Porter, Operative Peter Drautsberg, and United States Deputy Marshal William Crawley. They were caught in a room where there was a pot of molten lead, dies, and various bits of paraphernalia for making bad half dollars. The leaden slug was simply coated with nitrate of silver. About one dozen bad coins were seized.

James Brady, alias "King" Brady, and John Lawson were sentenced to prison by Judge Landis for selling stolen whisky without government licenses. The men pleaded guilty. Brady was given thirteen months in the Leavenworth prison and fined $1,000 and Lawson, his accomplice, was sentenced to sixty days in the house of correction and fined $1,000. They were arrested by internal revenue inspectors a few weeks ago and charged with disposing of six barrels of liquor which they had stolen from a car in the yards of the Chicago and Erie Railroad company at West Fifteenth and South Clark streets.

The liquor was sold by the men to Eugene Huston, colored, who conducts a resort at 2511 South Dearborn street, and who is under charges by the federal authorities for smuggling cocaine. Huston paid the men $280 for the liquor, and Brady and Lawson stole the property a second time from a cellar in which Huston had stored it and sold the liquor.

TAFT HONORS TWO CHICAGOANS.

Hugh S. Wilson and Albert B. Ruddock Appointed to Posts in the Diplomatic Service.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Two Chicago young men were appointed by President Taft today to important posts in the diplomatic service. Hugh S. Wilson, a protégé of Charles G. Dawes, was named for secretary of the legation in Guatemala. Albert B. Ruddock, son of C. H. Ruddock, a wealthy resident of Chicago, New York, and Los Angeles, was nominated for third secretary of the embassy at Berlin.

Nominations sent to the senate today by President Taft included:

Dr. Rupert Blue, as surgeon general of the public health and marine hospital service, and C. H. Scott, as postmaster at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

ROOSEVELT DRAWS DEMOCRATIC FIRE

Hearst and Parker Attack the Colonel; "Harlequin of Politics," Says Former.

PLEAS TO 'GET TOGETHER'

Jackson Day Dinner in Washington Peaceful Climax to Stormy Day.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—The Jackson day banquet tonight, attended by the leading Democrats, including most of the party's candidates for the presidency, was the peaceful climax of a stormy day.

Whatever remained of the rumpled feelings occasioned by the committee fight during the day was visited on Republican policies and men—and in the latter category Theodore Roosevelt led all the rest.

William Randolph Hearst was the chief speaker to lambast the ex-president. Alton B. Parker assailed the colonel for his trust policy, and Senator John W. Kern contributed to the general attack with a criticism of Mr. Roosevelt for his action during the panic of 1907.

Outside of the assault on the Republican party and Roosevelt, the speeches were calm and peaceful. William J. Bryan's remarks were innocuous so far as presidential candidacies were concerned, and neither pleased nor displeased anybody.

All Plead "Get Together."

The Democratic leaders all urged their followers to stop fighting each other and assail the common enemy, the Republican party, with a united front. Gov. Woodrow Wilson, Speaker Champ Clark, Mr. Bryan, Mr. Hearst, Joseph W. Folk, and other Democratic celebrities, who have differed in the past, joined in a unanimous plea for harmony in 1912 and predicted that political victory would follow.

The Democrats lingered long at the feast before the flood of oratory predicting a revolution of party control of the country's affairs began.

Norman E. Mack, chairman of the national committee, kindled a fiery outburst at the beginning of the speaking program when he said:

"I think it is time we Democrats stopped fighting one another and began a unanimous attack on the common enemy. The country is ready to turn its affairs over to the Democratic party if we behave ourselves."

Says Progressives Will Decide.

Mr. Hearst, who was given a rousing reception, expressed his faith in the principles of Democracy, and said his only desire was to lend his best efforts "to help true Democrats control the party in the interest of true Democracy."

"This coming election," said he, "and many elections to follow, will be decided by the independent progressive voters of this country, and this great body of intelligent citizens will realize that they can find the best expression of their ideals in a Democratic party which has conscience and the courage to be truly Democratic.

Hearst's Attack on Roosevelt.

"Assuredly these progressive citizens will not follow Mr. Taft in the Republican party, for Mr. Taft is either opposed to their ideas, or else indifferent to them, or else incapable of comprehending them.

"Positively these progressives will not be able to support Mr. La Follette, for Mr. La Follette belongs in the Democratic party and will never be nominated for the presidency by the Republican party.

"Surely these genuine progressives will not fall in behind Mr. Roosevelt, who, when president, sacrificed every progressive principle for his own advantage and on every occasion has betrayed the interests of the people for the sordid support of some criminal trust. To support Roosevelt would make the whole progressive movement ridiculous.

"Very Harlequin of Politics."

"The man is a very harlequin of politics, capering forward and backward and sidewise over every conflicting quarter of the political stage, masked as to his real opinion and intention, attired in a tinsel patchwork of opposing principles, carrying, not a big stick, but a slapstick, with which to make much noise and do no service, appearing unexpectedly through every trap door of opportunism and disappearing acrobatically through every open window of time serving expediency.

"With Roosevelt as Harlequin and Root as Columbine, with Rockefeller as clown and Morgan as Pantaloon, the whole progressive movement would become a roaring Christmas pantomime culminating in a spectacular transformation scene, where prosperity would again dissolve into panic and where Morgan and Rockefeller, revealed enthroned in Wall street, would once more save the country, in order to divide it satisfactorily between themselves."

"Assault on Trusts Cheat."

Alton B. Parker called Roosevelt's assault on the trusts "a cheat and nasty fraud."

"The statement of Roosevelt that the trust law was impotent was untrue and you lawyers know it," he said. "I charge now, and when the opportunity is presented and I am asked for facts and figures I will prove it, that all his tirade against the law, the courts, and the states was to attract attention away from the truth and that every bit of the responsibility for the conditions of today rests upon the Republican party."

Kern Talks of 1907 Panic.

Senator Kern spoke on "Jacksonian Democracy," but his speech was a criticism of Roosevelt. He appeared in place of Gov. Marshall, who was unable to be present.

"Nicholas Biddle," said Senator Kern, "attempted to coerce Gen. Jackson into an abandonment of his attack upon the United States bank.

"'Gen. Jackson,' Biddle said, 'we have the power to make and unmake presidents. We have the power to make prosperity or bring ruin to the people.'

"'If that be true,' said the old general, 'then you have a d—d sight more power than ought to belong to any set of men in a free country.'

"And Jackson appealed to the people and right nobly did they respond. There followed financial revulsion, and distress was visited upon the people, but they gladly paid the price.

"Now, as to the significance of the incident. In 1907 another great money power had arisen in the land, beside which that of Jackson's time was the merest pygmy."

Reviews Tennessee Merger.

Senator Kern then sketched the negotiations that led to the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the United States Steel corporation. He referred to the call of certain officials at the White House.

"Theodore Roosevelt was reputed to be a man of courage and patriotism, but it was rumored that an exhibition of their power should be given him. The demand was carefully timed. A run was being made on a great financial institution in New York and a panic, nation-wide, freely predicted.

"It was then that those two modern Biddles came before the president, pointed out to him the danger of a panic and the power of the little band they represented to make panics or to stop them.

"And that president of the United States, representative of more than ninety millions of people, surrendered to their lawless demands.

"O, that there had been an Andrew Jackson in the presidential chair in that year 1907, backed up by the same fearless and patriotic citizenship which rallied to his support in 1832.

"O, that we might have in 1912 a rebaptism of patriotic fire which would fill the hearts of American voters with firm resolves that the domination of financial pirates should cease."

Bryan Calls for Awakening.

Mr. Bryan spoke on the subject, "The Passing Plutocracy." Nothing that he said awoke so much applause as his poetic peroration quoted from Byron. This is what Mr. Bryan quoted:

The dead have awakened—shall I sleep?
The world's at war with tyrants—shall I crouch?
The harvest's ripe—and I pause to reap.

When Mr. Bryan had spoken these lines the banquet hall rang with a deafening din. Here and there above the noisy tumult could be heard mingled cries of "Yes, stay asleep," and "You are still a live one."

Mr. Bryan continued his quotation when the tumult had subsided and concluded with this:

I slumber not—the thorn is in my couch!
Each day a trumpet soundeth in my ear,
Its echo in my heart.

Urges Direct Senate Elections.

In referring to political affairs, Mr. Bryan characterized the movement for popular election of senators as the greatest national reform of the generation and urged elimination of the partisan issue that has been injected into the controversy, asserting that neither of the great parties could hope to win a constitutional victory unaided.

He indorsed the direct primary and advocated its application to national elections in every state in the union.

"I congratulate the Democratic congress," said Mr. Bryan, "on the record it is making. It is earning the confidence of the nation. In the matter of the tariff, the country is rapidly approaching the Democratic position, and, while there are individual opinions as to schedules, there can be no difference of opinion among Democrats as to the substantial advantages to be secured to the people by the reductions that are being attempted."

Urges Filipino Freedom.

Speaking of the future work of congress, Mr. Bryan made a plea for the immediate declaration of the nation's purpose in the Philippine question, adhering to the Democratic platform promise of independence.

In speaking of the approaching campaign as one giving promise of victory to the Democratic party, Mr. Bryan warned his hearers "that at this time when the whole country is alive with progressive sentiment it will be criminal folly for our party to falter in its onward march, or to show cowardice in the face of the powerful enemy which is drawn up in battle before us.

"As much as we may be interested in the tariff question," he continued, "we must not ignore the menace of the trusts. The Democratic party must meet immediately and boldly the issue presented by the Supreme court in the Standard Oil and Tobacco decisions. The people will not trust a party that lacks the courage to challenge every public foe."

Wilson Talks on Currency.

Gov. Wilson was received with prolonged cheers. The governor discussed the tariff and other issues, but his reference to the currency question awakened the greatest interest.

"The country," said Gov. Wilson, "will not brook any plan which concentrates control in the hands of the bankers, because it knows that the bankers themselves are not isolated and that the banks are tied in by a thousand enterprises, by community holdings, and by interests in many intricate ways.

"The outside public must in some thorough and effective way be put in a position to keep its credits and its financial opportunities free and undictated. The bankers of the country may have the highest and purest intentions, but no one class can comprehend the country; no one set of interests can safely be suffered to dominate it.

"Democracy as a principle of government may be said to have become the accepted doctrine of the world. Wherever nations awaken and begin to struggle toward the light they now instinctively and as of course rely for release from intolerable conditions upon the principle of the rule of the people.

"Perhaps we can best express our present political object by saying that it is to free government and business from private control. Our government has for a great many years been privately controlled. It is not necessary to impeach the motives or to doubt the integrity and patriotism of those who have controlled it. It is only necessary to acknowledge the fact that government has been controlled in the interest of business.

Blames Tariff for Condition.

"It is our tariff system which chiefly expresses the ascendency that business has had in politics in this country. Everybody knows how and by what means special groups of manufacturers have struggled to obtain special favors from the government. Everybody knows upon what ex parte statements, made by business men themselves or by members of congress who acted as their spokesmen, tariff schedules have been framed.

"And while this was going on the control of business itself has been more and more narrowed until it has come about that the same men who have stood at the ear of our legislators have more and more successfully dominated the general development of business throughout the country.

Must Withdraw Special Favors.

"Having stated the facts, we should ask ourselves what we are to do.

"In the first place, in order to free the government we must withdraw special favors. And, by withdrawing special favors, we shall break up special alliances between powerful business interests and the government of the states and of the country. We shall not cease to take thought for business prosperity, but we shall cease to look to those who ask for special favors as spokesmen for that prosperity.

"And in order to set business also free, along with the government, we must set ourselves to check monopoly. The processes of monopoly are being disclosed, point after point, method after method, detail after detail. Stripping them of disguise and hiding place and subterfuge, we can deal with them as law has always dealt with individuals, and shall again live in a tonic air in which every man must stand naked in the form of the public judgment."

Stamp Out Graft, Says Folk.

"The Democratic party never had a better opportunity for public service than now," said Joseph W. Folk. "This opportunity will be lost if the party merely occupies a position of negation without announcing affirmative and progressive ideas. So the present rising tide of Democracy is not for the Democratic party, no matter how controlled, but in favor of real Democratic principles.

"The party should insist upon the stamping out of graft and corruption from every department of government; a just income tax, in order that the burdens of government may be fairly distributed; the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, and unrelenting opposition to the domination in public affairs of special interests."

Pennsylvania Boss Who Defeats Bryan.

James M. Guffey, who yesterday was seated as Democratic national committeeman from Pennsylvania, over the protests of William J. Bryan, has been Democratic boss of Pennsylvania since 1896, when he defeated W. F. Harrity for national committeeman. One of the exciting incidents of the Democratic national convention at Denver in 1908 was the defeat of Guffey by Bryan, who caused Guffey to lose his seat as a member of the national committee. Another incident of the Denver convention was the publicity given the fact that Guffey, a rich oil magnate, had given Mr. Bryan some stained glass windows for his home at Lincoln. Guffey went into the hands of a receiver eighteen months ago, when he did not have ready money to meet some payments due. His liabilities were given as $6,700,000, and assets as $17,000,000.

CHICAGO 'SHY' IN CONVENTION GAME

Must 'Come Across with Coin' in Order to Get Big Democratic Gathering.

GOOD BID BY BALTIMORE.

St. Louis Has Chance to Win the Prize by Increasing Its Bonus This Morning.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—With St. Louis and Baltimore in the lead and Chicago striving to raise enough money to sit into the game, the Democratic national committee has postponed the selection of a convention city until tomorrow morning.

Unless Chicago "comes across with the coin" the convention will go either to St. Louis or Baltimore, with the chances tonight slightly in favor of the Missouri city. St. Louis is abler to care for the large convention crowds and has a more central geographical location than Baltimore, but the latter is offering the committee $100,000, which is $35,000 more than St Louis has been able to raise up to date.

The Baltimore managers had a certified check for their fund in the committee room today, and displayed it proudly to the Democratic managers. It attracted much favorable attention.

At the same time St. Louis has powerful support, and it was stated tonight that the Missouri managers will meet whatever terms the committee may demand in order to win the prize.

Bryan Favorable to Chicago.

While Chicago's chances still are suffering from the jealousy of the Harrison and Sullivan Democrats, they were improved slightly this afternoon by two developments. One was a partly successful effort to raise a Chicago bonus to be offered to the committee in addition to the payment of the convention expenses, guaranteed by the citizens' committee, headed by Fred W. Upham and John W. Eckhart. The other was a disposition on the part of some influential members of the committee to vote for the city favored by Bryan, the view being that this would give the former peerless leader a consolation prize for the overwhelming defeat he suffered in the decision of the contests by the committee. Bryan is accounted favorable to Chicago, though he has intimated that cash for the campaign fund is also a necessity.

Under the agreement made with the contributors to the Chicago citizens' fund all the surplus over actual expenses will be returned. That would provide no offering to the campaign fund. It transpired this morning, however, that the Chicago hotel interests are trying to raise a "side purse" to be turned over to the committee quietly and unostentatiously. There was a fervid interchange of telegrams between Washington and Chicago, and tonight it was said $25,000 had been raised for the "side purse." If this can be increased to $50,000 before the committee meets tomorrow Chicago will be in a good position to win the convention.

Increase of Chicago Boosters.

The Chicago boosters were reinforced by the arrival of a dozen Democratic leaders, headed by County Treasurer O'Connell and Charles F. Gunther. The Harrison men were busy all day laboring with members of the committee. Congressman Sabath said Chicago would have a majority if Bryan would swing the fourteen votes he controls to Chicago. But Bryan would not commit himself.

The impression that National Committeeman Sullivan is not doing all he can for Chicago is widespread. He is represented as fearing the possibilities of a convention packed by Harrison and Hearst. Mr. Sullivan indignantly denies this story and asseverates that he is doing all he possibly can to round up a majority of the committee for Chicago.

CANADIAN RUNS NEARLY NUDE THROUGH STREETS IN COLD.

Travels Quarter of Mile in Aurora Clad Only in Socks and Cheesecloth and Wins Prize.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—The breezes that whistled through Aurora today were just as cold, raw, and penetrating as the draft which eddied through the streets of Chicago. Therefore it caused some comment when a man, dressed only in a pair of cotton socks and a yard or two of cheesecloth, sprinted three-quarters of a mile through the business section of the city. Raymond Duncan, the ancient Athenian from California, would have appeared like an arctic explorer in comparison.

The man is John Danton, a Canadian. He had been telling Aurora residents how much colder it was in Canada than in Aurora. As a clinching illustration, he took off his clothes and ran through the streets to demonstrate that near zero weather in Illinois is mild and balmy for a Canadian.

The Canadian received a purse of $47 for his feat, as well as the applause of several hundred female employes of cotton mills and shirt waist factories on his journey.

NO STATE RACE FOR ALSCHULER

Report That He Will Not Seek Democratic Nomination for Governor—Not at Jackson Feast.

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—"Samuel Alschuler, who ran for governor of Illinois against Yates, is not going to announce himself as an aspirant for the Democratic nomination this year," said Walter H. Bennett, chairman of the Adams county Democratic central committee. "Otherwise it would have been possible for him to attend the Jackson day banquet, at which he was announced as the principal speaker."

Leading Democrats from all sections of the western part of the state attended the banquet here tonight.

BRYAN LEADER OF PARTY DESTINIES?

Committeemen Willard Saulsbury of Delaware, Frank K. Nebeker of Utah, and Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin were willing to express openly a Wilson preference. The other committeemen declined to tell their favorite at this moment. Some were for Wilson, but did not care to say so for publication. Others were for Harmon, or Clark, or Underwood, and several favored Mayor Gaynor of New York.

"The way things are shaping up," said one committeeman, "establishes, in my judgment, that Bryan not only is working for the nomination but will get it. Any candidate who develops availability at once is placed in the black book of Bryan."

Two Defeats for Bryan.

On the face of things, Bryan lost control today of the Democratic national committee. He was defeated overwhelmingly in two test cases forced by himself, one on Alabama and one in Pennsylvania. In both cases Bryan bolted the cardinal doctrines of his party incorporated into its government by himself in the Democratic national convention of 1908. At that convention a resolution was adopted at Bryan's command by which Democratic state committees were given authority to fill vacancies in the Democratic national committee.

Some months ago John L. Tomlinson, national committeeman for Alabama, died. Acting under the resolution of 1908, the Democratic state committee of Alabama elected James Weatherly of Birmingham to fill the vacancy. Today Bryan opposed the seating of Weatherly, and was beaten by a vote of 34 to 13.

The Pennsylvania contest, in which Bryan opposed the recognition of Col. James N. Guffey of Pittsburgh as national committeeman for Pennsylvania, was decided in favor of Guffey by a vote of 30 to 18.

Illinois Opposes Bryan Twice.

In the Alabama case, New Jersey, the state of Gov. Wilson, voted against Bryan, while in the Pennsylvania case it voted with him. Ohio followed the same procedure. Illinois and Indiana, represented by Roger Sullivan and Thomas Taggart, respectively, opposed Bryan in both instances.

Bryan did not confine his attack upon Guffey to the latter's lack of real Democracy and his corporation affiliations, but evidently having larger game in mind made an onslaught on bipartisan combinations. That he had the situation in Illinois in mind was shown by his citation of the Lorimer case in the United States senate as a precedent for action by the national committee in the Guffey case.

"The legislature elected Lorimer," said Bryan, "but the United States senate is now sitting in judgment on his qualifications."

Guffey Fight a Puzzle.

Just why Bryan forced the Guffey fight today, when he knew that it would end in his certain defeat, is not clear. Apparently, he believed it to be necessary to continue his effort to drive out of the official organization of the party a man whom he considers unfit to be connected with it.

He knew last night that the committee would seat Guffey by a large majority, but he preferred the country to know that he had gone down in a good cause rather than to remain silent and acquiesce in action which would constitute Democratic approval of the things for which he claims Guffey stands.

At one time, during his impassioned appeal to the committee to rid itself of "Guffey and Guffeyism," Mr. Bryan went so far as to threaten an "appeal to the people" if the committee should decide against him. The threat had no effect.

"People Will Force Right."

Mr. Bryan said that thrice he had been a candidate for the presidency and that 6,500,000 voters had stood back of him. They were all Democrats, he asserted, and it was to the Democracy that he would make his appeal.

"If this committee does not do the right thing," he declared, "the people will do the right thing."

What Bryan said to the national committee today aroused Guffey to a fighting pitch, but the latter restrained himself until his contestant, Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, took the floor. Palmer made charges which brought forth a vociferous "You are a liar," from Guffey.

Roger Sullivan pulled Guffey back into his seat and joined in the demand that he apologize. Guffey did so.

Besides disposing of the contests, the committee half heartedly commended the proposal for presidential primaries in states where no provision for them is made by law.

Decision Angers Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—The decision of the Democratic national committee in the Tennessee case staggered organized Democracy. Bryan was condemned by prominent Democrats, who say the decision cinches the state for Taft.

STATE EMPLOYES OUT OF POLITICS

Civil Service Commission to Enforce Rigid Rule and Stop Work at Primaries.

OVER 4,000 ARE AFFECTED

Solicitation of Campaign Funds Also Prohibited by Illinois Merit Board.

State employes, almost to a man, have been swept out of active politics by a stringent order of the state civil service commission. The order was adopted Oct. 26, 1911, but the full and sweeping effect was not noted by organization politicians until yesterday, when the first real start was made in planting candidates for precinct committeemen and oiling up the party machinery for the April primaries.

By the terms of the order, which is to be enforced to the limit, according to the statement of William B. Moulton, chairman of the state civil service commission, no person in the state classified service is to be permitted to participate in the coming campaign.

4,000 Employes Affected.

Approximately 4,000 state employes, most of whom were covered by the blanket section of the civil service law, are affected. The most important place, politically, is that of State Game Commissioner John A. Wheeler, former secretary of the Republican state committee.

The order covers all the game and fish wardens, the factory inspectors, employes of the grain inspection department, most of the minor job holders in the state house at Springfield, and all the employes in the seventeen charitable institutions. The working force in the penitentiaries and reformatories, not being under civil service, are the only ones not prohibited from political activity.

Text of the Order.

The text of the rule, which is paragraph 10 of section 3 of article 6, relating to removals from the classified service, is as follows:

"That after the date of the adoption of this rule, he [any civil service officer or employe] has been elected or sought an election as an officer of a political club or organization, or has acted as a worker at the polls or engaged in the distribution of badges, posters, bills, or printed or written matter approving, favoring, or opposing a candidate for election to a political office, federal, state, county, or municipal, or who has been concerned in the collection or distribution of money for a political purpose, or has accepted nomination as the candidate for election to a public office, or has recommended to the governor or other appointing officer himself or another person for appointment to public office without having been requested by the governor or such appointing officer to make a recommendation"—is cause for removal or discharge from the classified service of the state.

The constitutionality of the statute has been attacked in the Supreme court, oral arguments were heard at the December term of court, and an opinion is anticipated at the February term.

A further rule prohibits any contributions or solicitation of contributions among civil service employes for political purposes.

Thirty Open for Second Semester; Registration More than 30,000.

MAJORITY FOREIGN BORN.

Seek to Learn English and Principles of Government; Trade Courses Popular.

Thirty of the public schools of Chicago began their second semester of night school work last night. The estimated enrollment was something over 30,000. Most of the schools reported an increase in the number of students over last semester. In some districts the attendance was decreased on account of the cold weather.

The plan of Mrs. Ella Flagg Young to grant diplomas for night school work is thought to have added to the interest in the night schools. The great number of students, however, outside of the technical schools—Crane, Lane, and Lake—are men and women of foreign birth who are attempting to learn the English language and to get a little knowledge of American government and history.

School Shows Many Nationalities.

The Franklin school, on Goethe street near Wells street, furnishes a fair sample of the kind of people who attend the night schools. At the opening of the first semester four-fifths of the pupils could not speak English except for a few words. Last night the registration showed natives of Sweden, Germany, Persia, Hungary, Poland, Japan, China, Italy, Turkey, Russia, Mexico, Spain, and Assyria.

The three favorite subjects at the Franklin school were English, history, and civil government. Most of the pupils are taking a course in English whether they take anything else or not. Many of them are familiar with several languages.

"We have little trouble with the men and women who know their own language well, or who know several languages," said Principal Etta Gee. "The trouble comes with the absolutely illiterate people. They are sincere in their desire to learn, however."

Two Thousand at Lane.

At the Lane school, a few blocks away, over 2,000 men and women began the second semester. Principal William Bogan said that the registration would go up to 5,000, and that the nightly attendance would never fall below 2,000. There were 500 new students. The biggest classes were in electricity, machine shop, millinery, and drawing. Other favorite courses were wiring and armature winding.

"Most of our students are working at their trades during the day," said Mr. Bogan, "and they come here to perfect themselves to get the theory of their work and to broaden their knowledge of the trade they are working at. We have one class in sheet metal drafting in which every student is a member of the union drawing good wages. The men come here to get the theory of the work."

THREE BRANCH LIBRARIES APPROVED FOR CITY SUBURBS

Some Reading Rooms Also Will Be Changed to Circulating Departments, According to Board's Decision.

Extension of library privileges to the suburbs was voted yesterday by directors of the Chicago Public library.

Three new branch buildings, recommended in a report of Directors Julius Stern and Graham Taylor, were approved. It is proposed to build these as soon as possible. The first is to be near the northeast corner of Humboldt park and North and California avenues, the second near Wilson and Evanston avenues, and the third in South Chicago near Ninety-second street and Commercial avenue.

Three reading rooms, those at Fullerton Park, Hamilton Park, and west park No. 8, will be changed to circulating branches, and new circulating branches are to be selected beyond the present distributing zones. This will give residents of the districts more than six miles from the library north or west and nine miles south of it access to 500 books from which to make their selection, the 500 being changed frequently.

The board also approved a plan of establishing a civics department in the present assembly hall of the library.

WRITES FAREWELL TO GIRL; ENDS HIS LIFE WITH BULLET.

Peter Anderson Says Sweetheart Had Broken His Heart and He Welcomes Death.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Peter Anderson wrote farewell love letters to his sweetheart, Miss Hazel Williams, and shot himself through the head in a room at the Schlitz hotel. His body was found last night, fully dressed, lying on the floor. On the back of one of the girl's photographs he asked that her picture be buried with his body.

The farewell missives read:

"'Forgive me, my dearest Hazel, as I can't stand it any longer. I know God will forgive me. So good-by, my darling, until I meet you in a better place than this, perhaps. I'll be happy. Good-by, little one, forever. God bless you, honey; he will be with you till we meet again. Yours till death, pet."

"'My darling Hazel, it is so dark and lonely now without you. Honey, even the birds do not sing sweetly any more, since you broke my heart. I can't leave you as I said I would, but only in this one way. I can be happy now, so good-by."

NEW BILL FILED AGAINST FUNK.

Further Particulars of Alienation Charges Placed on Record by Henning's Attorneys.

Another bill of particulars in the $25,000 suit brought by John Henning against Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, on a charge of having alienated his wife's affections, was filed in the Circuit court yesterday. This is the second bill filed in the case. Judge Carnes upheld the contention of Funk's attorneys that the first was insufficient. The new bill names dates and places of alleged offenses.

MIZE MURDER CASE REVIVED

Detectives Question Dr. Webster About Woman's Death in 1905.

HE DENIES ANY CONNECTION.

Rumor Says He Will Plead Guilty to Killing Wife.

Detectives Dillon and Birmingham went to Oregon, Ill., last night to see Dr. Harry E. Webster, indicted for the murder of his wife, and question him regarding the murder in 1905 of Mrs. F. E. Mize. For more than an hour they questioned him in his cell. They refused to discuss their interview with him when they left his cell at midnight.

The prisoner earlier in the day was questioned by Sheriff Delaney, and said he remembered the case, but denied that he had any connection with it.

Mrs. Mize was killed on Aug. 22, 1905, near the Del Prado hotel by a supposed holdup man. Investigation by the police is based on information furnished by Mrs. Letitia Moulton, 1508 East Fifty-fifth street. At the time of the Mize murder she conducted a rooming house at 6313 Madison avenue. Dr. Webster then lived there. She told the police that Webster always carried a revolver and that shortly after Mrs. Mize was killed he disposed of a gray suit and gray cap. She said she once found several women's watches in his room.

Companion Described Slayer.

Mrs. F. A. Wilson, who was with Mrs. Mize when she was shot, testifying at the inquest, described the murderer as a man 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighing about 140 pounds. Dr. Webster is a much larger man. She stated to the coroner that the man wore a gray coat, that he had big, square shoulders, and a very slim waist. She could not describe his hat.

There was a confusion of description at the inquest. Two servants who saw the shooting said the man wore a gray suit and a black crush hat and that he was small. Another woman swore that the murderer was a negro. It was the general impression at the time that a negro did the killing.

Believe Webster Will Get Life.

It is the general belief in Oregon that an agreement has been reached between State's Attorney Emerson and John E. Erwin, counsel for Webster, whereby the accused physician will plead guilty when his case is called on Jan. 22. In return he will receive life imprisonment, it is said. It is believed the state's attorney has been influenced by the heavy cost to Ogle county of the trial.

DOWN WITH PAQUIN AND WORTH! HERE TO PLAN AMERICAN STYLE

National Congress of Modistes and Tailors Meets in Chicago to Produce Designs Outrivaling Paris.

A ban the French dressmakers! Down with Paquin and Worth! American styles for American women! These are the war cries of the national styles congress, which began a three days' session at the Congress hotel yesterday. They were sounded by 150 modistes and tailors representing the larger cities of the country.

The convention is under the auspices of the Chicago Women's Tailors association and the Ladies' Tailors' and Dressmakers' Association of America. Its purpose is to devise styles and modes for women's dress that shall be strictly American in design, cut, and texture, and to inaugurate a campaign throughout the country to this end.

"We have been preaching American styles for a long while," said S. Reichman, president of the Chicago Women's association, who presided at the evening meeting, "and now we are right up to the starting of the plan. We will show styles for the spring, summer, and fall of 1912. There are to be radical changes in styles and I believe that something will be done to the hobble skirt. Whatever we do decide upon will be adopted by every woman's tailor of consequence in the United States. We are out to make American styles for American women."

The convention will close on Saturday. A banquet will be held in the gold room of the Congress hotel tomorrow evening.

CHICAGO BIRDS AND BUGS EXHIBITED IN PARK TONIGHT.

Academy of Science to Show Big Collection as Part of Review of the Year's Work in Schools.

Entering into the fifty-sixth year of its existence, the Chicago Academy of Sciences will hold its annual meeting at Matthew Laflin Memorial building in Lincoln park this evening.

The annual meeting of the trustees this year will be marked by a unique exhibit representative of the educational work the institution has carried on in the public schools. One hundred loan collections, embracing rare specimens of plant, animal, and mineral life of the Chicago region, were distributed during the year free of charge upon the request of teachers.

It is estimated that approximately 20,000 children became members of nature study classes. A child "delegate" or "reporter" system was introduced, so that every schoolroom might be represented at the academy classes.

Lectures, scouting expeditions, and elementary forms of research were carried on under the direction of Frank C. Baker, curator of the academy. The "reporters" carried the result of their experiments back to their classes, and thus, it is estimated, 145,250 children shared in the work.

At the suggestion of La Verne W. Noyes, president of the trustees, special loan exhibits are being prepared for use in social settlements, public schools, small parks and centers, and branch libraries.

CITY CLUB HOST IN ITS NEW HOME

Holds First of Six Consecutive Housewarming Dinners to Be Given.

SPEAKERS TABOO LUXURY

Simplicity Keynote of Organization's Conduct, President and Judge Mack Say.

The City club took possession of its new home, 315 Plymouth court, last night. The new building was dedicated with the first of a series of six dinners and receptions. The housewarming parties will continue every night this week, with programs representative of the club's varied activities.

Speakers last night declared the club organized for civic betterment would not become a club of luxury.

"This club will not be a club of flunkies," said Henry B. Favill, president of the club. "Every man here will wait upon himself to the fullest extent that is practical. We are going to conduct this club as simply as possible. We have no right to offer to the young men things beyond what they pay for, or to cultivate extravagant habits."

No Aristocracy, Says Mack.

Judge Julian W. Mack voiced the same sentiment when he said: "There is no aristocracy of wealth in this club. There is no aristocracy of great business success here. There is no aristocracy of university learning. We have in our membership men of all classes and nationalities and of all social rank with one common bond—devotion to civic activity and improvement."

Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the interior, former president of the club, was to have been the principal speaker, but he and Frank H. Scott, another former president, were unable to be present.

Short talks were made by Towner K. Webster, Victor Elting, Irving K. Pond, Norton D. Hull, Alfred L. Baker, and Frederick F. Morehouse, president of the Milwaukee City club.

Keys Formally Turned Over.

The keys to the new building were turned over to Edward Yeomans, chairman of the house committee, by Spencer L. Adams, secretary of the club, who spoke for Frederick H. De Knatel, chairman of the building committee.

Tonight will be government night. A dinner will be given to public officials. Gov. Charles S. Deneen, Gov. Francis E. McGovern of Wisconsin, Ald. John Richert and Theodore K. Long, Corporation Counsel Sexton, and J. Paul Goode will speak.

An exhibit arranged by the civic committees of the club, comprises charts, pictures, maps, and other matter illustrating the club's activities.

A presidential primary for members of the club is being planned. A voting machine of the type recently purchased for Chicago will be used. This primary is planned to teach the members to use the machine.

TRIAL OF PETITION BEARERS LACKS CHARGES OF 'PLOTTING'

Candidates' "Watchers," Ousted from City Hall, Present Only Routine Testimony—Ex-Officials Appear Today.

Routine testimony, without any of the expected charges of political "plotting," was all that was heard yesterday in the "Tom Hunter" election board case in the Municipal court. John C. Swickard and Walter H. Schmidt, petition bearers for Chief Bailiff Hunter, and Charles Frank, candidate for the city bench, were arraigned before Judge Charles E. Jennings of Salem, Ill., in the morning, but the impaneling of a jury was continued until midafternoon.

City Architect Kallal, custodian of the city hall, Chief of Police McWeeny, Chief Clerk Stuart of the election board, and Patrolman James Murphy, who made the arrests, were the only witnesses called. Their testimony disclosed only that Commissioner McGann asked Chief McWeeny to have the hallway cleared of petition carriers after a conference had been held with Mayor Harrison.

The more interesting witnesses were told to return this morning.

PRIEST DEFENDS THE POLICE

UP TO THE ADMINISTRATION.

Insists Officials Obey Orders of Men Higher in Power.

Police should not be held to blame for vice conditions in the south side, according to the Rev. Father P. J. O'Callaghan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, Wabash avenue and Eldredge place. The priest maintains that the members of the force follow orders of the city administration and that blame for conditions should go higher than the men who walk beat or even command the police divisions.

This view of vice conditions was indicated by the churchman yesterday when he was called to the witness stand in the opening of the defense of Inspector John Wheeler, Capt. P. J. Harding, Lieut. John B. Enright, Lieut. Daniel Kelleher, and Lieut. George Prim, all on trial for alleged inefficiency and neglect of duty.

Father O'Callaghan admitted there was too much vice in the neighborhood of his church, and added that he believed that it all could be eliminated, but insisted the responsibility was higher than the police commanders.

Praises Work of Wheeler.

The priest, who is also head of the Citizens' league and director of the Juvenile Protective association, praised Inspector Wheeler, and said he believed the official had obeyed every order he received.

"You believe the inspector has done all in his power to clean up that district?" Attorney George Miller asked.

"Yes, I do," the minister said. "I have always found him courteous, gentlemanly, and efficient as an officer."

On cross examination by Attorney W. W. Wheelock the priest said he was under the impression there still was a good deal of street walking and semi-public gambling allowed.

"Do you think Inspector Wheeler could eliminate those things?" he was asked.

"He couldn't unless he received orders from and had the backing and support of the city administration," was the reply. "Things couldn't be any better unless his superiors wanted it done."

Attorney P. H. O'Donnell, for the defense, here interposed:

"You feel it is impossible for any officer to better conditions unless he has the support of the administration, the public, and the courts?"

"I think it is cowardly to attack the servants when the masters are at fault," the witness replied.

Up to Administration.

"And by the master you don't mean Wheeler?"

"I mean the courts, the superior authority in the city, and back of them the public, whose pulse is known by the mayor and the other city officials. I think the police officials try to carry out what is in the minds of the administration, and I'm satisfied Inspector Wheeler has done the best he could under the circumstances. I think the police are quite efficient and competent to clean out any part of the city as effectually as the old Custom House place was cleaned out as soon as genuine orders are issued."

On further cross examination the priest said there was a vicious saloon, the Paris, opposite his church, which is frequented by disorderly women and that a similar place is in existence a block south. Repeated complaints, he said, had not brought about their removal. He asserted he had complained to the city authorities, including Inspector Wheeler. He said he had never called the attention of Mayor Harrison to the places.

Others Testify for Accused.

Michael Bruder, saloonkeeper at 9 Hubbard place; F. L. Meckel, a wagon manufacturer; M. T. Hanrahan, wagon superintendent for the American Express company; M. M. Rust, in charge of the Western Union Telegraph company supply house; Joseph Kantor, harness man, and Willis Tulford, investigator for the Citizens' league, all testified vice conditions had improved in the south side since Inspector Wheeler took command of the division.

It is probable a request that he be committed to an asylum will be made on Tuesday.

Stevens-Duryea

History

Stevens-Duryea history dates from 1891, when J Frank Duryea brought out the first successful American automobile—a span of 21 years.

The greatest advance ever made in motor-car manufacture the world over, is the flexible support of the Stevens-Duryea engine which neutralizes the wearing and power-wasting effect of the twists and strains caused by uneven roads.

The first marketable "Six" of America was made and sold by the Stevens-Duryea Company.

1912 Catalogue tells more about this—with reasons.

ATTEMPT AT PEACE FAILS

Negotiations in Deadlock; Armistice Has Not Been Renewed; Expect Fighting.

PEKING, Jan. 8.—Two important developments today intensified the interest in the situation in China. These were a renewal of hostilities and the demand of the Russian government that China recognize the independence of outer Mongolia.

Revolutionaries from Shan-Si and Shen-Si, having recaptured the town of Shen-Chow, are advancing on Ho-Nan. Reinforcements have been dispatched to the imperialists. The armistice has not been renewed. There is a deadlock in the peace negotiations. Early fighting may be expected.

In addition to requesting China to recognize the kutuktu of Urga as monarch of outer Mongolia, the Russian government has notified China that the independence of outer Mongolia must be recognized.

Report a Missionary Slain.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 8.—Word has reached here that the Rev. R. I. Felgate of the China Inland mission at Mokanshan, province of Chekiang, has been murdered by robbers.

The official list of missionaries attached to the China Inland mission does not contain the name of the Rev. R. I. Felgate. A. Langman and wife, according to the list, are stationed at Mokanshan.

Vote for New Coin System.

NANKING, China, Jan. 8.—The republican assembly, in session here, voted today the introduction of a gold standard modeled on that of Japan. It also approved a bond issue of approximately $70,000,000, secured on the internal revenue for five years, with interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum.

KRUPPS TO EXHIBIT FORTRESS AT THE SAN FRANCISCO FAIR.

German Manufacturers to Demonstrate Miniature Coast Defense at Pan-American Exposition in 1915.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—The Krupp firm will exhibit at the Pan-America Canal exposition at San Francisco in 1915 a miniature coast defense works. The exhibit will be erected at Golden Gate about the time of the opening of the canal.

The Krupps intend to make a great display of their various inventions and machines, especially their war machines. They also expect to supply the material for the projected huge tower at San Francisco, which is to be a few feet higher than the Eiffel tower.

The Zeppelin Airship company also will be represented at the exposition with various air craft and apparatus.

SHUSTER'S SUCCESSOR QUITS.

Former Treasurer-General of Persia to Leave Teheran for the U. S. on Thursday.

TEHERAN, Jan. 8.—One of the four Persian commissioners appointed with M. Mornard, ex-director of customs, to take over the duties of W. Morgan Shuster, the former treasurer-general of Persia resigned today, while the others made a formal call on Mr. Shuster. The regent's decree appointing M. Mornard head of the commission indicates that the appointment is only temporary. Mr. Shuster will leave here Thursday. He is returning to the United States by way of Russia.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

LONDON.—A statue of Andrew Carnegie is to be erected in Dunfermline in recognition of the ironmaster's benefactions to his natal city. The decision was reached at a meeting of the town council.

PARIS.—The complete returns of the triennial election of 100 senators show a net gain of eight seats for the Republicans and two for the Republican-Socialists while the Reactionaries lost two seats, the Progressists four, and the Socialist-Radicals four.

LISBON.—The peasants in the district of Azambuja, on the river Tagus, are greatly agitated over the decision of the government that the vast area of land and woods in the vicinity belongs to the state. A body of peasants yesterday armed themselves and attacked the soldiers. Four of the peasants were killed and twenty wounded.

FIGHT ON SINGER'S WILL BEGINS IN NEW YORK CITY.

Decedent's Second Wife and Two Children of Chicago Attempt to Break Testament.

New York, Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Surrogate Cohalan took testimony today in the contest of the will of John A. Singer, son of Isaac Singer, the sewing machine manufacturer, brought by the decedent's second wife, Mrs. Adelaide Small Singer, and two children, of Chicago. Singer was married three times. His third wife is dead. His first wife is not contesting.

Singer died on Sept. 24 last and the bulk of his property consisted of 1,000 shares of Singer stock. He left 250 shares to his housekeeper, Mrs. Charlotte Jane Donnelly, and the same amount to William P. and Jasper S. Archer, nephews, and Charles Spansler, a cousin, of Philadelphia.

Counsel offered in evidence an agreement alleged to have been made by the contesting children in 1884 by which they relinquished their interest in any property their father might have for a consideration of $100,000.

Dr. Edward L. Corbett was called to testify for the executors. Dr. Corbett said that throughout the writing of the will Mr. Singer talked freely, although slowly and with a thickness of speech. He was "absolutely sound of mind," the witness said.

David S. Thatcher, caretaker of the Singer house, testified that Singer did not speak a word during the writing of the will or the execution of the document. Thatcher also testified that he didn't believe Singer was in his right mind when he made the will.

MISS BROOKS TRAPS GAMBLER WHO GETS A HUSBAND'S SALARY

Has Dictagraph and Stenographer in Adjoining Room to Catch Incriminating Statements.

"I know he lost money, because I was playing with him. It wasn't $35; it was $26.50. I don't keep the only place."

These words, spoken by B. Quiston, a part owner of a West Hammond dive, were recorded yesterday by a stenographer and the dictagraph. This evidence will be used to prosecute Quiston, who has violated the dram shop laws of Illinois by allowing gambling in his saloon.

Miss Virginia Brooks, the West Hammond Joan of Arc, planned the scheme which got the incriminating evidence.

Several days before Christmas W. B. Parker lost his salary of $35 while gambling in the saloon owned by Quiston & Flannigan. The loss caused his family to suffer in want over the holiday. Mrs. Parker told Miss Brooks how her husband lost his salary.

As Miss Brooks had been gathering evidence on the dives in West Hammond, she was delighted to aid Mrs. Parker. She got Quiston to come over to the Parker residence to make a settlement.

Then, while the dive keeper was arguing about a settlement, the dictagraph, a stenographer, and Miss Brooks sat in an adjoining room, taking down everything Quiston said.

According to the state law, the dive keeper will be compelled to pay Mrs. Parker three times the amount lost by her husband.

WRIGHT NOT IN CHICAGO, SAYS ARCHITECT'S LAWYER.

Reported Presence in City Is Denied—Statement May Come from Wife When Affairs Are Settled.

Sherman M. Booth, attorney for both Frank Lloyd Wright and his wife, denied that the architect had come to Chicago yesterday for the first time since his second "spiritual hegira" with Mamah Borthwick. Attorney Booth said reports of Wright's presence in town were premature.

"I have heard reports of Mr. Wright's presence in Chicago," said Mr. Booth, "but I have not been informed of any such visit and I am positive he was not in town today. I am expecting him to come when his affairs permit, but that probably will not be until the latter part of the week.

"When Mr. and Mrs. Wright have settled their affairs to their own satisfaction then they will issue a statement, but not at present."

THAT THE NEAL PERMANENTLY CURES DRINK HABIT IN THREE DAYS

Can be proven by reference to thousands of cured patients and to hundreds of leading prominent men who have investigated in all parts of the country where fifty-seven Neal Institutes are established, from the Government Neal Institute in Australia to London, England. As a sample of the proofs and references the following is submitted:

When Senator Bruce became interested in the Neal Three-Day Cure for Alcoholism he showed his confidence in its merits by publishing an invitation in his home papers, to his friends and neighbors of a lifetime, to bring as many of the worst cases of Alcoholism as they desired to the Atlantic Public Hospital, where they would be treated personally by Dr. Neal, free of charge, upon the condition that such patients would permit professional and business men and all others interested to witness the treatment and results.

As a result of this invitation four extremely bad cases were given the Neal Treatment for THREE DAYS ONLY by Doctor Neal, when they were discharged as cured. One of the patients was taken out of the county jail where he was then serving his fourteenth jail sentence for drunkenness.

That all of these men were "down and outs," that they were cured in three days, and that they have all been good citizens for TWO YEARS, and that the same is true of several other cases cured in the same town can be verified by those in good faith interested who may see fit to inquire of Hon. S. W. W. Straight, mayor of the city at the time of the treatments, or Hon. J. A. McWaid, president of the Atlantic National Bank, or any other professional or business man in the city of Atlantic, Iowa.

The secret of the great success of the Neal Treatment is due to the fact that Doctor Neal has demonstrated that Alcoholism or the Drink Habit is caused and continued by an irresistible "craving" for liquor and that the craving is caused by the accumulated and stored-up poison of alcohol in the system. The Neal Treatment quickly antidotes, neutralizes and eliminates this poison, with the result that within three days' time the "craving" for liquor is turned into a disgust and abhorrence of the red stuff.

It is the universal testimony of Neal cured patients that the Neal is so easy to take and so quick and effective in its results that they are permanently cured in less time than it takes to sober up by any other method. Try it and if not entirely satisfied at the end of the third day's treatment no charge will be made.

Poverty Curse of Wedlock.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 8.—Poverty is the chief cause of the present divorce evil, according to W. W. Wright, divorce proctor, who spoke before the Socialist Education society here today. He added:

"The fact the average workingman is seldom free from debt causes more marital unhappiness than any other influence.

"The peace and quiet necessary to the home disappears with the home's financial security. There are comparatively few divorces among the rich in this section."

Plays for the Masses.

"The ideal of the Chicago Theater society is to produce good plays for the masses at such reduced prices that all may see them," declared Mrs. Harold McCormick in a paper read before the Drama League of America at the Grand opera house yesterday afternoon.

"Learning by the failure of the New theater in New York, we have contracted with experienced managers to look after the business end of our project and we have not put any money into a building.

"Our present effort has been devoted to selecting ten of the best plays to be found in the world and in getting together the drama players. We want to entertain and amuse. Tired people can be educated only by being entertained.

"One of our objects is to encourage American playwrights, and out of ten plays to be given in our first season three are by American authors.

"With a stock company increasing in size as our repertory grows, we shall produce plays for the masses at the lowest prices possible. Some day we hope to see in Chicago a worthy temple of dramatic art."

Louis F. Anspacher of New York addressed the meeting on the subject of "The Repertory Theater" and denounced the managers who encourage the "star" system.

"What we need in Chicago is a theater audience which will exhibit intelligence," said Wallace Rice yesterday in an address before the Ravenswood club on the topic, "Dramatic Condition in America." Mr. Rice spoke in place of Hamlin Garland, who was unable to attend the meeting on account of illness.

"It is essential to the improvement of the art of acting that the artists have audiences to which the theatergoing is not an event but a matter of course, such as going to church. We need an esthetic audience which will keep in touch with all the arts. Many good plays never have been staged because of the lack of such an audience.

"We hope in time to develop a native drama, taking the best of what Europe has and adding to it the best contained in America. When that development arrives we will have the stage furnishing us with a standarad of English pronunciation which may be taken into the home as a model."

Illinois members of the Society of the War of 1812 met last night at the Hamilton club for the annual election. In addition to the officers, seven directors were elected to serve one year. The society will be unusually active this year because of the fact that it is the hundredth anniversary of the beginning of the war and a large number of entertainments will be held.

Officers elected were: President, Col. Nathan W. MacChesney; vice presidents, Porter Adams, E. Sidney Rogers, and John Williamson Lowe; treasurer, Charles Cromwell; secretary, James Edgar Brown; registrar, Jared W. Young; chaplain, Ernest Manrose; historian, Dr. Charles D. Camp; trustees, Carter H. Harrison, James Slocum, William Henry Babcock, Frederick K. Lawrence, Charles P. Bryan, Henry Cadle, and Brig. Gen. C. C. C. Carr.

Mr. William Rothenstein, the English artist whose works are now on exhibition at the Art institute, will lecture at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Fullerton hall, on "The Place of Art in Modern Life."

Local Jewish League Quits Parent Body.

The Chicago section of the Council of Jewish Women, a religious and philanthropic society, severed all connections with the national body yesterday afternoon at a meeting in Sinai temple, Twenty-second street and Indiana avenue, on a vote of the members. Dissatisfaction between the local and the national organization regarding the conduct of affairs of the society brought about the rupture.

The national body, it was charged at the meeting, had drifted away from the religious principle, which was the strongest feature of the organization. The Chicago section has lived up to the democratic platform upon which the organization was founded, while the national body, it was charged, had lost sight of the religious and educational features of the society and has been devoting most of its efforts in different directions.

These differences resulted in the calling of the meeting yesterday and after a short session the proposition of continuing the work independently was put to a rising vote and carried by a large majority. Most of the 1,300 members of the Chicago section were present.

"The national body has forsaken some of the democratic principles upon which it was organized and has fallen into a state of autocracy," said Mrs. Israel Cowen, president of the Chicago section. "It has lost sight of the religious and educational work and is devoting most of its efforts to philanthropy.

"We intend to continue our work independently, living up to the rules of the organization. The society was organized in Chicago eighteen years ago and has a membership of 13,000."

The action of the Chicago section followed the withdrawal of sections at Boston, Washington, and Baltimore.

Society at the Nation's Capital.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—The charity ball to which all Washington annually devotes one night and at which the president of the United States and the ladies of the White House are invariably to be counted upon as guests took place tonight. In the absence of Mrs. Sewell and Mrs. McGuire, daughter and niece of the late Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, the hosts for the evening were Mrs. C. C. Health Official Defends Vaccination.

"For the Supreme court to say that we can't vaccinate until threatened by smallpox is just as foolish as to say we can't make our buildings fireproof until they are on fire," said Dr. Heman Spalding, chief of the contagious diseases division of the health department last night.

In the first of twenty-five lectures on health topics to be given at the Mary Thompson hospital, Adams and Paulina streets, he told how to prevent spreading of diphtheria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, smallpox, and measles.

"A child who is dying of scarlet fever is not as dangerous to the community as one with only a slight attack," he said.

Dr. Josephine Young, formerly a medical inspector in the city health department, spoke of serious attacks of pneumonia due to mild cases of less feared diseases which weakened the system. The next lecture will be given Monday evening, Jan. 22, when speakers will discuss the effects of alcohol.

Preacher Holds Up Trust as Example.

The Standard Oil, the steel trust, and other big combinations of capital were held as examples of efficiency yesterday before the Methodist preachers' meeting by the Rev. F. D. Sheets, pastor of the South Park Methodist Episcopal church. He urged the consolidation of the three church papers now published in Cincinnati, Kansas City, and Chicago into one paper to be published in Chicago. The papers are the Western Christian Advocate, the Central Christian Advocate, and the Northwestern Christian Advocate.

The Rev. D. B. Brummit, circulating manager of the papers, opposed the idea of consolidation. "If it were not for the money argument there would be no mention of consolidation," said the Rev. S. J. Herben, editor of the Epworth Herald. "One of the dangers of the church is the 'yellow peril.' We are not publishing papers to make money, but to build up the church."

Inside information on the Methodist Book concern was given by the Rev. Charles M. Stuart, editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate, who charged the publishers made a profit on white paper and composition, which they turned into the church funds for the superannuates as dividends while it was charged up as loss to the Advocate.

Bishop Dedicates Kent Hall.

Kent hall, a $50,000 structure connected with the Methodist Old People's home, at 1415 Foster avenue, was dedicated yesterday afternoon by Bishop W. F. McDowell, assisted by other ministers.

The building is the gift of Mrs. Thomas Kent, 1533 Hinman avenue, Evanston, who erected it as a memorial to her husband. Mrs. Kent presented the keys of the institution in a brief address.

Bishop McDowell was assisted by the Rev. W. O. Shepard, president of the board; the Rev. N. J. Harkness, pastor of the Normal Park Methodist church, a nephew of Mrs. Kent, and the Rev. J. Hastie Odgers, pastor of the Epworth church. The Methodist preachers' quartet sang.

At the annual meeting of the ladies' auxiliary Mrs. A. H. Clement was elected president for a third term. She reported that the auxiliary had raised $2,546 during the year, an increase of $1,100 over the previous year.

Calls Bible Antidote for "Hustle."

"To counteract the hustle and bustle of our every day life at least fifteen minutes should be spent each morning in Bible study, meditation and prayer by every Christian Endeavorer," said Claude A. Barber, superintendent of the quiet hour department of the Chicago Christian Endeavor union, at a meeting of representatives from twenty-five west side churches last night in the Third Presbyterian church, Ashland boulevard and Ogden avenue. O. D. King, president of the west division of Christian Endeavor societies, presided.

Churches throughout Chicago began last night a series of meetings to continue all week in conjunction with churches all over the world that are observing the week of prayer.

Meetings are being held in Willard hall each noon this week.

Woman Decorator Praises Profession.

The child and home department of the Evanston Woman's club met yesterday at the First Presbyterian church and listened to a talk by Mrs. Lorraine Windsor, an interior decorator.

"The profession of an interior decorator," said Mrs. Lindsor, "is a beautiful one for a woman, and its great need today is for educated women. There are many in the profession whose education has not been general enough, but confined too much to art alone."

E. A. Bredin of the choir of the First Presbyterian church sang. Mrs. Rufus Dawes, chairman of the department, presided.

Offers Abdominal Support.

"Mary A. P." wants an abdominal support. I myself have been under a very serious operation and was compelled to wear a support. I have tried several kinds of belts, but have found none as satisfactory as the ones I made myself. I shall be only too glad to be of any assistance in telling her how to make the belts or if the same size as myself letting her have one which I bought. You may send her my address or hers to me and I shall be pleased to help her.

"MRS. F. G. P."

As no stamp is inclosed in your letter I address "Mary A. P." through the Corner. Should she desire to get the directions for making the belt from you it will be a pleasure to bring you together.

Has Old Revenue Stamps.

"Will you kindly advise me as to the value of some old internal revenue stamps? I have them of different denominations, 2 cents, 5 cents, 10 cents, 25 cents, 50 cents, $1, and $2. They were all cancelled in the '60s. I have some old coins dating back as far as 1821, a 1 cent piece dated 1858, which bears the flying eagle. Any information as to the value of them will be appreciated. E. G. T."

I suspect that there are too many revenue stamps still in the possession of private individuals for them to be valuable. Fifty years hence they will be curios. Just now they are middle aged, the uninteresting age in furniture, china, and—human beings.

Still I refer your queries with regard to stamps and coins.

Who Knows This Poem?

"Can you tell what is the poem or who the author of the following lines:

"'All lost things are in the angels' keeping;
No past is dead for us, but only sleeping.
The years of heaven will all earth's little pain make good.

"They came to me on a sick bed after the death of a beloved boy fourteen years ago and I have not as yet been able to locate them or be grateful to the one—God sent—who gave such comfort to me. MRS. W. B. P."

The beautiful lines are vaguely familiar to me, but I am sorry to say I cannot place them. Our readers will look them up and let you identify the author to whom you owe the comfort.

Hopes to Go to Arizona.

"H. C. P."

We do not ask for salaried positions. An invalid traveling in quest of health may wish to arrange this with you.

Desires Book for Study.

To Renew Blackboard.

"Could you kindly tell me how to renew a child's blackboard when the black has worn off? I see so many asking questions of this kind in the Corner that I am tempted to take my chance in it. No doubt some of your readers have wanted to know the same thing. MRS. W. P. S."

Is there any way of renewing a blackboard except by repainting it? And cannot you touch the spots upon this with the black paint which is sold for the purpose without going over the entire surface?

Referred! Don't be afraid to ask questions of the Corner. If they do not come within our province we shall tell you this frankly.

Would Read "In the Valley."

"Can you give me the address of any dealer in very old books? I am desirous of getting an old novel called 'In the Valley,' by Harold Frederic. It went out of print, no doubt, several hundred years ago. It has to do with some of my 'way back' forbears. If not too much trouble will you kindly ask if any of your many readers know of such a book?

"Can you tell me of any way to make elderberry wine into a cordial? The wine is good, but we do not like it in the state it now is. I thought perhaps I could make it into some sort of cordial that might be good to use as medicine. B. K."

1. The book cannot have been out of print for many years since Harold Frederic was a writer of the nineteenth century. I read the book less than twenty years ago. Have you inquired for it at the libraries?

Should a reader respond by an offer of the work it will be made known to you.

To make the wine into liquor add to each quart a cupful of white sugar and half a pint of the very best brandy you can get. Old French brandy is the best.

How to Make Mint Jelly.

"Will you kindly give me a recipe for mint jelly; I mean the green clear kinds? I have tried crème de menthe, but it does not color enough. Also can you give me any information about Besleek china and whether Copeland china is still made in England or whether plates in that ware are valuable now? MRS. F. H. C."

To make mint jelly have a foundation of clear apple jelly rather thicker than if it were not to be modified by other liquid. Flavor with the essence of mint sold by druggists. It colors as well as flavors. Of course if you get the green mint grind it fine, saving all the juice, and then press every drop of it through a cheese cloth bag you have the "real thing." But you will need a large quantity of the herb and the process is more tedious and troublesome than that I indicate.

2. The original Beeleek china was, if I mistake not, made in Ireland. I know that a fine quality of it is imported from that country. A fair imitation is made in Trenton, N. J. Some consider it better than the imported. Royal Copeland ware is always admired and never out of fashion.

To Break Bad Habit.

"We have a little girl 3 years old that has been sucking her thumb since she was a baby. We have tried many ways to break her of this habit, but have always failed. Her lips are becoming curled up and her face disfigured. Do you know of anything that we could do to break her of this habit? B. F. C."

When you wash her hands and while the thumb is damp rub into it cunningly a little powdered salicin. It will not hurt her, but she is less likely to put the bitter thumb into her mouth after a few experiences of this sort. Should this fail bandage the hand as if it were sore, binding the thumb to the fingers and sewing on the bandage so securely that she cannot get it off. Renew it daily and keep it on at night as well as by day.

Spare no pains to break her of the disagreeable habit. It will disfigure the hand and the face in time.

Woman and Her Interests.

A Husband's Fear.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1912: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

THE man who insists upon keeping the family pocketbook in his own possession after he becomes a husband should do a good deal of figuring ere he finally concludes to marry. It's all very well in his days of courtship to take care of money, not to buy her expensive presents, nor to indulge her in carriage rides. She doesn't expect more. But she does expect that he will buy her everything she needs after marriage.

The man who thinks more of a heap of gold pieces locked up in his trunk than he does of a sweet and congenial wife to sit opposite him at the table should have taken out a license long since, for he is already wedded to a habit of stinginess. I am thankful to say that such men are the exception, and not the rule.

A real miser never marries unless goaded to it by the culmination of peculiar circumstances, probably. For instance, it may be that the old couple, with whom he has boarded a score of years, is obliged to charge him a dollar a week owing to the higher cost of food. He wouldn't stand for that. He'd marry first, and have a place of his own.

Such a man is always looking for a bargain, even in a wife to keep house for him. One evening when he came in to dinner he was surprised to see a lady sitting opposite him. He recognized her name when they were introduced. He saw with dismay that her features were comely, that she was pretty, even though her hair was combed straight back. She wore black and—an excuse for a collar. When the bread was passed to her she was amazed at the thickness of the slices. "What! use butter upon it, at 40 cents a pound?" she exclaimed. "That is extravagance." As for tea or coffee, not for her! She always drank hot water, she added. She chose the smallest potato; a thin sliver of bacon sufficed her. She did not believe in sauces. Cake was a luxury only for millionaires, she declared. As the stingy bachelor listened he concluded that she was a rara avis among womenfolk. He saw her home, proposed marriage at her door. "Dear me!" exclaimed the widow, "you're the fourth man who wants to marry me! I am considering which one to take! You see, every man wants a prudent, practical wife." He urged an immediate marriage, to head off the others. They were wed within the hour. To his dismay he found that three previous husbands divorced her for extravagance. Misers are often caught in their own traps.

Do Not Kiss Him.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a girl of 18 and I keep company with a man of 30, who is affectionate in his nature. Would it be proper to kiss him good night? I wear my skirts to my shoe tops, but he thinks I should dress older. "PERPLEXED."

No, do not kiss him unless you are engaged to him. You should wear your skirts to your ankles.

* *

Yes, Henrietta.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I was out visiting, met a well educated fellow. When I wanted to leave he offered me a kiss. I refused. Was that proper? HENRIETTA."

Certainly, Henrietta. The fellow acted exceedingly rude, indeed.

What Do You Think?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I read with great interest your numerous answers to your correspondents. It greatly pains me to learn you advise any one to marry on a salary of $11 a week. Can you keep up appearance and exist on $11 a week for yourself, let alone two persons? I am a young man, I don't smoke or drink, I earn away over $100 a month, yet it is as much as I can do to keep up a respectable appearance and live in moderate surroundings. With the present high cost of living to advise any one to marry on a salary of $11 a week will eventually give them a rude awakening that will bring them face to face with the fact that life world is still going on. Don't you really think so? "JOHN E. S."

I should like to hear from my readers in regard to this letter.

Public Show of Affection.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a commercial traveler and am permitted to spend one Sunday out of three at home. I don't know why a man whose hair is touched with the hand of time should read your dope, but I do and enjoy it. I notice you frequently taboo the display of affection in public. Is that only for the young, or do you really mean it? It is a rare occurrence for me to get home and not be greeted with a kiss from my wife and daughter, aged 43 and 19 respectively. I am always taken to the depot by them and simply would not leave without my 'dood-by tiss,' as the girl has called it since she was a child. Do we do wrong?

"O. D. B."

Certainly not! What I had reference to in the article you write about was the attitude of engaged couples in public.

Economical Housekeeping

Out of the Frying Pan.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

THE frying pan has received something more of obloquy than it has deserved. The pan proper is really a useful utensil. It is the wrong use that has been made of the pan that has been responsible for ruined digestions, loss of beauty, swarthy complexions, and blighted lives and living. It has been the intolerable mixtures put into it that have been responsible for indigestion and physical atrophy.

All food cooked in swimming lard, dripping, or bacon fat not of the hottest, and often not of the cleanest, is coated with grease, and, if it is in fine particles, the whole is a sodden mass of grease inclosed globules.

There are no digestive juices for the emulsifying fat until a point beyond the stomach is reached. So the food thus inclosed is not liberated to the action of the digestive fluids until then, so that it may give up what little nutriment it has to the blood.

Even heavy pieces of meat, fish, and larger pieces of vegetable, when cooked in fat at a temperature below the point where it would crisp them over, is penetrated in every part by it, so that the whole is but a soggy mass horribly unsettling to the digestion.

It is no wonder that men and women who live on such food as this are lank, gaunt, sallow, and flabby. They almost starve to death, while their alimentary tract has to labor with a burden that only the best nourished person could carry tolerably well.

There are three kinds of frying—griddle frying and frying in deep fat, and something that as managed is half way between these and altogether bad. But this half-way-between ought not to be any more than griddle frying. For this we use a spider, skillet, frying pan, sauce pan—call it what you will, according to your locality—because a deeper utensil than the griddle is needed for bulky and wet materials, a utensil with sides. These usually need to be stirred as they cook, as they could not be on the griddle.

A variety of this sort of frying is that done in a chafing dish, and this may be as dainty cooking as any done in the world.

It is not necessary to fill a frying pan half full of fat for its work, or, in fact, to do any more than grease the bottom. Scrambled eggs are an illustration of something that are wet and need stirring, so could not be cooked on the griddle, but it would be a very poor cook indeed who could make a fat, sodden dish of scrambled eggs.

No more is it necessary to make a sodden dish out of anything fried in this way. There are quite delicious vegetable combinations, made of either raw or cooked materials, which, if cooked in swimming fat, would entirely lose their quality. The egg plant may be fried in a pan or on a griddle and be quite as good as when fried in deep fat. Even the cucumber may be subjected to this treatment and come out a dainty and agreeable food.

The Creoles could hardly begin to cook if they could not use the frying pan. Both the Italians and the Spanish are past masters with it when they are good cooks at all. The utensil is, however, undoubtedly the bane of the lower classes in those countries. Andalusian cooks are renowned for their egg dishes, and some of these have become very famous, although the exact recipe for such a Gypsy egg is known to but one or two famous cooks.

This dish is a mixture of potatoes, boiled white asparagus, boiled green peas, onions, a little garlic, ham, or bacon, and tomatoes fried in oil. The eggs are broken into this mixture after it has cooked and allowed to set lightly. The dish is served very hot.

These wonderful mixtures from the frying pan are to some of the southern peoples what the stew is to the French and the inhabitants of the British isles. Some of these fried dishes, with the elimination of some of the stronger and more riotous ingredients are most agreeable.

In some parts of Spain, fish is said to be fried better than in any other part of the world. Wherever the Spanish have gone they have introduced the frying pan. Philippine cooking is Spanish cooking, and Creole cooking is often a mixture of French and Spanish ways.

In our country, fried chicken is among the most famous of elegant dishes, and fried liver, elegant or not according to surroundings, but very common.

Fried Chicken (Spanish style)—Clean and cut up the chicken. Dredge each piece thickly with salt, pepper, and flour. Put one-half of cup of lard into the frying pan, and, when very hot, put in the chicken and fry slowly until it is done. Watch it carefully to prevent it from burning. When done, arrange the pieces on a hot dish. Pour out of the frying pan all the fat but about one tablespoon; to this remainder add a tablespoon of flour, mix thoroughly, and add a cup of milk. Stir; season with salt and pepper, and pour over the chicken, or serve in a bowl, if it is to be eaten on the rice, which is served with the chicken.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

Be an All Round Woman.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1912: By Lillian Russell.]

IT has been wisely said that to contribute perfection of reason, as well as to the preservation of the health, the brain should be exercised and developed in every direction.

However, scientists would have us think that the genius is the one whose brain is developed only in one direction. Conceding that as true, history reveals the fact that while the few men and women of genius have pushed this old world round faster they have not been happy themselves or made others happy.

The beautiful woman of today is the "all round" woman. She does not think that all that is necessary to bring about the millennium of the race is that woman should have the elective franchise, although she believes in votes for women. She is not of the opinion that women should be the devoted slaves of husband and children, although she knows that woman's first duty is to her husband. She does not think only of grooming herself and adorning her person with the latest fashions, although she is always well dressed and makes every one of her "beauty points" count. She is not censorious of the conduct of either her friends or her enemies, but she is particularly careful of her own.

She does not consider it beneath her to be civil and kind to every one with whom she comes in contact, but she is not cast down if some foolish person passes her by without the recognition she feels she deserves.

She is neither afraid to laugh nor to cry, as she knows that the lines of laughter may be washed away by the tears of human sympathy.

Her mind is open to all the new theories of the day, but she does not put one of them into practice before she has thoroughly digested it in her own mind and found it good.

She does not confine herself to one fad, and is not discouraged if she finds she has been foolish.

Remember: Genius is seldom beautiful and usually hard to live with.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

V. P.: I am truly sorry for you; there is really nothing you can do for your hair except to let it grow out its natural color. You might go to an experienced hair specialist and have it dyed the color of the roots, but this, too, is a rather particular job and I would not have it done unless one was careful about it.

A CONSTANT READER: I have no beauty book. You can make one, however, by saving all these articles in THE TRIBUNE and pasting them in a scrapbook; a number of my friends tell me they are doing this. I do not know any way that you can put a dimple in your face if God has not given you one. You can only rectify the shape of your nose by a surgical operation.

F. M.: I do not know anything about the first recipe you send me, but I think there would be nothing in it that would do you any harm. The second one also I am sure would be helpful.

L. F.: I would not under any consideration have my ears pierced. However, you might try and persuade your grandmother to let you have little clasps put on them. Tell her that is the only way they can be worn nowadays, as no one pierces her ears.

L. T.: You see you must read my sermons every day or else you will miss something that might be helpful to you. I have published the chiblain recipe. If you would rub your hands and feet with warm spirits of rosemary to which a little turpentine has been added and afterward bind them up in cotton wet with camphor I think you would find that they would be much improved. If you have extreme inflammation, however, and the parts threaten to crack, use an ointment made of powdered galls one ounce, and raisin ointment three ounces.

D. C. B.: I think the olive oil and lemon juice will not make you any fleshier, as from your letter it would seem that your torpid liver is one of the things that increase your flesh. I am sending the other things you mention by mail.

E. M. W.: It is impossible for me to recommend anything of the kind. If you use plenty of oil in the callouses of your feet and have your feet massaged with oil daily I think you will find that it will help them much.

M. L. B.: The finger tips for making the fingers more slender I have seen in Paris, but never in this country. Try massaging them carefully. You can make your fingers look narrower and more slender by allowing the nails to grow rather long and cutting them slightly pointed.

SOCIETY WOMEN TALK SUFFRAGE

House of Mrs. H. C. Chatfield-Taylor Scene of Equal Rights Gathering.

PRAISE FOR LA FOLLETTE

Recall Should Be Used on Peter Bartzen, Says One of the Speakers.

Man-made government in Chicago bowed to the women's suffrage movement yesterday when a crossing patrolman was assigned, unrequested, for the afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. H. Chatfield-Taylor, 631 Rush street.

A society political meeting was held in the third floor ballroom. There were as many motor equipages in the street as one would see at the opera. About 450 of the "first women" of Chicago accepted the engraved invitations to the meeting and paid $1 admission at the door.

A Milwaukee woman's praise of La Follette, a rap for Peter Bartzen, and a general sketch of the need of equal suffrage in Illinois and specific advantages in Cook county were voiced by six women and two men. Miss Jane Addams was chairman.

Women Voters Independent.

The speakers were Mrs. Stanley McCormick, Mrs. Crystal Eastman Benedict of Milwaukee, Mrs. Alice Duer Miller, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Prof. George H. Mead of the University of Chicago, and William Dudley Foulke of Richmond, Ind. Miss Harriet Monroe read a poem.

Mrs. McCormick was applauded when she declared the results of suffrage in California have proved that women do want to vote and that it is the women of the "so-called better class" that have voted in the larger majorities.

"The woman vote has shown itself to be absolutely independent, too," Mrs. McCormick declared. "Therefore the woman vote is the latent power for good in the country that we hold it to be. Many persons will admit the theoretical arguments for woman suffrage, but at the same time they hesitate before such an innovation, urging that they cannot believe it is expedient.

Women Becoming Educated Class.

"What is the basis of the belief that woman suffrage is expedient? It is because it brings to the service of the state the point of view and ability of its women members. The state today loses the advantage of this service from nearly one half of its members."

Mrs. McCormick asserted there are more than six million women in industry in America. In reference to mental ability, women are fast becoming the educated class in America, she said.

It was Mrs. Crystal Eastman Benedict of Milwaukee, leader of the woman suffrage campaign in Wisconsin, who gave tribute to La Follette.

La Follette Gets Praise.

Mrs. Benedict admitted strong, automatic support from the Socialist party and gave thanks to La Follette, described as "that constructive statesman, leader of the liberals," for the easy passage of the suffrage submission bill by the Wisconsin legislature.

"There had been no brilliant campaign for the bill, and the state wasn't especially enlightened," Mrs. Benedict said. "I believe, really, that ten average bootblacks count more with our aldermen than all the women in the ward.

"In New York I found that suffrage was much more fashionable than in Wisconsin. I said that to my co-workers. I must say that in neither New York nor Wisconsin have I ever seen so fashionable an audience as is before me."

She told of her efforts in Wisconsin to obtain better meat inspection and a law limiting the working hours of women.

Pokes Fun at Kipling.

Mrs. Alice Duer Miller enumerated different objections that have been raised against suffrage, each of which had an opposite. She made fun of Rudyard Kipling for his antagonistic poem, "The female of the species is more deadly than the male."

It was Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen who attacked Peter Bartzen. Mrs. Bowen said if women had a vote in Cook county, it wouldn't be long before they would have the recall in effect and would remove such "a stupid executive" as now has "disorganized the county."

She said there were dependent on Bartzen "the children and the helpless sick, the defenseless poor, the aged, and the insane of Cook county."

Proposes New Laws.

Stronger laws against wife abandonment, more vigorous punishment for attack upon women, the raising of the age of consent in girls to 18 years, and other changes in the statute books will come with suffrage in Illinois, according to Mrs. Bowen.

Among the listeners were:

Mrs. Watson Blair,	Mrs. George Higginson,
Mrs. William J. Chalmers,	Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank,
	Mrs. Robert McGann,
Mrs. Charles S. Frobel,	Mrs. Henry Blair,
Mrs. Prescott Hunt,	Mrs. Walter Kirk,
Mrs. C. H. McCormick,	Mrs. William Odell,
Mrs. Donald Ryerson,	Mrs. Frederick Bartlett,
Mrs. Charles G. King,	Mrs. John M. Clark,
Mrs. Charles Hamill,	Mrs. Richard Harding Davis.
Mrs. Robert Hamill,

Another Meeting Planned.

The society-political meeting was the outgrowth of an informal, small gathering at the home of Mrs. Tiffany Blake recently. The committee having charge was composed of Miss Jane Addams, Mrs. Cyrus McCormick, Mrs. C. H. Chatfield-Taylor, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. Frederick Bartlett, and Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis, chairman. There will be another meeting soon, probably in a Lake Shore drive residence.

Asks $100,000 Damages.

Allan B. Palmer, a druggist, is complainant in a suit for damages of $100,000 filed yesterday in the Superior court against the Mitchell Automobile company and Attorneys George D. Wellington and B. B. Baker. Palmer says he was wrongfully arrested on a writ of attachment in the Municipal court.

Quickly Removes Hairs Without Slightest Pain

Persons having unsuccessfully tried to remove downy growths from the skin will be interested in a powder called delatone. Enough is mixed with water to form a paste and spread on the hairy surface. After two or three minutes it is removed and the skin washed.

The ease and quickness with which this method removes every trace of hair or fuzz is most pleasing, and though druggists charge a dollar an ounce for delatone, it is worth many times its cost because of the absence of pain when using it and the satisfactory results always following. Care should be exercised, however, to see that you get the genuine delatone and not an imitation.—Advt.

URGES HOME FOR EPILEPTICS

Judge Pinckney Condemns State for Ignoring These Dependents

NO PLACE TO SEND CHILD.

Finally Woman Agrees to Care for It; Boy Peddlers Face Trial.

The state of Illinois was condemned yesterday by Judge Merritt W. Pinckney of the Juvenile court for its failure to provide a home for epileptic children.

"It is as much the business of the state to care for its epileptics as it is its duty to provide for any other class of dependents," he asserted from the bench. "In New York they have a colony where both children and adults are taken care of. Here we have no place for these unfortunates; but every year I have over 100 cases of epileptic children brought before me. The Juvenile court under present conditions is helpless."

Unable to Care for Child Ward.

Elenora Erickson, 11 years old, was brought before him when Mrs. Mary Eckland, herself an epileptic, found she could no longer care for the child.

Three years ago the girl and two brothers were deserted by their father, Abel Erickson. Neighbors found them in a basement. The boys were sent to a charitable home, but no place could be found for Elenora until Mrs. Eckland, in sympathy, agreed to shelter her. The woman agreed to continue caring for the child if she receives $5 a week from the county for her board.

Children Peddlers Arraigned.

Judge Pinckney also began hearing the cases of children charged with selling gum, pencils, shoestrings, and other articles on the street at night during the holidays.

In the case of Samuel Weiss, 13 years old, the son of Harry Weiss, 619 Liberty street, he instructed probation officers to cause the arrest of the father the next time the boy is found on the downtown streets at night.

FRANK GOULD CALLS FALSE STORY OF FAMILY DIVISION.

Formal Statement Issued in New York Contradicts the Report of a Break with Brother.

New York, Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Frank J. Gould handed out a formal statement this afternoon denying a report to the effect that he was having trouble with his brother, George J. Gould. This was the statement:

"There is no truth in the report that there is any controversy between my brother and myself, or any member of my family and myself, on any subject whatever; and I know of no foundation for any such statement.

"As far as the International and Great Northern is concerned, I became chairman of the board of directors of this company at the request of my brother, George J. Gould, and the property is controlled by the estate."

Campanini to Direct Last Sunday Concert.

BY GLENN DILLARD GUNN.

Mr. Dippel announced last night that Mr. Campanini had been prevailed upon to conduct at least one Sunday concert before the present season of the Chicago opera closes. This concert is scheduled for next Sunday and for it the general musical director has prepared a brilliant program. The first half is to be devoted to excerpts from the music-dramas of Richard Wagner. It will open with the prelude to "Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg." Mrs. Jane Osborn-Hannah will sing the aria, "Dich theure Halle," from "Tannhäuser," and then prelude and "Liebestod" from "Tristan and Isolde," the latter to be sung by Mrs. Saltzman-Stevens, will conclude this portion of the program.

After the intermission there will be miscellaneous selections. The overture to Verdi's "La Forza del Destino," having once before been announced, is this time definitely scheduled for performance. Mme. Carolina White will sing the aria "Vesta la Giubba" from "Pagliacci" and the "Spring Song" from "Natoma." Mr. Kramer will play the "Meditation" from "Thaïs." Mr. Sammarco will sing the "Cavatina" from "The Barber of Seville," and Mme. White and Mr. Bassi the duet from the third act of "Aïda." The orchestra will offer, in addition, "Anitra's Dance" from the "Peer Gynt" suite of Grieg, the "Barcarolle" from "The Tales of Hoffmann," and a Hungarian rhapsodie of Liszt.

About the only thing which has not shown the effects of the weather seems to be the attendance at the opera. For last night's performance of "Die Walküre" the main floor of the Auditorium was practically sold out and the well filled upper portions of the house testified to the hold which this music-drama of Richard Wagner has retained upon the affection of the music loving public.

There were no changes in the cast and Dr. Szendrei was sufficiently recovered to assume his place in the conductor's stand. The performance moved brilliantly, save for Mr. Dalmores' impersonation of the rôle of Siegmund, which lacked something of the abundant spirit which characterized it on the occasion of the opera's first presentation. It is probable that the gifted French tenor was not entirely recovered from his recent indisposition, for he delivered the "Spring Song" in a manner that was far removed from his accustomed regard for lyric values, and the sword scene was somewhat explosively done.

Mrs. Osborn-Hannah, as Sieglinde, repeated her admirable vocal and histrionically authoritative reading and Mme. Gerville-Reache showed a gain in poise and conviction in her presentation of Frika's great scene. Both she and Mr. Dalmores are to be complimented upon their control of German diction and enunciation, which is nothing less than remarkable when one considers that they do not understand the language.

Mr. Whitehill's Wotan and Mrs. Saltzman-Steven's Brünnhilde remained the most convincing factors of the performance, for both these artists add to their splendid vocal and dramatic gifts the advantages of routine in German opera. The latter have not been great in Mrs. Saltzman-Steven's case, but such is her insight into the mysteries of Wagnerian art that she seems to require less training than her associates.

Mr. Scott, as Hunding, was in particularly good voice and made the small part of vital significance. One must, however, advise him to correct his pronunciation of the difficult German "ch," which still gives him trouble. The performance began promptly upon the hour announced, and evident effort was made to shorten the intermissions.

"The Tales of Hoffmann" will be repeated tonight, with Mr. Warnery as the poet, Mme. Dufau as the doll, Mme. White as Guilietta, and Mme. Zeppilli as Antonia.

FIND OPERA PAYS: MORE NEXT YEAR

Directors of Chicago Company Assure Another Ten Weeks' Season.

NET GAIN NOW $69,000.

Patronage Shows City an Opera Loving Community Second Only to New York.

Ten weeks of grand opera for the season of 1912-1913 are assured to Chicago. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chicago Grand Opera company held yesterday afternoon at the Union League club this decision was indorsed by unanimous vote. The season will begin Nov. 1, 1912, and continue until Feb. 1, 1913, the performances again to be given in the Auditorium theater.

The financial results of the present season are highly satisfactory. In gross receipts the company is about $125,000 ahead of the returns at the same time last season. In actual net gain this represents an advantage of $69,000 over the results of the first year of opera. At the present moment the opera is therefore not only paying all expenses, but the stockholders are able to credit themselves with a small profit earned on the rentals of the Auditorium theater during the forty-two weeks when it is not in use by the opera company.

Opera Season Forestalls Deficit.

The $69,000 gain of the present season, therefore, really represents the difference between a deficit and a balance between receipts and expenditures.

The expenses of the company are estimated on a basis of $50,000 a week for the entire season of twenty weeks. Philadelphia has pledged a guarantee for the ten weeks that the company plays in that city. The large subscription for the present season in Chicago made other form of guaranteed support unnecessary, and the generous patronage of the public, in addition to the pledged support of the season ticket holders, has marked this city as an opera loving community second only to New York, in the estimation of the management.

Mr. Dippel is preparing a statement as to repertory and the engagement of artists for next season. Thus far no contracts have been signed, but it is understood that the personnel of the company is to be greatly increased, particularly in the German contingent, and the repertory next year is to be more evenly divided between French, Italian, and German opera than has been possible in the first two seasons.

Afternoon Performances Popular.

Averages of attendance and a complete financial statement are also in preparation, but it is possible to state that the subscriptions for Monday, Thursday, and Saturday afternoons have been the largest for the present season.

In estimating the expenses of the initial season the directors counted in the outlay of $80,000 spent in acquiring their present lease, in redecorating and remodeling the Auditorium theater, in retouching scenery and properties, and in other real assets. They also apportioned two-thirds of the large sum paid to Oscar Hammerstein for the scenery, costumes, and rights of performance controlled by the Manhattan opera. It is evident, therefore, that in the mere matter of running expense the Chicago opera has more than paid for itself.

DEATH LEADS TO AN INQUIRY.

Police Unable to Explain How Charles Piper, Found Unconscious, Sustained Fractured Skull.

Charles Piper, 1429 West Van Buren street, who was found with a fractured skull in a vacant lot in West North avenue, near North Paulina street, Sunday night, died in St. Elizabeth's hospital yesterday.

Piper died without regaining consciousness. How he received his injury is a mystery. He was well dressed, and his pocket book and watch were missing.

Physicians said Piper had been drinking. The police think he may have fallen and struck his head on the pavement or curb, but they are also investigating on the theory of robbery.

HOW TO GET IT.

It is useless to complain because the Illinois legislature did not accept the proposals which, if included as provisions in the state primary law, would have enabled the voters to express their preference on presidential candidates. This privilege is given to a number of states, but the Illinois legislature never extends the suffrage in any way unless to grant that extension be the only safe way off a hot fire.

There was no hot fire when the provision for a presidential vote was being considered in the legislature, and consequently this rational use of the primaries was not made possible by the assembly.

The time to build a fire is when the next assembly meets. Then Illinois may have this extension of suffrage in 1916.

A BARTZEN VERDICT.

The condemnation of Juvenile Probation Officer Witter on the unsatisfactory case against him, and in spite of Judge Pinckney's elucidation of Witter's legal responsibilities and powers, is a challenge direct to the friends of the merit system and the enemies of the spoils system. It is Bartzenism and yellow misgovernment triumphant, but the fight is only begun. What Bartzenism means to this county is being shown day by day, and the reckoning will come.

Commissioner Greer and his Republican colleague, Fichter, who showed in the Dr. Clara Dunn case a flash of conscience, have proved by their judgment in the Witter case one of two things, that they are unfit by reason of want of ability or by reason of political pressure. Commissioner Dunn says that Greer was made president of the commission in order to "get Witter." If Greer is guilty of such a deal he has forfeited the respect of decent men and women in this community.

WHY NOT?

A woman under surveillance on suspicion of murder has received an offer from a man who wishes to exculpate her by pretending to confess the crime. All he wishes is money and a little time to get away.

The man is assumed to be demented. But why? The only weakness he shows is his demand for time to run away. That was foolish. His real escape is into the jungle of legal technicality. There is safety, if anywhere.

For example, our own Supreme court has just given a new trial to a man charged with a brutal murder because his two lawyers were "overmatched" by four attorneys for the prosecution. The evidence discloses no really damaging error committed—merely two or three minor points which cannot make a change in the result at the next trial.

Already a year and a half have gone by since the murder took place, but the case must go back to the trial court, and then, doubtless, return to the Supreme court.

This is the dueling system of legal justice disclosed in all its beauty.

In a letter from a prisoner in the county jail recently published in THE TRIBUNE, the writer declared that most criminals are consciously engaged in a gamble with the law, and they consider that the odds are greatly in their favor.

Are they not? And if they are, is there any occasion for surprise that the United States occupies its evil eminence in crime?

WILSON TO JOLINE.

Gov. Wilson may as well put his back to the wall. The elimination fight in the Democratic party centers on him, for reasons which are obvious. He must have known that the Carnegie pension story was only brick number one—a poorly made brick and badly thrown. Now "My Dear Mr. Joline" throws another. The Democratic campaign has all the delicacy and scrupulousness of a battle royal of New Orleans roustabouts.

Mr. Joline endeavors to explain his innocence as the instrument of publicity in the matter. Why do that? He peddled an old letter about, and knew that it was the thing wanted by the anti-Wilson men in their effort to bring the New Jersey man's house down about his ears. Mr. Adrian H. Joline can be understood. He need not explain. Unfortunately for Mr. Wilson, that is what he must do.

In 1907 Mr. Bryan was engaged in a contest against the Bourbon element in his party. He was fighting then, as he is now, for the democratic part of the Democratic party. Anything "dignified and effective" which then knocked "Mr. Bryan once and for all into a cocked hat" necessarily worked to the advantage of the identical men who now oppose Gov. Wilson.

When Wilson wrote his note to Joline, April 29, 1907, he enlisted himself against the cause which he now supports. The time was critical. There was little over a year to determine whether Bryan controlled the national convention or whether it went into the hands of Murphy, Guffey, Sullivan, etc., to do what they liked with it. Bryan might compromise with them, and did, except in the case of Guffey, whom he threw from the national committee; but if they had won there would have been no compromise at all. The Bourbons would have scurried for the fleshpots.

Mr. Wilson must explain the circumstance of his about face. If his pious wish that Mr. Bryan could be reduced to a cocked hat had been merely a personal protest against a perennial candidate there would be nothing for him to square now. Many good Democrats have raised their voices to express that hope. But Bryan then stood for what Wilson says he stands for now, and the issue between the two wings of the party was as plain as day.

The Joline letter probably will accomplish part of the purpose for which it was released for publication. Mr. Bryan will hardly be able to resist the promptings of his "ego," unless he decides to accept the Wilson conversion as genuine, and his ego was not soothed by the decision of the national committee to throw out the contest against Guffey as the committeeman from Pennsylvania.

GIVE US MONETARY REFORM.

The report of the monetary commission is not easy reading for the general public, and the names signed to it do not add to the confidence with which the average man will make his troubled way through its verbiage—Nelson W. Aldrich, chairman and protagonist; Julius C. Burrows, Eugene Hale, Hernando D. Money, James P. Taliaferro, Boies Penrose! These are not names to make the plain citizen turn comfortably on his couch and seek the slumber of security. Senator La Follette was not wrong when he intimated that any plan which came from such counsel would best be "examined with a microscope."

Well, so be it! But at the same time let the glass in the microscope be clean and pure.

The reserve association plan, in its general outline, is unquestionably admirable, and the main reform is sorely needed. For generations we have waited for relief from our outrageous monetary system, but always there has been some reason for delay. Political or business conditions or the inability of bankers and business men to agree have put reform off again and again.

Now we have a plan which has won remarkable support from bankers and business men. On the other hand, its source is suspected. But what we want at this time is definite criticism, not generalities. On the generalities we are virtually all agreed.

The chief fear seems to be that the complicated system of representation and control devised by the commission is not all that it seems to be, that somehow it will develop into a mechanism for the further centralization of financial power.

The fear is legitimate, and it is to be noted that the business men's organization formed to support the reserve association plan does not insist upon this special scheme of representation, but, while approving it prima facie, invites criticism and amendment.

What is most desirable is that the proposed system be thoroughly scrutinized with alertness, honesty, public spirit, and foresight, but without distorting prejudice. And when this process is openly and freely carried out, then let us have the perfected result enacted into law at this session in spite of politics and partisanship. Congress is divided as to parties and a great election impends. Yet is it not possible for the men we have chosen to represent us at Washington to forget the game of party or personal advantage respecting this great problem of economic statesmanship and in a spirit of patriotism make an end of the heavy burden of our archaic monetary system which has cost us so many terrible disasters?

The country, save for politics, is ripe for this reform. Finance and business are ready for the change. If we delay longer we may not have another such favorable period for years. Unforeseen dangers or complications may arise.

Now is the appointed time. If there is statesmanship in control in congress this will be done.

EVERYBODY who has a dollar or two to spare has a splendid opportunity to be a Good Fellow right now. See list of places where contributions for poor families will be received.

WELL, if you like snow any better, there it is.

IT has been a little warmer since New Mexico came into the union.

JUST the same, Woodrow Wilson is not the only prominent Democrat who believes in knocking Mr. Bryan into a cocked hat.

ALSO, it is one of the favorite diversions of the people of this country to knock Mr. Bryan into a cocked hat whenever they have a chance.

PNEUMONIA AND BABIES.

CHILDREN less than 2 years of age are responsible for a large part of the pneumonia death rate. The Chicago Tuberculosis institute has a chart which shows that young children have a higher pneumonia mortality than people at any other age period. While the pneumonia death rate is highest among old people, as there are so many more children than old people, there are more pneumonia deaths among the children than among the aged.

In 1909 the number of Chicago children under 2 years of age who died from pneumonia was 1,773; the number of grown people over 45 years of age was 1,701. The high rate among babies is due to several causes. Under "Pneumonia in Babies" there are grouped all of the infections of the lungs. Some so-called pneumonias are in reality other diseases—for instance, consumption.

Measles and whooping cough kill more babies than do scarlet fever and diphtheria. Much of the pneumonia rate is due to colds and other infections of the lungs during measles and whooping cough.

While living unborn the baby's heart is working; so are most of his organs. The lungs are not. The moment of birth comes—the baby breathes. The air entering his lungs is a foreign substance, dryer than anything he ever has known, cooler than anything that he ever has been accustomed to, bearing germs whose effects are new. Can we wonder that his lungs frequently are infected?

In a few hours his stomach begins, in a sense, to parallel the experience which the lungs had at birth. The digestion is his second zone of weakness.

Pneumonia, for these several reasons, is of great importance in babies. It must be guarded against. The baby should be born into a room which is warm, moist, and clean.

Within a few days the nursery temperature should be lowered to 70, and then rapidly to 68 during the day and 65 at night. After three months the night temperature may go down to 55. From then on the baby must have more and more out of doors exposure. Thereby the pneumonia susceptibility is decreased.

Babies are not carriers of colds. It follows that they must be kept away from people who have colds; from crowds, street cars, and other babies. In a word, pneumonia is so dangerous to children under 2 years of age that they should herd to themselves.

IMPORT OF DYSPEPSIA.

L. S. E. writes: "You say that most forms of dyspepsia are curable if the patient goes at it the right way. Will you kindly state what the right way may be? I think my trouble is too much acid in the stomach, and the trouble is going all through the digestive canal. I notice you advise against taking soda. But what is one to do who is much distressed by gas from imperfectly digested food? This person in trouble has cut out first one article of food and then another without finding out what is causing the mischief. In your opinion do all diseases arise from digestive trouble?"

REPLY.

At least half of dyspepsia is a manifestation of nervousness. At least one-quarter is an expression of trouble elsewhere in the abdomen. The stomach "talks" for the abdomen, and dyspepsia may be gall stones, chronic appendicitis, or some other abdominal trouble trying to flag attention.

Soda does no good in any kind of dyspepsia. If the case is the stomach "talking" for some other organ, soda may not do much harm; if the chemistry is disordered, soda does harm.

The right way is to find out if there is organic trouble. If so, go at the cause. If there is no such trouble, overcome constipation by diet, decrease the food, chew better, and get your mind in order.

You may need wise medical counsel to accomplish this. In any event, you will need thoroughness, persistence, patience, and nervous poise.

KEEP YOUR HANDS CLEAN.

On Dec. 29 a lady wrote asking that an article be written calling attention to the necessity of washing the hands after visiting the toilet room. Recently, she had traveled from Boston on the same car with a Chicago school teacher. This teacher was ill and had to go to the retiring room frequently. The writer noticed that she did not wash her hands. Therefore, when the teacher offered some fruit to the writer's child, the child was not allowed to accept it. The day this letter was received, the following article was received from Karl de Schweinitz, secretary of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. It covers the suggested points so well that we publish it:

Keep your hands clean. Wash them often. The dirt that you can see on them is bad enough, but the dirt that you can't see is still worse. You might work all day in the garden with your hands covered with soil, but this would not necessarily be harmful. The carpenter, bricklayer, or plasterer dirties his hands while at work without being in any great danger.

Suppose, however, you have been near a typhoid fever patient or that you have been in the neighborhood of sewer water, or anywhere else that germs are sure to be. Your hands may not appear to be soiled, but they are dangerously dirty. Many persons continue to be carriers of typhoid long after they have recovered from the disease. Scientists say if a dozen people dip their hands into a basin of water it will, upon examination, be found to be full of colon bacilli.

Think how many different things your hands touch in a day, and how often they are lifted to your eyes, nose, and mouth. Think how much of the food you eat passes through your hands. Is it not, therefore, most important that you keep them clean? Wash your hands often and especially before meals.

PLAN TO INCREASE HUMIDITY.

P. W. A. F. writes: "Your articles concerning humidity in dwelling houses have received my careful attention and I fully realize with what difficulty the person who desires to humidify his rooms which are heated by hot water radiator is confronted. I have devised a plan which I believe will greatly aid the conditions in the average dwelling.

"This is the placing of a rather deep yet long, narrow pan between each radiator and the wall and filling this pan with water.

"A large evaporating surface is then secured by suspending a sheet of some absorbent material, such as loosely woven table padding, so that one end is immersed in this tank and the other end extends nearly to the top of the radiator and throughout its length. I will be glad to have your opinion of this plan, for I intend to put it into operation."

REPLY.

Depends on the surface and how hot the water gets. If it evaporates one to two gallons of water a day, it will give excellent results for an ordinary sized living room or office with one or two occupants. The simplest test is to measure the amount of water evaporated.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1912: By the Brentwood Company.]

COUNT PAUL KEGLEVICH, who arrived in New York two or three days ago as a steerage passenger on board a German liner, with a thousand crowns in his pocket, a monocle in his eye, and wearing white spats, greatly mystifying the immigration authorities at Ellis island, is the son of the late Count Adalbert Keglevich von Buzin and of his wife, who was Countess Helen Batthyany—that is to say, daughter of a family which has played a great rôle in Hungarian history.

There are two branches of this ancient house of Keglevich. The Hungarian line received its title of count as far back as in 1687. Count Paul belongs to the Hungarian line, and was born at Pesth in 1887. He is unmarried. The Croatian line received its title of count in 1708 and will become extinct on the death of old Count Oskar, who is one of the great territorial magnates of Croatia and occupies a seat in the Hungarian house of lords.

His name came in for a good deal of unenviable notoriety some time ago in connection with his stepson, Geza Keglevich-Mattachich. The latter is a son of the Countess Keglevich by her first marriage with a man of the name of Mattachich. Count Oskar adopted him, and so gave him the right to bear the name of Keglevich-Mattachich, though not the title of count, which he could not transmit to him.

This Geza Keglevitch-Mattachich, captain of an Austrian cavalry regiment, was the cause of the downfall of Princess Louise of Belgium, eldest daughter of King Leopold, and wife of Prince Philip of Coburg. She was banished by Emperor Francis Joseph from the court of Vienna for her flagrant intimacy with him. Then she eloped with him to Nice, and there they became involved in dishonest financial transactions and charges of forging the name of the ex-Crown Princess Stephanie of Austria to notes, which resulted in the princess being lodged in an insane asylum for a number of years, while her companion was condemned by a military tribunal to a term of penal servitude.

After the man had served a portion of his time he was released and then set to work to help the princess to escape. It has been owing to her refusal to part company with him after that had been accomplished and her insistence on keeping him in her entourage that has led her to be completely ostracised by the reigning houses of Europe and to be deprived of all the financial advantages and the honors which she would otherwise enjoy at the hands of the reigning house of Belgium and of other courts.

Miss Sarita Ward, grandchild of that C. Sanford of New York who amassed a fortune in building Argentine railroads, and daughter of Herbert Ward, has followed the example of her younger sister in marrying an Englishman. For she has become the wife of Colville Adrian Barclay, secretary of the British legation at Bucharest, and younger brother of Sir David Barclay, twelfth baronet of his line, whose marriage, contracted twenty years ago, has remained childless.

So that Colville Barclay, who is 42 years of age, stands a fair chance of succeeding to the baronetcy, which was created by Charles II. as a reward for the assistance which the Baillie Barclay of Edinburgh had furnished to the government in fitting out privateers for service against the Dutch. The Barclays, however, trace their descent much further back—namely: to David Barclay of Pierston, Ayrshire, who flourished in the reign of King Robert Bruce, and received a charter for lands from that monarch.

The bride's father, Herbert Ward, is now best known as a particularly successful sculptor, and, thanks to his American wife's great wealth, lives a life of much luxury in Paris. Few people, however, recall that he was formerly one of those soldiers of fortune who accompanied the late Sir Henry M. Stanley in his Emin Pasha relief expedition, in which he commanded the rear guard. Unless I am much mistaken he is today the only survivor of that memorable expedition, and in the deplorable disputes which followed it, it may be remembered that he sided against Stanley, bitterly complaining of his treatment by the latter. Herbert is an old Mill-Hillian, who, at the age of 15, left school for New Zealand, and at 17 was in the service of the North Borneo company.

He had been three times around the world before he was 21, and at the time when he joined Stanley's expedition in Africa had been for several years in the service of the Congo Free State and was thoroughly acquainted with the country and also with the various languages. Stanley, in his book entitled "Darkest Africa," imputed all sorts of blame to Herbert Ward, intimating that he had regarded him as a man of great promise, but that the latter had not been fulfilled. The records of the expedition, however, show that Ward merely obeyed the instructions which he had received from his superior officers in the expedition, while the thrilling tale of his descent of the Congo from Stanley falls in thirty-five days, alone, in a canoe, bears full testimony to his resourcefulness and courage.

Incidentally, I may mention that the Ward who is widely known on the continent as "Lord Edmund Ward," or "Lord Edmund Granville," is not really a member of the English peerage and never makes use of the titles which are conceded to him by continental hotelkeepers and others, who imagine that by reason of his great wealth he can be nothing else than a lord.

He is, in fact, the eldest son of Dr. "Ideal" Ward, the disciple of Cardinal Newman, and the intimate friend and associate of the Poet Tennyson, who hailed him in verse as the "most generous of Ultramontanes." He lives almost entirely on the continent, but has great estates in England and owns a considerable portion of the Isle of Wight, where he placed one of his country seats, known as Northwood, at the disposal of the Benedictine convent after its expulsion from Solesmes, in France. Among its inmates are several royal princesses.

Inasmuch as Americans, in spending the spring in Paris and in Rome, are likely to meet a young fellow who bears the name of the Comte d'Ocharatz, it may be well to explain that this is the title which has been adopted by the eldest son of King Peter of Servia, who, in consequence of his alleged ungovernable temper, of his attitude of hostility towards Austria, and towards his father's ministers and advisers, surrendered his position of crown prince to his younger brother, Alexander.

While every kind of offense has been laid at the door of the ex-crown prince, especially by the Servian and Austrian newspapers, it is probable that there has been a good deal of exaggeration and prejudice, the attacks upon his character originating with members of the Austrian press who were aware of his hostility to the dual empire, and with the regicide entourage of the king.

And handed him a dollar.

THE Ottawa (Ont.) Journal points out that almost all the American magazines for December have stories in which the villain, invariably a British peer, slaps a few women in the face, cheats at cards, is a sycophant to some wealthy American, and finally lands in jail.

WE haven't looked the magazines over, but if the facts are as reported the explanation is simple. Some magazine had such a story, and immediately every other magazine editor decided that during the coming year he must have a dozen stories just like it.

"Beautiful City, I Love Thee!"
[Lines written for the Topeka Capital before Mr. Jones received notice of his sidewalk tax.]
Fair are the cities adown by the sea,
Lovely the hamlets mid mountain and pine,
Gem of the Plain, thou art dearer to me—
Matchless Topeka, my homage is thine.
Strange skies may bend o'er the path of my wandering—
So may a fate all unkindly decree—
Still speak my last heart throbs, or dreaming or pondering,
"Beautiful city, I love thee."

Winds of the west breathe my message of love,
Safeguard thy vigil, bright stars of the plain,
Guide through the years, O thou Ruler above,
Save from dishonor and shield from all stain.
City so fair, may a vision supernal
Bring to thee dreams of that City to be,
And in thy dreams hear my love song, eternal,
"Beautiful city, I love thee."

The Friend of the People

SHOULD PETITION FOR REPAVING.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have today directed a communication to the superintendent of streets advising him of the condition of Thirty-ninth street, between Indiana avenue and Grand boulevard. Temporary crossings could be made at Calumet, Forest, and Prairie avenues by dumping a few wagon loads of cinders. It is almost impossible for women to cross the street in wet weather without going a block or two out of their way. May I ask you to add your influence to ameliorate this intolerable condition?
W. H. SPENCER,
3907 Forest avenue.

Thirty-ninth street should be repaved as the present pavement is worn out cedar block. In wet weather the crossings are, as stated, very bad. The ward superintendent, however, has filled in the intersections at Prairie, Forest, and Calumet avenues with cinders, which will relieve conditions temporarily.
F. W. SOLON,
Acting superintendent of streets.

FURNISH DATA; WILL PROSECUTE.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Dec. 23 a department store on Halsted street opened at 8:30 a. m., with a shift of girls, who were allowed intervals of time for lunch and supper amounting to three and one-half hours. Another shift came on at 10 o'clock a. m. who had one hour for lunch and one hour for supper. All of these girls worked until 11 p. m., some much later. Will Mr. Edgar T. Davies, state factory inspector of Illinois, enlighten, through the medium of the Greatest Publicity Promoter in the World, an ignorant but interested bystander, who hails from that section of the country whose natives are popularly supposed to require visual corroboration, as to just what action he expects to take in this matter?
E. S. RATHBUN,
2246 Troost avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

I would advise that if the female employés who came to work on the day cited at 8:30 a. m., had three and one-half hours off during the day, and then quit at 11 p. m., according to this schedule these females would have worked ten and one-half hours, and the girls who came at 10 a. m. and had an hour off for lunch and an hour off for supper and worked until 11 p. m. would have worked eleven hours. But he should file more definite information (giving names and addresses of said females) with the department of factory inspection, and if the employés were required to work in violation of the law the matter will be given proper attention.
EDGAR T. DAVIES,
State factory inspector.

AND THE MOTOR MAN SAID "GOSH!"

Chicago, Dec. 28.—[To the Friend of the People.]—At 9 this morning I boarded through car 22 [Devon avenue], No. 5617, at Sixty-ninth street and Wentworth avenue. On entering I found the car very cold, but thought it would be better as we proceeded down town; the thermometer registered all the way down to Madison street just 39. No heat came from the heating system, as I had an end seat and had my feet there all the way down. I was thoroughly chilled, and spoke to the motorman as I left and asked if he knew conditions. He replied: "Yes, I guess there's something the matter with this car, and they're going to fix it by and by." I then told him I was going to report it and he said "Gosh!"

These cars every morning are very cold, but this is the limit. I take them at the same hour each morning at the same place, and ask if we cannot have heat when we need it.
MRS. S. E. KELLOGG.

Returning herewith letter of Mrs. S. E. Kellogg, we beg to advise that we have made a note of this communication and the matter is now in the hands of our operating department for investigation and attention.

LIGHTS FINE—WHEN TURNED ON.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Coming down on an Evanston avenue car the other morning it was so dark it was impossible for any one to read a paper. A gentleman in the car requested the conductor to turn on the light, and after being asked the third time he did so reluctantly. In order to request the conductor, one must get up and lose his seat, which most people are loath to do. Why should it be necessary to make the request? Has not the conductor intelligence enough to see that a light is necessary on an extremely dark day as well as it is at night, and what instructions have they in regard to the matter?
E. F. RUTHER,
2234 Seminary avenue.

The Chicago Railways company takes considerable pride in the lighting system of its cars, which is the equal if not superior to that of any other street cars in this country. On this account trainmen have instructions to turn on the lights whenever necessary, so that patrons may be able to read their newspapers in comfort. It is regretted that Mr. Ruther was unable to read his paper, and suggested that he give the number of the conductor and car should this again occur.

HEATER NOT INSPECTED.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Wednesday, at about 5:20 p. m., I boarded car No. 5362 of Jackson Park line [surface] at Randolph and Wabash, and the thermometer registered only 22 degrees above zero.
W. C. R.

Referring to your letter regarding Jackson park car 5362, we beg to advise that examination of the heaters of this car on Dec. 28 disclosed the fact that one of the heater circuits was defective. This has since been repaired.

CHANCE FOR AN INVENTOR.

That there is a chance for an inventor to overcome the defect of the nickel first telephone is the opinion of the Springfield [Mass.] Republican, which thus comments on the situation in Chicago:

The "nickel first" telephone has been the cause of some controversy in Chicago, where it is now widely used, and by order of the city council Prof. Edward W. Bemis has been investigating the system. He concludes that it is sound in principle, and recommends that extension of it be allowed provided a way is found to meet the most serious objections, the occasional loss of a nickel and the difficulty in making an emergency call in case of fire, burglars, or sudden illness. In such a case a nickel is not always at hand, and he recommends the provision of "emergency slugs." It may be remarked that telephonic conversation while a burglar is on the premises is nervous business, and that the inventor who produces a cheap key call for the police, actuated by the simple pressing of the button, which can be fitted to the ordinary telephone, will deserve well of the [illegible]holder.

SAYS SERVICE IS GOOD.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—[To the Friend of the People.]—About six months ago I wrote you for assistance in securing better service in the collection of garbage in alley between Ohio street and Midway park and Prairie avenue and Austin avenue, in Austin, and for a few weeks my own particular garbage cans were emptied at least once a week, and at times oftener, but recently we have had the poor service of last summer again and the cans have not been emptied for over ten days, and at 9:30 a. m. today were brimming over. We have just out another large can since last week, so now have two. I am obliged to call the ward superintendent's office for service once a week.
MRS. W. R. MARSHALL,
5915 Ohio street.

I have a report from the ward superintendent that there is no cause for complaint as to removal of garbage and ashes from above premises, as these were removed on Tuesday, Dec. 26, and again on Friday, Dec. 29. Regular service is given in this district.
F. W. SOLON,
Acting superintendent of streets.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

LAKE CARRIERS' POSITION.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Permit me to file a protest against an editorial in your paper this morning headed "Our Typhoid Peril," for the reason that it places the Lake Carriers' association in a false position.

They are on record as not measuring the health of this or any other community by dollars and cents, and are also in favor of the sanitary trustees diverting all the water necessary for sanitation or domestic use, but protested against the diverting of additional large quantities of water from Lake Michigan for power plants, whether owned by corporations or the state—or, as you charge in your editorial, "for inflating land values along the Calumet or Chicago river," or any other purpose except for sanitation and domestic use.
DENIS SULLIVAN.

"THE TRIBUNE" AND THE WEST.

Jerome, Idaho, Jan. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Like W. J. G., who writes you from Idaho Falls, Dec. 20, I am also a subscriber to THE TRIBUNE, and agree with him that you may be helpful in interesting worthy persons in obtaining western homes. In fact, THE TRIBUNE, through the land show, has done more to interest people in this western country than any other medium. However, there still remains lots of room, and all this great northwest needs is people with a little means and lots of grit. The condition he recites is true of practically the entire northwest, but settlers are held back largely by the stories told them by eastern people who are not at all acquainted with the real situation.

The recent governors' special, representing the western states, has no doubt corrected some of the wrong impressions given eastern people regarding the west, and I sincerely trust that Chicago people, of whom I was formerly one, will learn to their advantage that there is something worth while west of the western boundaries of their city. Of course, we have no Lincoln league or Senator Lorimer, but we have a Senator William E. Borah, for whom we need make no apologies. Encourage the banking and moneyed interests of your cities in the east to allow their clients to invest some of their money in western lands and loans where they can double their earnings as safely as in Illinois or Iowa. THE TRIBUNE is to be commended for the good work that it has been doing in showing the wonderful resources of the great west through their several land shows.

ONE FOR MR. M'DOWELL.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Who is this man Malcolm McDowell? Why isn't his picture on the first page of THE TRIBUNE? He seems to be doing more in real charity than the millionaires who are endowing schools. A cup of hot coffee and a roll to a poor shivering human being with the temperature below zero seems to me to be real charity. Sermons and promises don't sustain life. Mr. McDowell is my ideal of a real man.

WORLD WITH TAFT ON PEACE.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—War is barbarous and should be obsolete. Any man who refuses to attend a "peace dinner" when he is invited is obsolete and possibly barbarous in his ideas. The world is with you, Mr. Taft. Let arbitration versus war be the issue in the coming presidential election and you probably will be the victor.
BERTRAND SHADWELL.

THE FRONT PLATFORM NUISANCE.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your article, column one, page eight, this morning's issue, "Where Smoking Is a Nuisance," is certainly most commendable. One matter, and I regard it the most important of all, however, was left untouched, and that is spitting on the floor.

The ladies who pass through the crowd in order to get out the front door simply [illegible] the expectorations which these people hold forth in unlimited quantities.

I do not wish to make myself conspicuous in this matter, but I do wish to compliment you in taking this up, and, as there is a city ordinance against spitting in the cars, and all these cars have signs to that effect, yet what good is this law or what good are the signs when it is done by lots of people who call themselves respectable, law abiding citizens, and so far I have never heard of an arrest being made for this nasty law breaking habit.
GEORGE H. VAN PELT.

POLL OF UNIT VOTERS.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The individual voter, the man who casts his ballot, is heard at the general election. Why not at selection of candidates—even as high as president of the United States?

We have newspapers that obtain by [illegible] the opinion of editors, United States senators, congressmen, etc. We have men who have been elected to some of those positions neglecting their duties officially, and trying to assume to be a Moses for us, and to lead us out of the political wilderness into which we are supposed to have fallen.

But what we do want is to get at the rank and file to reach the unit voter, get his opinion as to who can best serve the Republican party as the leader in the next campaign.

This can be done; and the right man will be named if the men who cast the ballots are consulted, or their wishes known; if this is not done and they are left out in the selection of our candidate, and all left to the politicians alone, some undesirable man may be named as standard bearer and the individual unit voter who thinks will, at the general election, not be responsive to the dictation of the few who may perchance be higher up on the ladder, but have no more power or intelligence than the common thinking individual unit voter. Why not THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE get the pulse of the unit voter?
ONE OF THE [illegible]

AN INSURGENT PROTESTS.

Manitowoc, Wis., Jan. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—L. Glick of Milwaukee, Wis., addressed you on "'Well Done' for Mr. Taft." Mr. Glick must be imbued with a peculiar sense of what constitutes results, in his apparent unprejudiced desire to "give President Taft his dues." He speaks from the viewpoint of results, and says that Taft does not hesitate to say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." Should we forgive him all for this? And then, what for instance? Ballinger as against Pinchot and Glavis and Garfield? The malignant [illegible] Wiley, as against that faithful official? Taft's hirelings in Wisconsin as against La Follette? Service of a political machine in obstructing a presidential primary, as against the wishes of the rank and file of the party? Service for the interests, as against service for the people? Hasn't President Taft forgotten that he is a servant of all the people? Are you sure they will say as much for him?

KOHLSAAT HELPS LORIMER INQUIRY

Chicago Editor's Letters to Senators Bearing on Case Shown to Committee.

TELL OF HINES' APPEAL.

Cullom, Root, Crane, and La Follette Are Urged to Consider Bribery Allegation.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Letters written by H. H. Kohlsaat, editor of the Chicago Record-Herald, to members of the United States senate last winter were introduced in evidence today before the Lorimer investigating committee.

A large crowd packed the committee room expecting Senator Lorimer to take the stand. The senator was present in earnest converse with Edward Hines, the Chicago lumber man, and the two men were surrounded by their counsel.

The committee was in executive session for about an hour considering the question of whether or not to examine Hines upon his use of a room in the Union League club on the day he is said to have asked Clarence B. Funk for a contribution of $10,000 to the Lorimer election expense fund. In testimony last summer Hines made no reference to his occupancy of a room and when questioned about it prior to the Christmas holidays, his memory proved defective. He will be examined tomorrow and Senator Lorimer will go on the stand either tomorrow afternoon or on Wednesday.

Asks Votes Against Lorimer.

The letters of Mr. Kohlsaat were sent last winter to Senators Root of New York, Crane of Massachusetts, Cullom of Illinois, and La Follette of Wisconsin. All of these letters asserted there was no question that $100,000 was advanced by Edward Hines and friends to bring about Lorimer's election. They appealed to the senators named to cast their votes for right and decency.

To Mr. Cullom, the Record-Herald's editor sent two letters, in which he urged that senator not to mar the record of a clean and honest life by voting to retain in the senate a man whose seat he must know was bought.

Appeals to Senator Root.

The letters to Senator Root are as follows:

"Chicago, Ill., Jan. 17, 1911.—Senator Elihu Root, Washington, D. C.—My dear Senator: I have just received a call from some well known people here, among them Walter L. Fisher, asking me if I would not write you and tell you of an incident in the Lorimer senatorial election. My friends thought that if you had this personal knowledge it would be of assistance to you in strengthening your belief that money was used to elect Lorimer. The information was given to me in confidence and as a newspaper man I feel the same obligation to maintain secrecy that a priest does of a confession.

"Some time last June I met a friend, who is general manager of a Chicago corporation with a capital of over $25,000,000. He said: 'I have been intending to call on you for some days to tell you of an incident that occurred right after Lorimer's election a year ago. I had a visit from Edward Hines, the lumberman, and he told me that Lorimer's friends had had the opportunity of electing him to the senate by putting up $100,000, that they had only a few days before the adjournment of the legislature and could not take the time to go around and raise the money, so half a dozen of Lorimer's friends underwrote the $100,000 and gave it to the proper agent. Lorimer was elected, and we are now asking some of the corporations to pay in their share. I am taking care of the uptown district and another man [mentioning his name] has charge of the stockyards. We figure that your share will be $10,000.'

"My friend answered substantially as follows: 'I cannot give you any money for two reasons. First, we are not in that kind of business; and second, if you have gotten yourselves into a hole, why should you expect us to pull you out?'

"On the strength of this statement the Record-Herald has explicitly stated several times editorially that $100,000 was raised to buy Lorimer's election, and we have never had a protest from anybody on it. The man who gave me this information is absolutely reliable. He had no object in telling me a falsehood and I believe him thoroughly.

"When Col. Roosevelt was here on his way to Cheyenne I told him of the incident, and it was the prime motive that prompted him to decline to sit at the Hamilton club banquet with Lorimer.

"Hoping that this may be of some value to you, believe me. Yours sincerely,

"H. H. KOHLSAAT."

Reticence of Funk Explained.

"Chicago, Ill., Feb. 15, 1911.—Dear Senator Root: Your favor of the 11th at hand. I agree with you that my friend's testimony would greatly help at this time, but it would absolutely ruin him to take the stand. He was approached as an officer of the company, not as an individual, and could not come out in the open without the consent of the directors, some of whom are friendly to Lorimer. You can imagine the situation he is and would be in.

"I know some of the forces at work to keep Lorimer in the senate. If they succeed, God help us! A day of reckoning will surely come to the American people.

"The weakness of the anti-Lorimerites is that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is back of the fight to unseat Lorimer. That paper has many enemies, but there is no question that the paper is rendering a great service to the people of these United States.

"Your speech made a great impression throughout the west. It was a wonderful plea for the right. Yours faithfully,

"H. H. KOHLSAAT."

Tries to Convince Cullom.

Here are the communications addressed to Senator Cullom:

"Chicago, Feb. 10, 1911.—The Hon. S. M. Cullom, Washington, D. C.—Dear Senator: Inclosed please find editorial clippings from Chicago papers on your Lorimer speech. Personally I do not agree with them, as the case is not fully in and you were simply defending yourself.

"The people here, even those friendly to Lorimer, know and believe that money was used to buy his election. There is absolutely no question that $100,000 was advanced by Edward Hines and friends to bring about Lorimer's election, as Hines himself told a friend of mine within thirty days after the election that he had had a chance to elect Lorimer by putting up that amount and wanted my friend to partially reimburse the syndicate that underwrote the $100,000. This information is confidential, but you can take my word for it—it is true.

"Hoping that you are feeling better this winter, I am, as always, your friend,

"H. H. KOHLSAAT."

Says "Lorimer's Seat Was Bought."

"Chicago, Feb. 15, 1911.—My Dear Senator: Your letter of the 13th at hand. Please do not let the letters and telegrams that Lorimer's friends are bombarding you with deceive you from what your honest old heart must tell you—THAT LORIMER'S SEAT WAS BOUGHT. Hines told the truth when he said that they had raised $100,000 to elect him and were around trying to reimburse themselves. I can prove that to your satisfaction.

"You are 81 years old—poor as a church mouse. When the good Lord calls you, do not leave a single record of winking at corruption, not personally, but in others. If you were to die today the greatest tribute you would receive would be, 'He was absolutely honest.' Don't give occasion to add, 'He made one mistake—he voted to seat a man in the United States senate knowing he had been elected by the use of money.' Don't mar the record of an absolutely clear title.

"I say this as your friend. Personally, I have no interest in Lorimer, but feel his vindication would be a blow to decency. As ever, your friend, H. H. KOHLSAAT."

"Keep the Record Clean."

"Chicago, Feb. 22, 1911.—Senator S. M. Cullom, Washington, D. C.: Keep the record clean to the end. H. H. KOHLSAAT."

No Doubt as to Bribery.

The letters to Senator Crane follow:

"Chicago, Ill., Feb. 20, 1911.—Senator W. Murray Crane, Washington, D. C.: Our correspondent puts you in the Lorimer column this morning. I wish it were possible to see you, as I believe I could convince you that $400,000 was raised to elect him. I have no personal feeling in the matter, but the effect of Lorimer's winning will hurt the cause of decency in Illinois and react on the senate. There is absolutely no doubt in my mind that $100,000 was raised to bring about the election. I cannot prove it, but have made the assertion editorially several times and have never been challenged for proof.

"H. H. KOHLSAAT."

Refers to Letters to Root.

"Chicago, Ill., Feb. 22, 1911.—Senator W. Murray Crane, Washington, D. C.: Thanks for your telegram. I sincerely hope your vote will be on the side of right and decency. It is almost impossible to find any one in Illinois who does not believe that money—and money alone—brought about the election. To prove it is almost impossible. The system of giving money to one man for distribution defies detection. Please ask Senator Root to show you my letters of Jan. 17 and Feb. 15. There is absolutely no doubt of my friend's statement in these letters, but there were no witnesses nor any way of proving the request for money. I earnestly ask you to help us kill the snake corruption in Illinois.

H. H. KOHLSAAT."

Charge Remains Unchallenged.

The correspondence with Senator La Follette follows:

"Chicago, Ill., Feb. 21, 1911.—Senator La Follette, Washington, D. C.: If I had all the details of the raising and disposition of the $100,000 I would not have asked the editorial question. That $100,000 was raised for that purpose I have absolutely no shadow of doubt, but cannot prove. We have made the assertion a number of times editorially. The assertion has never been challenged. You are the first person to ask for particulars.

"H. H. KOHLSAAT."

Why Names Were Withheld.

"Chicago, Ill., Feb. 22, 1911.—Senator R. M. La Follette, Washington: Please ask Senator Root to show you my letters of Jan. 17 and Feb. 15. I gave Charles Crane this morning my reasons for not giving names. He agreed with me that it would not be just right or wise to do so. H. H. KOHLSAAT."

Letters to Roosevelt Missing.

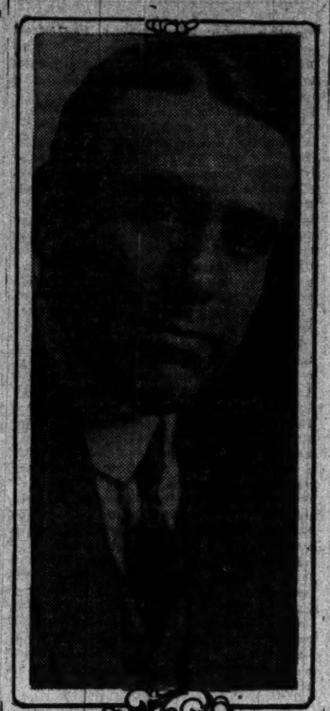

Mr. Kohlsaat explained to the committee that he is not in possession of a letter he received from former President Theodore Roosevelt in reference to the Lorimer case. He said he had received so many requests for autographs of the colonel that he undoubtedly had handed over the communication to the child of some friend.

Broker Named Head of Board of Trade.

FRANK M. BUNCH.

Frank M. Bunch, who yesterday was elected president of the Chicago board of trade, has served as director and first and second vice president of the board. As head of the administration ticket he defeated Caleb H. Canby and James Templeton. Mr. Bunch is a member of the firm of Rumsey & Co. and is the second youngest man ever elected to the presidency.

F. M. BUNCH HEADS BOARD OF TRADE

"Administration" Candidate Defeats Two Rivals in Hot Election Contest.

RICE IS VICE PRESIDENT.

Scores Decisive Victory; "Liberals" Beaten; Other Cities Send "Electioneering" Delegates.

Frank M. Bunch of Rumsey & Co. was elected president of the board of trade in the annual election held yesterday. The total vote cast was 1,044, of which Mr. Bunch received 623, Caleb H. Canby, 308, and James S. Templeton, 101, Bunch having a plurality of 317 and a majority of 216 votes.

Frank B. Rice, vice president of the Star and Crescent Milling company, was elected second vice president, over Ernest G. Brown of the Hooper Grain company. The vote for Rice was 673 and for Brown 339.

The election, although it turned out to be a one sided affair, was the most exciting in a long time and created more interest than any in recent years. The total vote was the largest in the last six years and there were a large number of members in the city who rarely come on 'change, and also from out of town, who voted.

Other Cities Send Delegates.

Delegations from Peoria, St. Louis, Minneapolis, and other out of town points attended and there was active electioneering all through the time of balloting.

Among the members, bankers and stock brokers, who seldom come on 'change except on an occasion of this kind, were James B. Forgan, Ernest A. Hamill, Ralph Van Vechten, F. D. Countiss, and H. D. Sturtevant. J. Ogden Armour cast his ballot just before the close, and created a stir on the floor. A. J. Lichtstern voted for the first time in years. Jules Barnes was here from Duluth and T. A. Grier headed a numerous delegation from Peoria.

Mr. Bunch represented the administration forces and C. H. Canby was supposed to represent the element desirous of having a more liberal policy in the administration of affairs. James S. Templeton, who ran as an independent candidate, received a larger number of votes than expected, suggesting there is a considerable element of dissatisfied members.

Rice Wins Decisive Victory.

The victory of Frank B. Rice for second vice president was decisive. Ernest G. Brown had been nominated on both the major tickets and Rice was nominated by petition.

With fourteen candidates in the field there was a hot fight for the directory, five places to be filled for full three year terms, and one to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C. H. Canby. The successful candidates were Robert McDougal, Joseph Simons, Adolph Gerstenberg, Benjamin S. Wilson, and L. Harry Freeman, for the full term, and John Carden to fill the vacancy.

Frank M. Bunch, the successful candidate for the presidency, has been a director for three years, second vice president, and is just finishing a term as first vice president. He succeeds J. C. F. Merrill. Mr. Bunch has been an official of the board in one capacity or another for about eight years and was regarded as especially well qualified for the office.

Mr. Bunch is the second youngest member of the board ever elected president, being 40 years of age. C. L. Hutchinson, now vice president of the Corn Exchange bank, was the youngest member to hold this office.

Rice a Well Known Broker.

Frank B. Rice, the successful candidate for second vice president, is one of the best known members of the board of trade. He is vice president of the Star and Crescent Milling company and has been identified with the cash grain and milling interests of Chicago and the board of trade for many years.

The following were elected members of the arbitration committee: Fred G. Miley, Earle M. Combes, Warren A. Lamson, Emile J. Garneau, and Luther S. Dickey Jr.

New members of the appeals committee elected were Arthur S. Jackson, Francis L. Schreiner, Joseph W. Badenoch, J. Edward Wynne, and John H. Wheeler.

WOULD OUST EFFICIENCY MEN

Bartzen in "Own Budget" Eliminates Whole Bureau.

TOO MUCH LEGAL ADVICE.

Also Wants to Abolish Position of County Attorney.

Peter Bartzen, president of the county board, wants to abolish the efficiency bureau of the civil service commission. He has formulated a budget for the merit board which eliminates all five employes of the efficiency division, whose salaries aggregate $8,100 a year. In addition Mr. Bartzen thinks the commission is getting too much legal advice, so he desires to wipe out the job of attorney—the position now held by Edward G. Purkheiser.

All these positions have an appropriation for only two months in the budget form of Mr. Bartzen. He is said to have told the finance committee that unless his views are adopted he will veto the appropriation bill.

The state law provides that the merit board must check up on the efficiency of employés. Instead of having employés for that work regularly on the county pay roll, Mr. Bartzen proposes to make a lump appropriation of $3,000.

James Witter's Successor.

Henry J. Lynch, business manager of the Dunning institutions, was appointed to the vacancy caused by the discharge on Saturday of John H. Witter, chief probation officer of the Juvenile court. This position pays $3,000 salary, while Lynch's former job paid only $2,000.

No examination has been called for this place, and rumor has it that Lynch will continue to serve on temporary authority until after the spring primaries.

For the first time Cook county will make an appropriation to pay physicians for reporting births. The law provides a fee of 25 cents and County Clerk Sweitzer has convinced the finance committee that $5,000 should be set aside this year for that purpose.

Calls Birth Records Joke.

"The birth records of the county at present are a joke," said Mr. Sweitzer. "As a test we took the names of thirty children of employés in my office and not one of the thirty was recorded. In certain litigation birth certificates are important. Since the law requires it, I shall see that births are recorded."

The wrecking of part of the present county hospital to make room for the new building was halted yesterday by Commissioner Busse at a meeting of the county board.

"We cannot find out definitely what sort of a building is to be constructed because the architect has not submitted his plans," said the commissioner. "Let us see those before we start to tear down part of the present hospital."

The bids were referred to the public service committee.

The Man Who Never Gets Ahead

He works hard, year in and year out. Does better work, perhaps, earns more money, than he used to. But he does not get ahead. He is exactly as poor today as he was when he began earning his living as a boy. What is the matter? He has never learned to save money. Never has a dollar to invest. Never makes a dollar which does not come in his pay envelope.

How much more contented he might be, how much better protected against want, how much more independent—if he had means of his own, saved out of his earnings, in a responsible bank. In this bank he can open an account with $1 or more and be sure that his money will be secure.

SEE PLOT TO BEAT ATHLETES OF U. S.

Early Date for Olympic Games Is Handicap to the American Team.

COLLEGE STARS BALKED.

Big Conference Meets Here Will Deprive Contestants of the Training Period.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Official announcement, made yesterday, that the Olympic games will start on June 29, did not meet the approval of local followers of track and field athletics. Although the events in the stadium will not begin until July 4, the general opinion of local men is that the date is too early to allow the American team enough time to get into condition after making the trip to Stockholm. Hints that European jealousy at the three straight victories of the American team was partly responsible for this handicap, were not lacking.

College athletes cannot be expected to forsake their own important meets to make the trip. The western conference this year will be held on the first Saturday in June while the eastern intercollegiate will be conducted on the last Friday and Saturday in May.

The college stars are trained for these meetings and it would be foolish to keep them in active training after their hard preparation for the intercollegiates. They should be given at least a week's time in which to break training and then they will be in better shape to take up the grind of getting into condition for the world's games.

No Time to Prepare.

The college years do not end until after the first week in June. The American team then would have to be selected and the trip to Stockholm started at once in order to give the athletes a chance to become acclimated and acquainted with the track and field in the stadium. It will take the American team about two days longer to get to Stockholm than it did to reach London in 1908. This will make it imperative for the American team to keep in shape on the boat if hopes of a fourth successive victory in the world's games are to be entertained.

As no dates have been set for the holding of trials in the different sections, the official announcement of the opening of the games is sure to have an important bearing on the selection of the dates. Committees have been appointed in the east, central west, far west and south to conduct the trials. The reports of these committees will have direct bearing on the selection of the American team. The original plan was to have the athletes train at Philadelphia under Murphy during the month of May a few days before sailing. Now the men will go direct to New York to prepare for the foreign invasion.

"I believe the date is a little early for us," said E. C. Brown, president of the Central A. A. U. "In all of the European countries the athletes have an advantage of at least two months of outdoor training over us. As most of them are jealous of our success in the last three world's games, we are going to have a harder row to hoe than ever this year.

Americans Voted Down.

"At the time the date for the official opening of the games was established by the International Olympic committee at its meeting in Budapest, Austria, last year we were opposed strongly to the early opening, but we were voted down by other members. I am positive we could feel reasonably certain of winning the games if they were held two or three weeks later."

Dr. George K. Hepburn, former president of the Central A. A. U., said the early opening of the games would work to America's disadvantage. He pointed out that the conference meets have often been held in cold weather, which has made it impossible for the athletes to train indoors. Dr. Herman was of the opinion that America will be handicapped greatly in this meeting and only herculean efforts on the part of our athletes will result in another American victory.

The American Olympic committee may decide to send an army of the best athletes before the college men sail. There are some athletes competing for the various athletic organizations whose selections are assured and it would be a good move to send them to Stockholm as soon as possible to become acclimated and get acquainted with the conditions.

Just what action now will be taken is a matter of conjecture, but it seems almost certain that the trials will have to be held before June 7, and the trip to Stockholm started as soon after as possible.

MIKE MURPHY HAS RELAPSE; TO RETURN TO SANITARIUM.

Veteran Trainer's Health Fails Again—May Be Unable to Prepare Olympic Athletic Team This Year.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Despite reports of improvement in the condition of Mike Murphy, Pennsylvania's veteran athletic trainer, he is an extremely sick man and will return tomorrow to Brown's Mills, N. J. This may mean that he cannot take up the duties of training the Red and Blue track team or the athletes who are to represent America in the Olympiad at Stockholm this year.

Murphy is extremely weak and unable to talk with any visitors except those who must see him. He enjoys little respite from his illness and the slightest exertion saps his energy and strength.

It was believed he had recovered sufficiently during his stay at Brown's Mills to be able to return and recuperate at his residence here. But the weather today seemed to have affected him again, and he was compelled to lie down to rest several times during the day. Dr. Robert G. Torrey, the famous football center who trained under Murphy, is in attendance. The physician after visiting Murphy today decided it was necessary for his patient to return to Brown's Mills.

MAHMOUT SUES ANTON PIERRI.

Wrestler Claims Former Manager Collected and Retained $1,500 in Fees for Exhibitions.

Suit was filed in the Municipal court yesterday by Tussuff Mahmout, the wrestler, against Anton Pierri, who brought him to this country to give exhibitions in wrestling, for the recovery of $1,500 said to have been collected by Pierri as advance fees for exhibitions in different cities.

According to a statement made by Attorney Edward R. Litzinger, Pierri collected $1,000 in advance fees for the wrestler, in addition to his own commissions, both of which he retained. After the exhibitions were given, according to the attorney, Mahmout and Pierri went to New York and then to London, where the latter gave the wrestler $700 and promised to place the balance in the bank for him.

A writ of attachment was issued yesterday morning, but before it could be served Pierri had boarded a train for New York.

FRIEND WIFE.

JOHNSON GRILLS J. CORBETT

Criticism of Former Champion Arouses Ire of Title Holder.

SAYS JAMES J. HURTS SPORT.

Bout with McCoy Stopped Boxing in New York, Declares Jack.

BY KNOCKOUT.

That Jim Corbett's fight with "Kid" McCoy in New York was the direct result of the boxing game being stopped in the eastern metropolis was the answer of Jack Johnson to the criticism of the former champion in a recent article. The champion also asserted that Corbett, since his retirement from the ring, had done more to hurt boxing than any other two men now connected with the game.

In the article which caused Johnson's protest, Corbett asserted the negro champion is "stalling" doesn't want to fight, and that he is afraid of McVey, Langford, and Jeannette. Corbett stated that Johnson's exorbitant demands forbade pursuit in proof enough of the fact that Jack wants to hold on to the title as long as possible. Johnson claims Corbett is "sore" because of the "kidding" he received after the Johnson-Jeffries fight, when he was criticised severely for saying Jeffries would win in a walk.

The champion said he would start light training today at O'Connell's. He intends to box a few rounds, besides skipping the rope, punching the bag, and doing other gymnasium exercises. He has signed for a week's engagement at a west side theater, his first appearance to be on Feb. 4.

Jim Flynn denied there was any likelihood of his bout with Al Palzer at New York on Feb. 15 being called off. The fighter said Jack Curley had complete control of his affairs and if Curley told him to jump in the lake, regardless of the cold weather, he would do it.

"It is true I prefer to hit in the clinches" said Flynn, "but I will fight this fellow any old way. I understand they allow only clean breaks in New York now, a feature of the game to which I am not accustomed, but with a little training under Tommy Ryan I believe I can master the fine points of this style of fighting. My fight with Al Kubiak at Toronto is "on" as far as I know although I am opposed strongly to meeting this fellow. He is not a real "hope," and I will receive little credit if I beat him."

Jack Curley has not decided whether it will be policy to allow Flynn to fight Palzer if clean breaks only are allowed. He wants to communicate with Tommy Ryan before taking any serious action. Curley also wants Al Tearney to act as stakeholder of forfeits for the Flynn-Johnson fight. Tim Sullivan of New York was selected originally, but because of the fact the match was made in Chicago, Curley is of the opinion that a local stakeholder should be selected.

Nate Lewis, manager of George "Knockout" Brown, said his fighter would arrive in Chicago today. Lewis has received two offers for a fight between Brown and Frank Klaus. Both offers came from Pittsburgh. The American A. C. wants the fight on Jan. 20 and the National A. C. is anxious to stage it on Jan. 15. Lewis accepted terms for the former date providing Klaus will make 138 pounds at 3 o'clock. Lewis closed terms for a match between Charley White and Battling Schuls to be staged at Windsor, Can., on Jan. 17. The weight will be 126 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Fred Gilmore, who looks after the interests of Jack Herrick, yesterday matched his fighter to meet Jack Dillon at Indianapolis, Ind., on Jan. 26. The weight will be 158 pounds at 3 o'clock. This will be the fifth meeting of the pair. To date draws and a victory for each fighter have resulted from former meetings. M. C. McAllen, a promoter from Toronto, Can., was in town yesterday seeking to match Jack White with Tommy Hudson. Gilmore, White's manager, accepted.

Harry Forbes put in a strenuous day at Gilmore's in preparation for his bout with Johnny Coulon at Kenosha, Wis., on Jan. 22. Forbes boxed with Freddie Whittingham and Clarence Forbes.

Eddie Murphy, the Boston lightweight, arrived in Chicago yesterday, and his manager, Eddie McBride, immediately opened negotiations with Emil Thiry for a match with Willie Ritchie. Joe Simpson, manager and matchmaker of the Indiana A. C. of East Chicago, is after the match for his Jan. 25 show.

"Special Delivery" Hirsch yesterday was matched to meet "Young" Griffith at Cleveland, O., on Jan. 27 over the ten round route. The weights will be 122 pounds at 3 o'clock. Hirsch also has been matched to meet Vincent Rotchel at East Chicago, Ind., on Jan. 16.

Packey McFarland, Willie Ritchie, and their manager, Emil Thiry will leave for Toronto, Can., today, where McFarland will meet "Kid" Alberts in a ten round bout tomorrow night. After this fight the trio will go to Cleveland, O., where Ritchie will meet Phil Brock over the ten round route on Monday night. McFarland and Ritchie board six interesting rounds at O'Connell's yesterday.

Johnny Coulon has finished hard training for his fight with George Kitson at South Bend, Ind., on Thursday night. The bantamweight champion will leave for the Hoosier city tomorrow. A large delegation of local fight fans will make the trip to see the mill. A special train will leave the Polk street station at 8:40 o'clock on the night of the fight.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 8.—Joe Mandot of New Orleans outfought "Billy" Allen of Ottawa, lightweight champion of Canada, at every stage of their eight round bout before the Southern Athletic club tonight and was awarded the decision. CONKLIN LEADS IN CUE PLAY

Gains 13 Point Margin Over Demarest in First Block.

MATCH AT 18-2 BALK LINE.

Clever Run of 44 at End Aids Fred; Score, 267 to 387.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Ending the night's play with a well played and nervy unfinished run of 44, Fred Conklin, the international amateur champion, gained a lead of 13 points over Calvin Demarest, the former 18-2 champion, in the first block of their 18-2 handicap match at Mussey's rooms last night. The amateur is playing 1,335 points to 2,000 by the professional and made his initial complement of 267 points while Demarest was gathering 387.

For a time Conklin held his opponent even but after Demarest had marred his average by scoring four ciphers in a row, the latter showed some of the fast play for which he is noted, getting a run of ninety-nine in fourteen minutes. Then, after he had had four mediocre innings, he made a wonderful run of 118, which ended when he got all the balls lined up hard against the top rail. He tried a jump shot, which nearly proved successful.

Then Conklin made his best run of the night, stopping with the balls in good position for the restart tonight. Scores:

CONKLIN—6, 36, 8, 1, 10, 22, 1, 9, 0, 39, 29, 37, 0, 27, 0, 6, 24, 44.—Total 267.

DEMAREST—6, 36, 31, 46, 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 21, 99, 1, 0, 16, 17, 116. Total, 387.

"CAL" CHALLENGED TO HURLING DUEL

Griffith Would Return to Slab for Battle with the Sox Leader.

RIVALS FOR MANY YEARS.

Veterans, Both Managers, May Decide Issue Next Summer; Mattick Signs Contract.

BY SAM WELLER.

A pitching duel between two battle scarred veterans of the old war days is a possible feature of some summer afternoon this season at Comiskey's park. James J. Callahan, manager of the Sox, received a formal challenge yesterday for such a combat. Clark Griffith, new manager of the Washington team, being the sender. Both these leaders of modern baseball teams were twirlers in the days gone by, both being on the Chicago National league club and, both going over to Comiskey's team when the American league expanded.

The pitching days of each have long since passed away, but the friendly rivalry probably will continue when they are old gray bearded men. "Grif" in his letter says:

"You are heralded as the great come back man of baseball. Let's see if you have any nerve. I don't think you'd dare pitch a game next summer against me. I'll let you pull it off on your own grounds if you're game enough to accept."

"Cross Old Man"—Callahan.

Cal's answer to his old mate read like this: "You're a cross old man. The older you get the crosser you are. You hadn't been back in the American league (six minutes before you wanted everything. I'm going to try to live a square and upright life and I don't think it would be fair to an old man (a accept a challenge to go out and pitch a game against him. Why, you were an old man on the Chicago Nationals when I first joined the club."

There'll be many a friendly tilt between these two managers next summer when the White Sox and Senators are engaged in games. It'll be stuff that's handed back and forth from the coaching lines and players' benches, and if the fans could hear it they might enjoy it more than the games. There was a time when Griffith and Callahan were the star slabmen for the old west side team, and some of the tricks they turned did much to advance the game.

Comiskey came into Chicago in 1900, and the year after both these stars went over to his club, Griffith landing the job of manager. In the spring of 1903 Griffith was given to New York as manager and Callahan put in as head of the Sox. Since then Griffith has gone back to the National league and Callahan has spent five years "semi-proing" and now they are both back in the American league as managers. A game between the Sox and Senators with the old warriors on the slab would be pleasing to the old time fans of Chicago. Possibly the old "stuff" they put on the ball in former years would be missing, but there would be more wit and trickery to their work than ever.

Mattick Signs Sox Contract.

Callahan announced yesterday that he has received the signed contract of Walter Mattick, a young outfielder from the Des Moines club of the Western league. Mattick has been tried out by the Sox on two different occasions and sent back to the Western league for more experience. Manager Callahan seems to be of the opinion that he is prepared to stick with the majors now and says he will be given a chance to earn a place on the Sox team. He also said other major league clubs have spoken for him if the Sox are unable to keep him.

Joe Cantillon of the Minneapolis club, is remaining in Chicago a few days after the close of the American association meeting, to visit with his old friend Charley Comiskey. Joe brought up a few wild turkeys from his camp at Reelfoot Lake, Ky., and yesterday distributed them among his local friends.

The man who helped Joe shoot the turkeys was Rube Waddell, the famous southpaw. Rube is one of the Minneapolis pitchers now and Cantillon says he thinks the big fellow will be good for ten years. About a month ago Rube deserted Cantillon's camp and joined a theatrical company on a flat boat, making the Mississippi river towns. Three weeks of barnstorming was enough for Rube, and he returned to spend the balance of the winter hunting and fishing with his pose.

Detroit "Magnate" Seeks Franchise.

A prospective baseball magnate for the "third" league dropped into Chicago yesterday, coming over from Detroit to make formal application for a franchise in that city. He possesses a ball park there now, and likes the scheme of Manager Niesen of the Gunthers—to construct a new league of semi-pro men of the principal cities of the middle west. John Roesink is the Detroiter, and he is said to possess plenty of cash to carry along his end of the scheme. A meeting of representatives from Chicago, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Detroit, and St. Louis is planned for Saturday here.

NO COUNTERFEITS ACCEPTED.

Efforts to Palm Off Chicken Wishbones on George Moriarity Prove Ineffectual.

Capt. George Moriarity of the Detroit baseball club wants more turkey wishbones. In answer to his ad in "The Sunday Tribune" he had 153 wishbones offered to him yesterday, but seventy-six of them originally belonged to chickens instead of turkeys. Now, a chicken wishbone hasn't the same charm as one from a turkey, according to Moriarity, and would never do as a souvenir to send out with the new song just published by the Detroit star. Consequently he has advertised for fifty more today, and any one who turns up with a chicken bone will be shown the door.

McBreen After Jersey City Stock.

New York, Jan. 8.—Negotiations are under way and progressing favorably, whereby Hugh McBreen, former secretary of the Boston Americans, is to acquire an interest in the Jersey City baseball club of the International league. James T. Lillis, former surrogate, has agreed to sell his interest in the club to McBreen for $15,000. It is expected that the transfer of the stock to McBreen will take place tomorrow.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

Playing to a Nonexistent Prejudice.

"I fully appreciate that when I crawl through the ropes to do battle with Jack Johnson I will have the best wishes of four out of every five white persons in the world." So says Jim Flynn in his post-nuptial announcement, so to speak, and there you have, incidentally, the keynote of the campaign. If the feeling that Jim Flynn expresses it any comfort, any psychic sustenance to him, perhaps he should be allowed to entertain it in peace. But as such an utterance carries an implied reflection on the intelligence of the paler portion of this world, it may not be so uncharitable nor inconsiderate to call attention to the real fact, which is that not more than one white person in a million cares how fares it with Jim Flynn when he "crawls through the ropes to do battle with Jack Johnson."

We had a lot of that stuff while Johnson's fight with Jeffries was impending. We were even soberly informed that Johnson never would be ALLOWED to whip Jeffries; that a bolt from the blue (meaning in this case a bullet from some blue hardware) would stay his hand if his victory seemed possible. We were told that white men could not AFFORD to allow Johnson to whip Jeffries, as a race riot would be the result. Yet "four out of every five white persons" (women included) that saw Johnson whip Jeffries were moved with the impulse to carry the big black man out of the ring on their shoulders.

Before the promoters of this affair and their literary counselors set about earnestly feeding that "old stuff" to the great American boobilc, we wish to get it before the house, where the house can see it and keep looking at it, that if Johnson can whip Flynn—and "four out of every five white persons" who know anything about ficticuffs think he can—he can do so, and welcome.

"Here's where I begin to manage," says Hank O'Day as he rids himself of the irksome presence of a couplaptichers.

Throw out the figures; discard all the dope of it—
The game is to prove that the fireman's the hope of it.

Underrate Johnson, disparage, make light of him.
Say there's no strength in the left or the right of him;
Say he is through and will never come back again;
Wheedle the boobs to invest in a stack of him—

A stack of "the hope of the white race"—they'll fall for it,
And not only that, they will eagerly call for it.
They want you to tell 'em Jim Flynn is the class of it.
Turn on the pipe; let 'em inhale the gas of it.

If we were selecting the "twenty greatest football critics" we would reserve Nos. 1 to 18, inclusive, for Walter Camp. Inasmuch as Mr. Camp appreciates ours, we appreciate him.

ON THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

Zero weather sent the bowling scores soaring all over town last night, the best general work of the season being accomplished, although some of the city's records was damaged, several minor league records going by the board, however. Among the features of the night were big individual averages by T. Karlicek, who averaged 220 2-3 in the Windy City league; Paul Wilson, who led the Bryn Mawr league with 224 5-3; Walter Volkman, who shot 237 flat in the Sanger Hall league in Elm Island, and Joe Baker with 223 5-3 in the Kloves. The Cooleys also rolled well in South Chicago with a high game of 1,091 and an average of 952 2-3.

Karlicek's great series enabled the Bingos to win two games from the Dirk Bros. in the Windy City league, putting Bushnell's team in a tie for second position. Kellow won two games from the Reeveys in the same league, defending their leadership.

Jimmy Blouin lost his first match in his exhibition series at the Randolph alleys yesterday when Al Lindgren won from him in the full eleven games by taking six games of the route. The national champion averaged 209 8-11 to his conqueror's 205 flat for the series.

SPORTING GOSSIP BY QUEENSBERRY

Marquis Talks of Racing and Boxing Conditions with Joyner and Britt.

NEW YORK OUTLOOK POOR.

Whitney's Trainer Doesn't Expect Return of Sport for Long Time; Boost for Wells.

BY THE MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.

While traveling recently I had the good fortune to meet two American representatives of the leading sports, one being Andrew Joyner, or, as you call him here, "Sam" Joyner, who trains Mr. Harry Payne Whitney's horses at Newmarket, England, with great success, and the other was Jimmy Britt, the American lightweight, who was on his way to spend Christmas in England.

Mr. Joyner is a charming person, and told me a great deal of his racing experiences in England. While he considers that racing has been brought to a higher state of perfection in England than anywhere else in the world, he still hankers after his old field in New York state. His principal objection to English racing is the large amount of railroad traveling that he and his horses have to undergo, whereas in New York state the racing was all within an easy motor ride for himself and walking distance for his horses.

I was disappointed to hear from Mr. Joyner that his hopes of a speedy return of the good old racing days in New York were not sanguine. He seemed to think that the presidential elections this year would seem largely in the public mind that racing would be overlooked; and even if it started this or next year it would, as he explained to me, be fully three years or more before we got back to the same footing as we were when it closed down. And he added that for his part he would prefer to go on racing in England for some years to come.

Joyner is fond of Newmarket, where he has a beautiful home, Ballaton Lodge, and with his genial manners and true American hospitality have endeared him to all, and is now is one of the best known and most prominent trainers in England. In fact, he has become such an institution that it would be a great loss to English racing to lose him.

Jimmy Britt is returning to the States to start on a theatrical tour on Jan. 20, as he promised to pay me a visit when he was anywhere near Chicago. He gave me some of his ideas about Bombardier Wells, who says that Wells is still only a novice, but that he has everything in him that should some day make him a fighter of the highest class. The only thing that he lacks in standing is, Britt thinks that he will acquire this as he develops his physique, and that he will do so by doing something big, especially as he is a clever, uses his head, and is game to the backbone.

Britt went on to say that Great Britain has done much in the last three years to popularize boxing, whereas in America, though there was more money to be made there by boxing, the sport was degenerating, owing to the commercialism and roughness which now dominates here. No man more than Jimmy Britt exemplifies the fact that a prize fighter can still be a gentleman. He has won the engaging manners and is modest, and at the same time is quite a Beau Brummel, as he dresses exceedingly well, without being overdressed.

In Paris, where Sam McVey has been a favorite for such a long time, the news that he had beaten Sam Langford in Sydney, Australia, was not at all a surprise; but the Englishmen generally were astounded that the decision of "Snowy" Baker was for McVey. Nevertheless they do not quibble at the verdict, for Mr. Baker is almost as much trusted as Mr. Eugene Corri is in England. In letters written by McVey prior to the fight he expected to scale 204 pounds, while Langford would scale at about 174.

So many of my friends were of the opinion that Langford would win, despite the handicap in the weights, that they were rather outspoken. Nevertheless, it cannot be too often repeated that "Snowy" Baker has too lofty a reputation for an assertion to be made that he judged wrongly. As a matter of fact the fight has said, "Sympathy enters largely into boxing that it may have been simply clamor for a popular person" that Langford which raised the discussion.

BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

LONG TERM LEASE FOR WABASH AVE.

Wurlitzer Company Gets the Premises at 615-17 and Will Separate Their Business.

FT. DEARBORN SITE SOLD.

Property at River Street and Michigan Avenue Brings $482,700.

Under a ninety-nine year lease, closed yesterday, for the property at 615-617 South Wabash avenue, the Rudolph Wurlitzer company, manufacturers of musical instruments, were in their second transaction in Wabash avenue real estate within a month and disclose plans for segregating their wholesale and retail business.

Two floors of the building at 615-617 will be used for the wholesale business of the firm, while the entire building at 329 South Wabash avenue, their present location, will be devoted to the retail branch of the business. Work of remodeling both buildings will be commenced within the next two months.

The lease signed yesterday dates from Jan. 1, 1912. It was made with Henry W. Bishop, who has owned the property for a number of years. The lot is 40x171 feet, occupied by an old five story building. Adjoining on the south is the lot at the southeast corner of Wabash avenue and Harrison street, recently bought by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company.

Aggregate Rent $767,000.

An aggregate rent of $767,000 is represented by the lease, the terms of which are $6,000 a year for five years, $7,000 for ten years, $[illegible] for ten years, and $8,000 for the remaining seventy-four years. Capitalizing the average ground rent on a 4 per cent basis, the transaction represents a total value of $[illegible], a front foot value of $4,847.87, and a square foot value of $28.30. The Wurlitzer company agrees to expend $20,000 immediately in improvements on the building and to erect a new building within twenty years of not less than $50,000.

The Wurlitzer company was represented in the deal by Oliver & Co., while Walter H. Wilson & Co. acted as brokers for Mr. Bishop. Legal matters were attended to by William J. McIlvaine of Wilson, Moore & McIlvaine for Mr. Bishop, and E. C. Ferguson of Ferguson & Goodnow for the Wurlitzer company.

The deed by which the Wurlitzer company became the owner of the ground at 329 South Wabash avenue for a consideration of $325,000 was made a matter of record on Saturday, revealing the name of the purchaser. The Wurlitzer company already had the property under lease, having made a twenty year lease six years ago, which was extended to eighty years three years later. The ground was owned by Merritt Fisher. This deal was negotiated by Albert L. Strauss and Willoughby & Co.

Fort Dearborn Site Sold.

Early Chicago history is recalled in a deal by which the Chicago Title and Trust company, as trustees, conveyed to Burt J. Fitzgerald and Perry Ulrich the property at the southwest corner of River street and Michigan avenue, which marked the site of Fort Dearborn. The consideration was $482,700.

The property is of peculiar shape, having a frontage of [illegible] feet facing north on River street and 1[illegible] feet facing northwest on the same street, and 119 feet 10 inches on Michigan avenue—a total area of [illegible] square feet. It is improved with a five story building. The new owners are spending $50,000 in remodeling the property into a high class store and office building.

W. M. Hoyt company formerly occupied the place with their wholesale grocery. The remodeled structure will be known as the Old Fort building, in commemoration of the fact that it was the site of Fort Dearborn, which was established by the French in 1804, was subsequently maintained by the United States government and was the scene of the massacre of 1812. The old fort was torn down in 1857. A tablet marking its location was placed on the present structure.

The sale of the Old Fort building is one of the largest transactions in recent years in Michigan avenue north of Randolph street, and is expected to give impetus to other holdings in that vicinity, which is rapidly developing into a retail street.

About 60 per cent of the space in the Old Fort building already has been leased by the new owners to the Chicago Consolidated Brewing and Malting company, the Anderson Art company, and the L. Hanstra company.

Buys Factory Building.

The Stromberg Motor Devices company has purchased the new seven story factory building of concrete-steel construction on Twenty-fifth street 139 feet west of Michigan avenue which it has been occupying the last year under lease from Robert M. Fair, together with a lot 61x101 feet. The consideration given is nominal.

The apartment building and a lot 25x141 feet at the northwest corner of Jackson boulevard and Paulina street, which was recently [illegible] by Martin Carlson to Flora L. and Homer D. Hill for $30,000, subject to an incumbrance of $15,500, has been sold by the Hills to Mary K. Mercer and Henrietta D. Hickok for the same sum.

George Mehring has sold to Attorney Joseph L. Weissenbach his three story frame residence on Greenwood avenue 150 feet south of Fiftieth street, in Kenwood, occupying a lot 64x297 feet, for a nominal consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $15,500.

Deal on Sheridan Road.

John J. Corbett and John T. Connery have leased to Margaret T. McGovern vacant property on Sheridan road, running from a point 600 feet south of Bryn Mawr avenue, 100 feet to the west building line of Lincoln park. Mrs. McGovern given in exchange a lot 65x150 feet at the northwest corner of Independence boulevard and Polk street, which is improved with an apartment building. The consideration named in each transaction is $25,000.

A trust deed has been given by the American Milk company of Illinois to the Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank as trustee on property at the southeast corner of Franklin and Locust streets, and other property in Illinois and Wisconsin, to cover a loan of $300,000 running to Jan. 1, 1932, at 5 per cent.

Adolph Hugo F., and Oscar H. Arnold have given the Colonial Trust and Savings bank a trust deed to the Arnold building property and ground, 77x165 feet, at the southwest corner of Randolph and Halsted streets, to cover mortgage bonds of $75,000, five years at 5½ per cent.

Roy R. Brown has sold his two apartment building at 4612 Malden street to Mrs. Cody Shrimpton Hoope for a consideration of $14,500, subject to an incumbrance of $7,500. Regelin, Jenson & Co. acted as brokers.

Attorney Charges Consolidation of Companies Is Illegal—Claims He Received No Notice of Meeting.

Attorney Edward R. Litzinger, one of the stockholders in the Ford Manufacturing company, formerly the American Roofing and Paving company, attacked as illegal the consolidation of the company with the Union Roofing and Manufacturing company and the Roof Bestos Manufacturing company in a bill filed yesterday in the Superior court.

He claims he was not notified of the stockholders' meeting when the matter of the consolidation was taken up.

HOGS GO HIGHEST SINCE NOVEMBER

Prices Advance 10 to 20 Cents; Cold Weather Curbs Receipts; Causes Upturn.

CATTLE GAIN EVEN MORE.

Shipments Short; Figures Jump 10 to 25 Cents; Sheep and Lambs Rise.

Hog prices at Chicago yesterday advanced 10@20c, to the highest level touched since last November. Short receipts, ascribed to the cold weather, were responsible for the upturn and local packers curtailed purchases in the belief that supplies would increase and values decline as soon as temperatures moderated. A top of $6.70 was attained and the average price was advanced 16c, to $6.52.

Cattle receipts also fell short of expectations and prices were advanced 10@25c, with the bulk of the trading at a net gain of 15c from last week's closing figures. A top of $8.50 was made, and all choice quality, heavyweight offerings were quickly bought up at the appreciation.

Lambs reached and passed the $7.00 mark for the first time since last August, topping at $7.10, and the general market was strong and active at an advance of 15@25c from last week's closing figures. Sheep also made gains of 10@15c, and reached best prices quoted since last summer, with top wethers at $4.85 and yearlings at $5.90.

JUDGE CUTTING WILL DECIDE INTER OCEAN TANGLE TODAY.

Court Will Consider Bond Case—Trust Company Says Newspaper Blocked Carrying Out of Order.

Judge Cutting will decide today what action to take because of the failure of the Central Trust company to turn over to Louis S. Owsley, executor of the estate of Charles T. Yerkes, interest coupons of the $400,000 first mortgage bonds of the Inter Ocean Newspaper company.

On Dec. 30 Judge Cutting ordered the coupons delivered not later than Jan. 8. Yesterday the Central Trust company filed an answer to the judge's order, declaring that the $32,116 interest secured in exchange for the coupons was tendered to the Inter Ocean on Jan. 2 and the return of the coupons demanded, but that the newspaper company refused to surrender them. The answer further explains that the Central Trust company believed it was acting legally when it gave the coupons to the Inter Ocean on Nov. 28, 1911.

Judge Cutting may decide the petition of the executor to have Charles G. Dawes, president of the bank, punished for contempt for failing to declare the principal due on the bonds on Nov. 25, 1911. He may also order the Inter Ocean Newspaper company to produce the interest coupons.

He also approved application to convert into the State National bank of Mattoon, Ill., into the State National Bank of Mattoon, with $100,000 capital.

'AD' ASKS OPINION ON NICKEL PHONE

Ald. Bowler Uses "Tribune" to Collect Wishes Against Pay First Scheme.

FIGHT TICK TICK DEVICE.

Council Committee Approves Ordinance Provided Emergency Box Is Supplied.

Personal investigation of the attitude of telephone subscribers toward the "tick tick" coin boxes was begun yesterday by Ald. James B. Bowler of the Nineteenth ward.

In the classified advertising columns of THE TRIBUNE under the head of "Personal" there appears this morning the following:

TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS OPPOSED TO "nickel first" service are invited to send their complaints, with names and numbers, to Ald. James B. Bowler, City Hall.

By this means the west side alderman hopes to determine how the public feels toward the installation of the "tick tick" device on all nickel telephones in the city. The council committee on gas, oil, and electric light approved the change, with restrictions, but Bowler, a member of the committee, was unable to be present at the meeting and later expressed dissatisfaction with the finding.

Says Inquiry Was Incomplete.

"I am not satisfied with the inquiry that has been made into this subject," he declared. "I know there are many householders who have complained against this device, but so far as this investigation went it failed to bring these complaints before the committee. One member of the committee, Ald. Bellfuss, has had service of this kind and does not like it, and a number of Ald. Thomson's constituents have complained to him.

"So far as the supposed investigation by E. W. Bemis goes, only 147 replies were received and he listed twenty-three as opposed to the nickel-first boxes on account of the inferior service."

Want "Emergency Call" Card.

The committee approved the installation of the nickel-first boxes on three conditions. The first is that the subscriber consents to the change of his equipment; second, that the company furnish a card of instructions for the aid of the user; third, that to each instrument there be affixed an "emergency call" card containing three slugs in a sealed package that can be broken open for important calls when the subscriber has no nickel on hand.

Mr. Bemis explained that his report on telephone rates, delayed since last fall, had been held back so he could obtain the company's records for 1911. He expressed a hope that it will be ready some time in February.

LA PORTE, INDIANA
A Rapidly Growing Manufacturing Center
Needs Seven Hundred Houses Immediately as Homes for Its Mechanics!
A good opportunity to invest money in Houses, Flat Buildings, Lots and Unimproved Suburban Land. Land values here increased one-half million dollars in 1911, and the development has just begun.
The City has grown from seven thousand to twelve thousand in three years, and will reach twenty-five thousand by 1915. La Porte suffered no depression during the past three years. Its factories were all busy. The OilPull Plowing Engine industry, which increased its force over one thousand men, has been running night and day during the past year. The bicycle, piano, radiator, carriage, wheel and threshing machine industries, as well as woolen mills, are all busy and prosperous. La Porte has great advantages in its close proximity to the Gary District; low freight rates, and easy access to Chicago, and is adjacent to the rich Kankakee Valley.

CHICAGO RAILWAYS 'A' BONDS AT 96 1-4

Issue Shows Marked Activity; Total Sales $191,000; Collateral 6s at 100.

EDISON STOCK UP TO 138.

Booth Fisheries Preferred Drops Slightly; Copper Corporations Announce Merger.

There was marked activity in the series A bonds of the Chicago Railways company on the local stock exchange. Total transactions were $191,000. The sales were at 96¼. The B bonds, while not so active, were in good demand at 91½. There were also sales of the collateral 6s at 100. Commonwealth Edison bonds were steady at 108, while Chicago City railway 5s sold at 102⅝.

In the stock list Commonwealth Edison was firm. The buying was credited to insiders. The price advanced to 138, a gain of ⅞ for the session.

There was some trading in Booth Fisheries preferred, which opened at 87, sold down to 86, and closed at 86½. There was nothing doing in the common. A few shares of McCrum-Howell common sold at 40½. Swift & Co. was steady at 99. There was a revival of interest in Union Carbide stock on the local curb. The price was firm around 121½. There is usually considerable gossip as to what is schedule for the stock, but no official announcement has been made. A part of the capital of the Electro-Lamp company is owned by the Union Carbide. The Lamp stock has advanced about 18 points, and there may be some connection between the strength of the two issues.

Copper Consolidation.

The Inspiration company and the Live Oak Development company are to be consolidated under the name of the Inspiration Consolidated Copper company. The concern is capitalized for $30,000,000, all one class of stock, divided into 1,500,000 shares of the par value of $20 per share.

The holders of Inspiration and Live Oak are given the privilege of exchanging their stock for that of the Inspiration Consolidated Copper company until Jan. 29, 1912, on the following basis: One share of new stock for two shares of Inspiration; two shares of new stock for one share of Live Oak. The new stock is to be exchanged at the Guaranty Trust company in New York and at the office of Kidder, Peabody & Co. in Boston.

All stockholders of Inspiration Consolidated Copper, the new company, of record at the close of business on Feb. 1, 1912, will be offered the privilege to and including March 1, 1912, of subscribing for its $6,000,000 convertible bonds at par pro rata for the number of shares held by such stockholders, respectively, or in less amounts, but only in multiples of $500, payable in four equal installments on March 1, 1912; Sept. 1, 1912; March 1, 1913, and Sept. 1, 1913. These bonds will be ten year 6 per cent coupon bonds, convertible into stock of the company at $25 per share, redeemable by the company by lot at $1.10, with accrued interest date and in denominations of $500 and $1,000 each.

Hibernian Bank Election.

George M. Reynolds was yesterday elected president of the Hibernian Banking association. D. R. Lewis retired from that position and became first vice president. At the annual meeting of stockholders three new directors were elected. The roster of officers and directors now stands:

President—George M. Reynolds.

Vice presidents—D. R. Lewis, H. B. Clarke, L. B. Clarke.

Cashier—John W. MacGeagh.

Assistant cashiers—George Allan, John P. V. Murphy.

Directors—C. C. Adsit, J. O. Armour, James H. Barnard, Louis B. Clarke, Henry B. Clarke, W. D. Rend, Adolph Kurz, David R. Lewis, Robert H. McElwee, George M. Reynolds, William F. Hayes, Charles Mair, Hempstead Washburne.

Gold Production Lower.

According to the geological survey, the gold mining industry in the United States in 1911 was generally active, but early figures indicate a total production for the United States and Alaska slightly below the output for 1910. The most notable features of the industry were the resumption of normal labor conditions in the Black Hills of South Dakota, the increased dredge output in California, development of production in the new Innoko-Iditarod placer region of Alaska and the Republic district of Washington, continued development and prosperity of the gold field (Nevada) and Treadwell (Alaska) mines, normal conditions on the mother lode in California, improvement in metallurgical methods, and general increase in activity in many small deep placer mines.

Preliminary figures of the director of the mint indicate a total domestic gold output of $96,233,538 in 1911, against $96,269,100 in 1910. Increases in output for the year were as follows: Idaho, $133,861; Nevada, $94,878; New Mexico, $162,697; South Dakota, $2,050,067; Utah, $397,047. Decreases were: Alaska, $268,824; Arizona, $468,410; California, $1,372,640; Colorado, $550,560; Montana, $82,165; Oregon and Washington, $301,463.

Bethlehem Steel May Pay.

Friends of the Bethlehem Steel corporation say the concern will show between 14 and 15 per cent earned on its preferred stock last year. This is about the best the company has done since its organization. In consequence there are predictions that the preferred shareholders will receive something on their stock in the current year. Charles M. Schwab has opposed the resumption of dividends on the preferred stock until the management can be assured of their permanency.

BONDS ACTIVE IN NEW YORK MART

Selling in Union Pacific Shares Leads Disturbance in Stocks.

TRACTION IS A FEATURE.

Railroad Earnings Show a Drop, Great Northern Alone Reporting Gains.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Activity increased in the bond market today, but the dealings in stocks remained at about the level of last week's relatively light trading. The movement in stocks was confused, though active selling in several of the principal issues under the leadership of Union Pacific gave a weak tone to the market, particularly during the earlier hours of trading.

Active trading in the traction bonds was again a feature of that department. An advance in New York state 4s to 102 was directly attributed to institution buying, and purchases of this kind influenced the day's bond market. At the close of the year 4½ per cent was the prevailing rate for four to six months' commercial paper. The rate now is from 3¾ to 4 per cent and some paper has been placed as low as 3½ per cent.

The abundance of funds which are lowering rates in this way is not confined to this market alone but the interior as well has been a free buyer of commercial paper.

See Gains in Copper and Iron.

News of the day bearing on the general industrial situation included sales of copper at the highest price quoted on the present advance and a hardening of some of the pig iron markets, both suggestive of a continuance of the improvement in these two important trades.

Railroad earnings, on the other hand, were not uniformly favorable, for several of those reported today for the month of November, including the Wabash, showed losses in both gross and net, and some of the December weekly statements also showed decreases. The Great Northern, however, has reported a gain of $251,000 in gross for the last month of the year.

The possibility of an investigation of Wall street affairs in the form of an inquiry and the alleged money trust is a matter of more active discussion in the financial district now than it was when the proposal first took more or less definite shape.

Firmer Discount Rates.

Somewhat firmer discount rates were reported in Berlin and a firmer tone was recorded in the London market as well, although the Bank of England obtained most of the $4,000,000 gold laid down in London today. The fortnightly stock exchange settlement begins Wednesday. Sterling exchange rates in this market were higher, but this reflected the ease of our own money market rather than any material increase in the demand for money abroad.

Money on call, steady, 2¼@2¾ per cent; ruling rate, 2½; closing bid, 2¼; offered at 2¾. Time loans, easy; 60 days', 3@3¼ per cent, and 90 days', 3¼@3½; six months', 3½@3¾.

Close—Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8375 for 60 day bills and at 4.8675 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83. Bar silver, 55c. Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds, steady. Railroad bonds, irregular.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Money was in better demand today and discount rates were quiet. The Bank of England secured the bulk of the $4,000,000 new gold offered in the open market.

The stock market was dull owing to the nearness of the settlement. American securities opened steady and during the forenoon were quiet, with prices a fraction above parity. New York offerings caused a decline in the afternoon and the market closed weak.

COLD WAVE BOOSTS PRODUCE

Generally Higher Prices Reflect Effects of Continuous Siege.

MANY SHIPMENTS FROZEN.

Dealers Leave Cars of Fresh Fruits and Green Vegetables Unopened.

Produce prices at Chicago yesterday more generally reflected the effects of the cold wave than on any previous day since the siege of zero weather began. In most instances the influence was for higher figures and appreciations of ½c for eggs, 2@3c a bu for potatoes and ½@1c per lb for chickens and ducks, both live and dressed, were reported. Lemons were advanced 25c a case.

Many cars of fresh fruits and green vegetables received from southern points were not opened for fear of the goods being damaged by the icy blasts. This resulted in abnormally small offerings on the open market and buyers had to pay advanced prices for nearly all varieties.

A great deal of frozen celery was seen and receivers reported carloads of sweet potatoes showing the effects of frost. The latter had to be repacked before they could be sold.

These bonds mature serially in equal semi-annual installments of $80,000, beginning January 1, 1912, and are secured by over 1,100,000,000 feet of merchantable standing timber, together with railroad, logging equipment and thoroughly modern mills located in Idaho. The stockholders have an actual investment of over $4,000,000 in the property behind the bonds. Forty-five per cent of the Company's timber holdings is Idaho White Pine, the most profitable class of timber in relation to its stumpage value known in this country. The Company's net earnings show a substantial margin over principal and interest requirements. The mortgage contains sinking fund provisions, which during the five months ending Nov. 30, 1911, produced over $110,000 to meet a six-months principal requirement of $80,000. We have available at this time a small block of these bonds maturing from 1918 to 1921, and strongly recommend their purchase by investors seeking safety and 6% for January funds. LISTLESS TRADE IN WHEAT MART

Board Election Is Center of Interest; Weak Cables Cause Wheat Setback.

ARGENTINE REPORTS BAD.

Crop Estimates Further Reduced; Corn Prices Show Unexpected Firmness.

With the attention of traders generally monopolized by the election on the board of trade the volume of business in the wheat pit was of moderate proportions. Early the trend of values was lower, and prices broke sharply as the result of the weakness at Liverpool, reflecting the more favorable weather conditions in Argentina. In the last hour there was a spurt of buying, which caused a partial recovery. Final prices for the day were ⅛@⅜c lower.

Liverpool was ⅝@¾d off, Paris ¼c off, Antwerp unchanged, Berlin ¼c lower, and Budapest ½c higher. World's shipments were light at 6,768,000 bu, against 9,866,000 bu a year ago. Stocks on passage decreased 1,280,000 bu. The proportion of wheat put afloat for the United Kingdom was small.

Argentine Wheat Quality Poor.

Private cables from Argentina were bullish. One Buenos Aires correspondent estimates the surplus at 94,000,000 bu, and B. W. Snow cabled that the crop was ripening slowly in the south, with the late sown damaged by rust. The quality of the wheat is expected to be poor. The Argentine news has become a little stale so far as affecting prices in the pit. Weather conditions in that country were more favorable.

Domestic news was not particularly significant. The visible decreased 783,000 bu, less than expected, and the total is now 69,-700,000 bu, versus 43,920,000 bu a year ago. Local stocks decreased 161,000 bu. Primary receipts were 495,000 bu, compared to 609,000 bu a year ago. Local arrivals were 6 cars, with 18 cars the estimate for today. Northwest points had 305 cars, compared to 326 cars a year ago, and Winnipeg 183 cars against 37.

Cash Inquiry More Active.

The cash inquiry here was a little better. Sales here were 50,00 bu, mostly No. 2 red winter. Outside cash markets were not much changed. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 50,000 bu for two days, and there was a fair demand there from the mills. Canadian reports indicate a continued good foreign demand and also a congestion of wheat supplies in western provinces.

The Canadian visible increased 1,691,000 bu. Clearances for the day were 439,000 bu wheat and flour. Revised figures of the spring wheat crop indicate a yield of 132,000,000 bu for the three northwest states against 149,000,000 bu a year ago. Buying of wheat was headed by Logan-Bryan, Barrell, and Clement-Curtis on the last bulge, local shorts also covering. Early here was considerable local selling and commission houses had wheat for sale at the start.

Corn Offerings Are Light.

Corn prices closed ⅛@¼c higher. Not much pressure of selling was noted and there was fair buying by commission houses on the early dip following the break in wheat. Last prices were about the best of the day. Weather conditions could not be much better to encourage selling, but offerings from the country were not large except in a few instances. Cash prices were firm, but there was not much demand reported from the east, shipping sales being only 45,000 bu.

The visible increased 244,000 bu, compared to a gain of 1,428,000 bu a year ago, and stocks are moderate in all positions. Local receipts were 79 cars, with 5,759 cars inspected the last forty-eight hours. World's shipments were liberal at 4,042,000 bu, and there was an increase on passage of 833,000 bu. Primary receipts were 952,000 bu, against 768,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were 378,000 bu.

Armour Free Seller of Oats.

Weakness in wheat affected oats and there was heavier selling pressure early in the day, Armour leading the sellers. Noyes-Jackson were also fair sellers. Bartlett-Frazier were moderate buyers. Net declines for the day were ⅛@⅜c. Receipts here were 43 cars, with 75 cars the estimate for today, while receipts in the west were only 249,000 bu, against 501,800 bu a year ago. The visible supply decreased 332,000 bu, against a loss of 674,000 bu a year ago. Cash sales were 65,000 bu and sample market prices steady.

Hog Products Are Easier.

Provisions at the finish were unchanged to a little lower. The smaller receipts of hogs and the higher prices at the yards gave the market an early bulge, which was followed by a break due to free profit taking by local longs. With milder weather a larger movement is expected. Receipts were 27,000, with 30,000 the estimate for today. Western receipts were 81,800 against 97,900 a year ago. Prices at the yards were 5@10c higher. Liverpool hams were 6d higher. Exports the last week were much larger than a year ago. Receipts of product here were 26 cars; shipments, 41 cars.

Rye Prices Gain 1 Cent.

Demand for rye was strong and prices were advanced 1c. No. 2 sold at 95¾c, while No. 3 was quoted at 91@93c, and No. 4 at 80@90c. Receipts were estimated at 3 cars.

Barley was held on a firm basis, with malting $1.05@1.32; mixing, 95c@$1.05; feed, 80@90c; screenings, 40@70c. Receipts, 29 cars.

Timothy seed was steady at $16.50, nominal for March, and $12.00@15.00 for country offerings. Clover seed was easier at $13.50@20.25 for cash lots.

Duluth flax closed at a decline of ¼@1c, with cash on track $2.20½; January, $2.18½; May, $2.19. Receipts, 29 cars. Minneapolis flax was ½c lower, with cash on track $2.17½. Receipts, 22 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

While the weather in Argentina has turned a little better, the reports from that country were anything but bearish. Barrell's correspondent estimates the exportable surplus at 94,000,000 bu, and states the quality of the grain will be extremely unsatisfactory. He places the oats surplus for export at 700,000 tons and flax 500,000 tons. Corn crop is said to be in splendid condition. The railroad strike started Monday. Snow's cable was bullish, saying the only wheat in the south that had escaped rust damage was the early sown, and that the crop had not ripened any in two weeks. Snow's cable to Bartlett-Frazier stated also that the oats crops in Buenos Aires had been damaged in the shock. Broomhall's advices said that the weather now was clear and fine.

Traders were more concerned yesterday with the annual election than with the market. With three candidates for the presidency, two for vice president, and fourteen for the directory, electioneering was in full swing from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. The outside vote was much larger than expected, the total vote cast being 1,044, the largest since the election of Walter Fitch six years ago. The outside vote was believed to have been pretty well split up between the different candidates. In the directory fight personal friendship was more than usually a factor. All the directors had been nominated by petition and the friends of the candidates were all active workers. The general interest displayed in the election was witnessed by the big vote.

Cash corn and oats were not much changed in price, both being firm. Offerings of corn were reported fair in some instances, while other concerns that sent out bids all through this state and Iowa had but few acceptances, either on overnight bids or on bids sent out during the day. One concern reported more liberal offerings from Iowa. Weather conditions are supposed to be A1 for the movement of corn, and many receivers believe the attitude of the farmers will be determined by their willingness to sell at current prices. The eastern demand continues extremely poor. Oats were quiet without much demand and with small offerings. Shipping sales were 45,000 bu corn and 65,000 bu oats.

The Board of Trade Mutual Benefit association has admitted twenty-four new members since Dec. 20, 1911. Total membership is now 833, and the present value to beneficiaries is $2,782. Every obligation has been paid in full, and during the last nineteen years $619,843 has been paid to beneficiaries. The association, it is claimed, furnishes the most satisfactory protection at the lowest cost of any known organization. The year 1912 starts with the organization in the best shape financially and in every other way in many years, and with the vigorous efforts being made to increase the membership there promise to be numerous additions and a corresponding increase in the benefits the coming twelve months.

Cash wheat men report a little better inquiry for red winter wheat and prices are firmly held. Sales here yesterday were 50,000 bu. Outside markets were quiet and without much feature, except the tone at Minneapolis was a little easier. Mills there, however, bought freely at ½c over May for No. 1 northern, and there was some wheat sold to outside mills at 1c over the May. Toronto wired: "There is no letup in the European demand for Canadian wheat. They are taking it at the highest figures of the crop so far."

Stocks of wheat in Liverpool this week increased 32,000 bu, while supply of corn decreased 111,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	This week.	Last week.	Last year.
Wheat	3,608,000	3,576,000	6,296,000
Corn	799,000	910,000	629,000

Visible supply of wheat in the United States this week decreased 783,000 bu; corn increased 244,000 bu; oats decreased 332,000 bu; rye decreased 69,000 bu; barley decreased 84,000 bu.

It is expected the reduced freight rates to be put in from Manitoba points to Duluth and Minneapolis will result in millers paying the duty on and using considerable low grade Canadian wheat.

Advices from Montreal to Shearson-Hammill said there was between 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 bu wheat in the Canadian northwest unfit for merchandising.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 18 cars; corn, 579 cars; oats, 75 cars; rye, 3 cars; barley, 29 cars; hogs, 30,000 head.

Bids on the call for wheat, corn, and oats to arrive were ¼c lower to ¼c higher, and for rye ½c to 1c higher.

TO HOLDERS OF

WABASH RAILROAD COMPANY:

The undersigned, owning and representing large amounts of the above bonds, have formed a Committee for the protection of the holders thereof. No one of the undersigned Committee is in any way connected with the present management of the Wabash Railroad, under which the recent receivership and default have been brought about.

To the end that co-operation of all of the bondholders may be secured, the undersigned Committee requests the holders of the above bonds to deposit their bonds, with coupons maturing on and after January 1, 1912, with the Central Trust Company of New York, 54 Wall Street, New York City, as Depositary, which will issue its certificates of deposit therefor under the Agreement of Deposit dated December 20, 1911, under which this Committee has been formed.

The Committee has arranged to advance to the bondholders who may deposit under this agreement the amount of the unpaid installment of interest defaulted January 1, 1912, but it should be clearly understood that such advance constitutes a loan secured by the bonds and coupons deposited. Depositors who do not care to accept will be at no disadvantage, since any reorganization terms must apply equitably to all depositors under this agreement.

Copies of the agreement of deposit may be obtained from the Depositary. The agreement provides opportunity for depositing bondholders to withdraw in case the plan of reorganization formulated by the Committee is not approved by them, and limits the contribution to the expenses of the reorganization of bondholders who so withdraw to one per cent of the face amount of their bonds. Application will be made in due course to list the certificates of deposit on the New York Stock Exchange.

New York, January 2, 1912.
